WALLACE CAN'T BE NOMINATED, F. D. R. WARNED

Leaders Trying to Pick Successor.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 12.—Democratic leaders tonight were seeking to agree on President Roosevelt's fourth term running mate in order to avoid a disastrous pitched battle on the floor of the Democratic convention in Chicago next week.

The choice will be made from a list of some 20 possibilities, who constitute the largest Vice Presidential field in history.

The second place on the Democratic ticket has attracted a host of candidates, because New Dealers feel the man who gets this nomination will be the next President of the United States if the fourth term should win in November.

Think F. D. R. May Not Survive.

New Dealers say the issue that President Roosevelt may not survive the fourth term or may elect to resign during the fourth term should be met squarely and be the most important factor in the selection of the second place nominee.

Vice President Wallace is considered out of the race by political observers, but his staunchest supporters—Communist Earl Browder, CIO leader Sidney Hillman, and radical Harry Bridges—have not given up hope.

Wallace was counted out by the political handicappers when the President made his public bid for the fourth term nomination yesterday. Had Mr. Roosevelt continued to remain coy and conditioned acceptance of a "draft" he might have rammed Wallace down the throats of the delegates as he did in 1940, according to observers.

Told "No" on Wallace.

In conferences with political leaders since his acceptance bid, it was reported Mr. Roosevelt has been bluntly told that he cannot have Wallace even if he wants him because the convention will revolt.

[Southern rebel Democrats to caucus in Chicago Monday to map fight on New Deal. Story on page 9.]

Those who gave this word to the President included Mayor Kelly of Chicago, former Democratic National Chairman Flynn of New York, Vice Chairman Oscar R. Ewing, and Democratic Treasurer Edwin J. Pauley.

The leaders said a defeat of Wallace on the floor of the convention and a battle royal for the Vice Presidential nomination would undoubtedly kill any hope of a Democratic victory in November.

The President was reported to be loathe to drop Wallace, particularly because the most potent New Deal political machine of the 1944 campaign is the CIO political action committee.

The CIO is most interested in the Wallace candidacy because succession of Wallace to the Presidency would move the CIO from their entrenched position in the White House anterooms right into the executive office itself.

It was reported that Mr. Roosevelt will say that he favors Wallace at his press conference Friday, but will make no fight for the former secretary of agriculture, if the announcement fails to awaken any enthusiasm. Wallace may then be told the situation is hopeless and be asked to withdraw in the interests of the fourth term nomination.

Wallace has been told by various New Dealers he has no chance. These forthright reports were given him on his return to the country from his visit to China.

List of Possibilities.

The Democratic list of possibilities, who have signified themselves as ready to accept the post or who have been advanced for the post in their own states are:

Vice President Wallace, 58 years old. Senate Majority Leader Barkley, 67. Undersecretary of State Stettinius, 43; War Mobilization Director Byrnes, 65; Sen. Truman of Missouri, 60; War Man Power Commissioner McNutt, 53; Supreme Court Justice Douglas, 46; Sen. Byrd of Virginia, 57; Sen. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, 59; John G. Winant, ambassador to Great Brit-

Believe Ten Armed with Stolen Knives

Ten of 24 inmates of the Pierce disciplinary cottage at the Illinois Training School for Boys, near St. Charles, who escaped last night in the largest mass break from the institution in recent years, were believed to be armed with knives, stolen from the kitchen, Richard Eddy, superintendent, said early today.

Nine of the fugitives were captured on the school grounds. Five others were caught by deputy sheriffs from Kane county and highway patrolmen about six miles from the school.

Eddy reported that a search of the kitchen disclosed that several knives were missing and said "we can only presume that the knives are in the possession of the fugitives."

Threaten Their Guards.

The escaped prisoners range in age from 14 to 17 years and had been sent to the school for auto theft, larceny, burglary, truancy, and purse snatching.

Forty-eight inmates, guilty of bad conduct or previous escape attempts, were in the cottage at 8:05 p. m. when a mock fight started in the basement. They overpowered their guard, James R. Cockrell, threatened him with a knife which one of the inmates had concealed in his clothing, and took his keys. The uproar in the basement was a signal for prisoners on the upper floor to intimidate their guard, Robert B. Templeton.

In the confusion, 24 of the inmates fled thru the basement door which one of the prisoners unlocked with Cockrell's keys. After the alarm had been sounded more than 50 employes at the school tramped thru the grounds and seized nine of the fugitives. The others managed to climb over the 15-foot fence around the school grounds.

Butcher Knife Stolen.

Eddy said it was learned that Eugene Jacobson, 16, of R. R. 1, Aurora, had stolen a butcher knife which was used to threaten Cockrell and was believed to have been the ring leader of the break. Jacobson, received at the school April 7 for auto larceny, had secreted the knife in a stocking, Eddy added.

Those seized outside the fence and taken to the Kane county jail at Geneva are Alvin Hammond, 14, of 306 Hampshire st., Quincy, sent to the school for stealing; George De Barge, 14, of 156th st. and Crawford av., Markham, auto theft; Delbert Luke, 15, of 2714 Webster av., South Bend, Ind., auto theft; John Clark, 16, Eldorado, larceny, and John Kendall, 17, Chesterville, larceny.

Still missing last night were:

Wesley Beaty, 16, Rockford, auto larceny.

John Brant, 18, Decatur, auto larceny.

Robert Duff, 15, Coffeen, probation violation.

George Lakins, 16, of 1440 S. Spaulding av., robbery.

William Lamont, 15, of 817 N. Oakley blvd., Chicago, truancy.

Vincent Litwicki, 16, of 837 W. 51st st., Chicago, probation violation.

Eugene Martin, 16, Negro, Peoria, robbery.

Walter Racinowski, 16, of 9225 Brandon av., Chicago, burglar.

Thomas Tario, 15, of route 5, East Peoria, truancy.

Alfred Bartosik, 14, of 1110 N. Springfield av., Chicago, auto larceny.

Seized on Grounds.

Those picked up before they could leave the grounds were James Thomas, Robert Smelzer, Eugene and Lawrence Jacobson, James Crank, Richard Cain, William Gibson, Ernest Redding, and another boy whose name was not immediately available.

MEN TAKE OVER AS NURSES' AIDS

BY GLADYS PRIDDY.

At Presbyterian hospital men patients are getting enthusiastic and efficient service from a new corps of volunteer aids. But the volunteers are not pretty or petite. Nor are they debutantes doing social service a turn or two. They're just 27 other fellows who don't happen to be sick.

About a year ago, Edward F. Wilson, president of Wilson & Co., and a member of the hospital board of managers, suggested that men might help fill hospital help shortages. Nothing was done then, but early this summer the need became so acute that the hospital reminded him of his suggestion.

Attend 14 Lectures.

He was as good as his offer and reported for instruction with 21 other Wilson plant employes and four men from other companies. After 14 lectures and demonstrations in techniques of taking temperatures, changing beds, and other duties, the men went to work June 26. One volunteer had preceded them by three months—C. Wesley Thomas, 404 S. Ashland av., who quit as a hospital orderly to take a war job, but came back in his spare time as a volunteer.

In general, the men volunteers rotate on a 6 to 10 p. m. shift, three or four of them working at a time. One, however, Lester Hopper of 4514 Lowe av., asked for a shift nobody wanted, from 1 a. m. to 8 a. m. on Sundays.

Wilson, who works Thursday evenings at the hospital, summed up the three weeks' project to date with: "The most outstanding thing to all of us is the tremendous appreciation of the patients."

Veterinarian Among Volunteers.

A standard subject for wisecracks, he said, is the fact that Wilson employes care for men who work for other packing companies and that Dr. Harry Kingman, a Wilson veterinarian, now tries his hand at human patients.

The hospital finds the men volunteers highly satisfactory. No new training class is contemplated this summer, since the men aids have proved themselves faithful, prompt, and attentive to duty. But another class may be held in the fall. Qualifications are few for male volunteers. Applicants must be 21 to 55 years old.

Sailor Boards Sweeper, but Gets a Brush-Off

Los Angeles, Cal., July 12 (AP).—Richard O'Donnell, 30, merchant sailor, might be at home on a mine sweeper, but a street sweeper is something different. Police reported he sighted the city sweeper parked at a curb, climbed aboard, set his course, and shortly afterward fell into the revolving brush.

2,359 Yanks Die on Saipan; 11,481 Injured, 1,213 Missing

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP).—American casualties in the conquest of Saipan totaled 15,053 men, including 2,359 killed, 11,481 wounded, and 1,213 missing, Navy Secretary Forrestal reported today. Japanese dead buried by American troops numbered 11,948 so far.

Forrestal added an estimate that 95 per cent of the Japanese garrison, which numbered in excess of 20,000, died in futile defense of the island, which would mean 19,000 men.

His figures came shortly after Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander in chief, reported that on Monday 1,000 Japanese soldiers had been taken prisoner and 9,000 civilians on the island had been interned. This was a record for enemy captures in the Pacific.

"Going Gets Tougher."

Lt. Gen. A. A. Vandegrift, commandant of the marines, and Rear Adm. Walter S. Delaney, assistant chief of staff, who recently returned from a visit to the Pacific, said the casualties indicated growing severity of the opposition to be expected in the war with Japan.

Vandegrift disclosed the commanding officers in the Saipan campaign are veterans of earlier battling against the Japanese. They are Lt. Gen. Holland Smith, marines, commanding ground forces; Maj. Gen. George W. Griner Jr., commanding the 27th army division; Maj. Gen. Harry Schmidt, 4th marine division, and Maj. Gen. Thomas E. Watson, 2d marine division.

Forrestal said the report of casualties illustrates that the so-called higher islands are "a much more severe test of military power than the relatively flat atolls previously encountered in the Pacific campaign." The navy secretary described Saipan as "a prize of the first magnitude."

Many of the casualties, the secretary said, were incurred in the first days of the invasion.

"Our troops fought valiantly," he said, "and large units of enemy soldiers, often numbering several hundred, were completely annihilated in hand to hand encounter. Many bodies are still inside caves or among the ravines in the center of the island, where some of the bitterest fighting in the Pacific took place. One ravine, the target of a strafing attack, is estimated to hold 1,000 Jap bodies. The Japs had dug in for a long seige.

Bomb Guam 6th Day.

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, July 12.—Carrier based planes lashed Monday at Guam and Rota Islands, south of Saipan, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today. It was the sixth straight day of attacks on Guam, former American naval base.

Illustrating the bitterness of the fighting on Saipan Nimitz reported that one marine regiment killed 711 enemy troops Monday.

Nimitz also reported continuation Monday of neutralizing raids on Truk atoll and the Marshall Islands.

Hit by 770 Planes.

New York, July 12 (AP).—The Tokyo radio said today that between July 1 and 10, 770 American aircraft had raided Guam, and admitted that "some damage was suffered by our side."

'BEST DURN DOG' RESCUED AFTER 10 DAYS IN CAVE

Lesterville, Mo., July 12 [Special].—The "best durn coon dog in Reynolds county" was back home tonight after its rescue from an underground cave by 40 men and boys of the Ozark hill country who had toiled for 10 days with picks and blasting powder to reach the trapped animal.

The dog, "Old Drive," is a 10 year old hound which came to grief by falling into the cave during a coon hunt July 2. Farmer Jake Light, its owner, tossed food and grease soaked rags to the animal while his neighbors tunneled thru the side of a limestone bluff. The tunnel was necessary because evacuation from the top of the cave might have caused rocks to fall on the canine prisoner.

Camp fires lighted the scene tonight when the weary farmers completed the tunnel, permitting Henry Light, Jake's son, to crawl into the cave and lasso "Old Drive."

EX-PREMIER HERRIOT OF FRANCE IS DEAD, GERMANS ANNOUNCE

LONDON, July 12 [Thursday]—(AP).—The German news agency DNB, in a Berlin broadcast, announced today the death of Edouard Herriot, former French premier.

The former Radical Socialist, three times a premier, was 72. The Berlin broadcast gave no details.

Berlin announced early last September that Herriot was seriously ill and subsequently, on Sept. 6, a Vichy dispatch to a Swiss newspaper said he had been placed in a sanatorium for treatment for a mental disorder.

Herriot had been held in custody by the Germans since the fall of France. He was reported without confirmation to have attempted to contact the allies after their landing in North Africa.

NEW RED DRIVE TOWARD BALTIC GAINS 22 MILES

LONDON, July 13 [Thursday]—(AP).—Russian troops have broken thru German defenses on a new Baltic front, 93 miles wide and captured more than 1,000 places in a two day advance of at least 22 miles, Premier Stalin announced last night.

Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko.

More than 7,000 Germans were killed and some 1,500 captured, said the early morning war bulletin, as Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's 2d Baltic army began battering the enemy loose from one of the last Nazi footholds of pre-war soviet soil.

22 Miles from Latvia.

Other soviet armies to the south pounded nearer East Prussia—reaching within 40 miles, some London papers quoted a German broadcast as saying.

Stalin announced the new offensive west and northwest of Novosokolniki had captured the important rail junction of Idritsa, 22 miles east of the Latvian border, and other large towns and rail stations.

The Moscow radio and British press dispatches subsequently reported the drive had penetrated as much as 30 miles against fierce resistance. Moscow said 10 Nazi counter-attacks were repulsed as the soviet forces smashed toward Latvia.

Other Drives Roll On.

The new drive brought no abatement in Russian blows on other fronts.

A Moscow dispatch said soviet forces had closed around the outer defenses of the southern Latvian city of Daugavpils on three sides. Another force was pushing west of Wilno toward Kaunas, capital of Lithuania. Farther south Red troops pressed within 28 miles of the large Polish rail center of Grodno.

The drive along the railway from Baranowicze toward Bialystok also progressed and Moscow announced the capture of a rail station only 14 miles east of the important junction of Wolkowysk.

The central front's spearhead, however, was the assault directed toward East Prussia along a line southeast of Wilno.

33 Miles from Kaunas: Nazis.

The vanguard of this offensive was reported within 50 miles of East Prussia, and the German war report placed "the advancing soviets" west of Alytus in Lithuania, 33 miles south of Kaunas, and within 27 miles of the vital railway linking East Prussia and Riga, capital of Latvia.

Moscow announced 450 places had been taken in the fighting on the central front and that more than 30 others had been taken in the Finnish campaign far to the north.

Hand to hand fighting in Wilno [Vilna] continued for the fifth day.

Front Widened to 500 Miles.

The fresh assault in the drive for the Baltic states linked the 2d Baltic army with the right wing of the 1st Baltic army northeast of Polotsk and extended the active battlefront to approximately 500 miles.

In less than three weeks Red troops have smashed the Germans back beyond the pre-war Russian frontier all the way from the Pripyat [Pripet] marshes north to the vicinity of the Latvian border. The new assault extended this campaign into the stretch to which the Nazis have clung north and south of Pskov.

Another Army Near Latvia.

Moscow said the 1st Baltic army had crossed the Drissa river northwest of Polotsk. This army may be on or across the Latvian border.

The westward sweep of the 3d White Russian army continued north and south of Wilno, with more than 200 places being taken. The 1st White Russian army fought closer to Pinsk, taking several places. Dispatches to London said the Reds were within seven miles of this key rail center.

The Berlin radio announced German troops had gone into action above Viipuri in Finland, first evidence of Nazi coöperation with Finland in the south since the Finns and Germans reached a "complete understanding."

TRIBUNE WRITER WATCHES YANKS BATTER NAZIS

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. TROOPS OVERLOOKING ST. LO, July 12.—Thru parted bushes atop Hill 147, two miles northeast of St. Lo, I watched late today the most forward American soldiers inch their way down the slopes of another hill nearer the city outskirts where German paratroopers were fighting fiercely to hold the last approaches to this vital road junction.

The Nazis had been hammered by artillery shells, and had been driven back 2,000 yards since our jump off yesterday morning.

Altho every terrain feature favored the defense, they had been unable to withstand the blasting power of the American guns and the tenacity of our doughboys. Since yesterday morning the battle for St. Lo had developed into one of the most bitterly contested of the campaign.

Signs Warn of Danger.

Since the first company to occupy near-by Hill 192 was knocked back June 18 after the first surge from the beachheads spent itself, artillery men have pulverized the area with approximately 1,000 tons of explosives, and the allied air force added a vast weight of bombs.

Nearing the front this afternoon we correspondents began passing in a jeep, red and white signs warning that shoulders of the road had not yet been cleared of mines. A little farther was another sign, "Danger. Only combat vehicles may pass this point."

At one dirt road junction a huge American wrecker had just towed a burned out German Mark IV. tank into a field. A direct hit had blown the turret and gun 30 yards away. Another self-propelled, long barreled gun was crumpled against the opposite side of a hedgerow. Empty shell cases littered the road. Our jeep drove on, but more slowly.

Drive Among the Dead.

Just at the crest of a short rise, and in clear view of the Germans, a military policeman stopped us. He directed us off to the right into a defile between high hedges.

The jeep driver kept the speed down to below five miles an hour, having been cautioned that the Germans were firing artillery only when dust gave them a target.

Down thru this leafy corridor we drove between the living and the dead. Every few yards we passed the body of a German paratrooper, while our own doughboys or wiremen crouched under the protecting shelter of a hedge bank.

Between two high, earthen walls we found the command post. Only a few hours before German doctors had been tending their wounded in this dugout. When the Americans moved in four wounded Germans were still there. Three of them had died but one was still alive.

Logs Cover Dugout.

Huge logs, sheets of corrugated iron, layers of dirt and sod protected the dugout. Blankets hung down over each end. Its gloomy interior was lit only by a flickering candle.

A brigadier general sat on a log and a colonel lolled in a corner. There wasn't much conversation but now and then the phone would ring and an officer would receive a message.

"Our forward units are having a hell of a fight on their hills," said Maj. Thomas D. Howie of Staunton, Va. "It's been very rugged and now we're beginning to run into those paratroopers who are being pushed back by a team on our right."

Two more figures entered the gloom. One was Lt. Richard Han-

AMERICAN GUNS HAMMER FOE'S NORMANDY LINE

Bag 51 Tanks; Wipe Out 200 Germans.

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCES, July 13 [Thursday]—(AP).—United States storm troops attacking under one of the deadliest artillery barrages of the war captured points within one mile and a half of the mid-Normandy citadel of St. Lo yesterday and also hammered a spearhead to within two and a quarter miles of Lessay, west coastal anchor of the collapsing German flank.

Some 200 trapped Germans were wiped out north of St. Lo.

[German broadcasts of reports from front line Nazi correspondents termed the allied barrage the heaviest ever encountered and said the grinding down of German rear concentrations and communications by both artillery and allied air power presented "a strategy utterly new in the history of warfare." While the Berlin broadcasts apparently also were prompted in explanation of axis reverses in Normandy they nevertheless confirmed that allied air power had made it almost impossible for the Germans to exert their full strength in Normandy because of damaged roads, railways, and rolling stock. "By day our forces go to death," said the Berlin reference to allied artillery and air power. "By night they move . . . by devious ways."]

Nazis Lose 51 Tanks.

In one German counter-attack northwest of imperiled St. Lo the Nazis lost 20 tanks Tuesday, and airmen on that day destroyed or damaged 31 of Marshal Erwin Rommel's hoarded armor. The allied bulletin said more than 40 German tanks were knocked out by ground action alone Tuesday.

Allied airmen raked German transports, supply facilities, and troops all the way from Brussels in Belgium to Bordeaux in southern France despite weather which prevented full employment of the allied air armadas.

The Americans moving on St. Lo made their biggest strides during the day east of the fortress city, which is a seven way road junction. St. Andre de L'Epine, Le Calvaire, and St. Pierre de Semilly were captured in this area.

Nearly 11 miles northwest of St. Lo Americans sloshing thru flooded lowlands captured most of the village of Andre de Bohon, five miles south of Carentan, and also pushed closer to Periers as they forced an outright withdrawal of German lines around Lessay on the west coast. Yank troops had to bayonet their way ahead in a slow cleanup of every clump of bushes and every hedge.

[The Berlin radio said today fresh American divisions coming direct from the United States had just arrived in Normandy.]

BATTLE NAZI ATTACKS

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCES, July 12.—Marshal Erwin Rommel was fighting back vigorously today with armored forces in the Caen area, but headquarters tonight said, he had little to show for his efforts.

The bitter fighting northeast of Caen had died down, and there was little news from this front. Colombelles, four miles northeast of Caen, apparently was lost temporarily, but in captured Caen British and Canadian troops were still mopping up.

Gen. Montgomery was believed to have halted his slashing blows against the Germans southwest of Caen to build up a firm base from which to open a new thrust toward the Orne river.

Still Hold Hill.

Crucifix hill, a commanding height between the Odon and Orne rivers five miles southwest of Caen, still was in British hands after an entire German tank regiment had been wiped out.

The British and Canadians who surged over the Odon river north of Evrecy almost to the river bank were now consolidating, bringing up their anti-tank guns and digging in.

The next phase in this sector was expected to be a powerful attack to drive out the German armor still remaining east of the Orne between Caen and Maltot.

Altho the German armor is still

Altho the German armor was still Evrecy-Cagn area, to fight back vigorously, it was being given no rest and was steadily being worn down.

Slight British gains were made at Hottot les Baques, five miles north of the German stronghold at Villers-Bocage.

Bolstered by elite units, the enemy infantry still was fighting furiously all along the front, but the Germans acknowledged another "planned withdrawal" between Periers and Lessay, west of St. Lo.

Planes Blast Nazis.

United States Thunderbolt dive bombers and R. A. F. rocket firing Typhoons aided the allied ground strokes. During Tuesday they destroyed 28 enemy tanks and damaged 16 others. The Thunderbolts destroyed and damaged 31 in the Lessay-St. Lo area, while the Typhoons accounted for 13 near Hottot, 12 miles southwest of Caen, and at Vimont, eight miles southeast of Caen.

Despite heavy clouds, American Marauders and Havocs made five attacks before midday on fuel dumps and a sixth on an important rail bridge over the Eure river, 30 miles west of Paris. A dump 10 miles south of Caen was hit twice within 15 minutes by Marauder formations, which also bombed troop concentrations in the same area.

Two other Marauder groups hit a dump 30 miles east of Domfront and Havocs smashed at oil and gasoline supplies eight miles east of Domfront, which is 40 miles south of Caen. All of the bombers, which were escorted by Thunderbolts, returned.

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Following is the Wednesday German war bulletin, as broadcast by Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press:

"The battle in Normandy was extended to further sectors. Artillery fire was still intensified.

"East of the Orne, our troops threw back the enemy who had broken in at Colombelles to his original positions. Southwest of Caen, our counter-attack gained further ground. Bitter fighting for Eterville is in progress.

"In the northeast and north of St. Lo, enemy breakthru attempts were carried out on a wide front and were likewise foiled. Fighting in several dents still continues. West of Airel, German tank troops threw back the enemy toward the north. Between the Vire and Sainteny, northwest of Le Plessis and in the La Haye du Puits sector, embittered defense fighting is in progress. The enemy has not yet succeeded in achieving essential success."

BRITISH, NAZIS READY TO SWAP 1,800 CIVILIANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 12.—Under an agreement between the British and dominion governments and the German government, arrangements have been concluded for the repatriation of 900 civilians on either side, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced in the house of commons today. The Swiss government acted as the intermediary, he said.

The first civilians for repatriation reached Lisbon, Portugal, yesterday, Eden said. The German repatriates had been brought from South Africa.

With certain exceptions, Eden said, all British commonwealth civilians detained by Germany and all German civilians in the British commonwealth or territories occupied by British troops eventually will be repatriated.

U. S. TO ASK FRIENDS AND ENEMIES TO EASE CURB ON WORLD NEWS

Washington, D. C., July 12 [Special]—The United States will ask its allies and compel its enemies to remove or minimize all restrictions on the free exchange of news and other information in the post-war world, it was learned today.

The American draft of the terms of surrender for Germany, now before the European advisory commission in London, contains a clause demanding that the Germans abandon all control over communications outside their own frontiers and give the German people the right to listen freely to foreign broadcasts.

The American terms of surrender also demand complete control by the allies over all German communications within that country. These same stipulations were also written into the terms of surrender for Italy and were accepted by the Badoglio and Bonomi governments.

ANKARA PARLEY MAY GET TURKS INTO WAR SOON

ANKARA, Turkey, July 11 [Delayed]—(AP).—Conversations going on here between representatives of Turkey, Russia, and Britain may lead to Turkish participation in the war before the end of the summer.

These conferences have been taken up at the point where the Cairo conferences last year left Turkey's position undefined. They must first surmount the bitterness created by allied charges that Turkey failed to keep her word and the Turks counter that the allies failed to equip Turkey for war as had been promised. Actual military talks can begin there.

The United States has been fully informed of the conversations, which got under way 10 days ago. Simultaneous consultations are taking place in Moscow and London and probably in Washington, D. C.

Stimson in Britain to Inspect European Theater

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, July 12 (AP).—Secretary of War Stimson arrived in Britain from Italy today for an inspection of the European theater of operations. He was accompanied by Executive Assistant Harvey H. Bundy, Maj. Gen. Thomas Kirk, surgeon general of the United States army, and Maj. Gen. Alexander D. Surley, army public relations chief.

Chased Up a Hill.

"It was worse today if you'll believe me," said Hansen. "We've just been chased up a hill by 88's."

His companion, Staff Sgt. James R. Belue, of Huntsville, Ala., said German guns often bracketed them but that somehow they reached safety without getting hit. Both men were still out of breath and looked shaken.

We stopped talking as a series of flat crumps shook the ground. Some one said: "That's the incoming mail." More shells dropped nearby, and we wondered when we could start back. Then the drone of two observation planes came like an answer. The Germans don't like to fire their artillery while our observers are in the air trying to spot their guns.

It was a good time to leave, and we went back along a dirt road, walking with Lt. Marc Showalter of Halsted, Kas., to our jeep.

FRENCH ACCEPT INVASION FRANCS WITH CAUTION

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

U. S. 1ST ARMY HDQ. IN NORMANDY, July 12.—The attitude of the French peasant and shopkeeper toward allied invasion currency has been one of caution. The invasion francs are printed in a style most often likened to "cigar coupons" or stage money and are similar to the lira printed for the Sicilian and Italian invasions.

Peasants and merchants are curious about the validity of these notes. For four years the Germans had been peddling their own "invasion" money. Now a new one confronts the French.

In most cases when a soldier assured him his note was perfectly good and backed up by the United States, the Frenchman would smile and accept, often adding 10 per cent to the price of the article. Where the money has been circulating for some weeks, there appears to be little reluctance to accept it.

ROYAL HOSPITAL IN LONDON HIT BY GERMAN 'COMET'

LONDON, July 13 [Thursday]—(AP).—Coming from various directions, Hitler's "comet" bombs continued to blast parts of London and southern England yesterday, but for the first time in a month, all Britain had a raid free night.

Deaths came by ones and twos during the day as houses and shops were demolished by the explosives, but more serious recent incidents were disclosed with the official announcement that ropot bombshad hit such famous London landmarks as the Royal Free hospital in Gray's Inn road, Warner Brothers movie studios at Teddington, and Australia House and Aldwych House, at the east end of the Strand.

Bomb Kills 5, Injures 9.

The king and queen saw a robot bomb shot down yesterday a short distance from where they were standing during a visit to an anti-aircraft gun emplacement, the British radio said.

A flying bomb which struck the central staircase of the Royal Free hospital, one of London's oldest, caused widespread damage, killed five persons, and injured nine.

Among three killed when a flying missile hit the powerhouse at Warner Brothers studios was A. M. [Doc] Salomon, well known British director whose death was announced a week ago. Only a short time before he was killed Salomon had made a sound recording of one of the bombs in flight.

Heavy damage was done to buildings and equipment at the studios.

Brazilian Consulate Hit.

Australia House, headquarters of the Australian government in Britain, lost all its windows and many doors, but the massive building stood up to the blast and fatal casualties were confined to persons in the street. The same explosion also blew out windows in near-by Aldwych House, in which the Brazilian consulate is situated.

An increasing number of robots came from an easterly direction, indicating they were being launched from the coast of Belgium, approximately 150 miles from London.

One of the missiles which smashed a house and killed its occupant yesterday came in on a long, slow, silent glide, giving no advance warning.

[A German radio broadcaster intimated today the Nazis had put into use a new "secret weapon." He described it as "a combat media of the German navy," but failed to identify it more specifically.]

Buried Four Days

[Associated Press Wirephoto; By Signal Corps Radio.]

Sgt. Emery Barefoot, Vienna, Ga., tells Lt. Yolande Carrado, American army nurse of Corona, N. Y., of being buried four days under debris after German flying bomb explosion, as he recovers in English hospital. He tried to dig out with a fork before his rescue.

NO DECISION YET ON EAST PRUSSIA PARTITION: EDEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 12.—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the house of commons today that no final decision had yet been taken on the partition of East Prussia and that this problem would be a matter of discussion by allied governments generally.

Laborite George R. Strauss immediately demanded to know how Eden reconciled his statement with Prime Minister Churchill's recent announcement that he had agreed at the Teheran conference that East Prussia should go to Poland.

"It is quite true we took a point of view in discussion with other governments," Eden said. "There is no inconsistency. Final decisions can only be taken in agreements with other countries concerned."

REVOLT QUELLED IN 48 HRS., SAYS COLOMBIA CHIEF

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 12 (AP).—Minister of Government Alberto Lleras Camargo announced tonight that "peace was reëstablished in the entire territory of the republic by the army 48 hours after the rebellious movement began at Pasto with the arrest of President Alfonso Lopez," who has been freed.

Lleras said Maj. Julio Millan surrendered the garrison at Ibaque to commanders of loyal troops from Bogota and Manizales to avoid bloodshed.

YANKS HAMMER MUNICH, FRENCH RAIL HUBS AGAIN

LONDON, July 12 (AP). — The Munich area, vital rail hub serving both the Italian and Russian fronts, was raided for the second straight day today by a fleet of more than 1,200 Britain based Flying Fortresses and Liberators. Tonight the R. A. F. struck Anewate.

The Americans, attacking by instruments thru heavy clouds, met no German fighter opposition but ran thru intense anti-aircraft fire over the target area and 26 bombers failed to return. No planes were lost from the strong fighter escort.

Also for the second straight day, American heavies based in Italy hit southern France. Up to 500 bombers struck rail targets.

36 Hours of Raids on Munich.

Some 750 fighters escorted the American bombers from Britain in the attack on the Munich area, which rounded out 36 hours of crushing assault. On Tuesday more than 1,100 heavies had hit installations in the area.

A Swiss official bulletin said Swiss fighters had forced down nine American bombers of a force of 15 to 20 which penetrated Swiss territary. The crews were interned, the Swiss announcement said. Another plane was said to have crashed after its crew of three bailed out.

Hit French Rail Yards.

The Italian based heavies, which yesterday pounded harbor installations at Toulon on the French Mediterranean coast, hit rail yards at Bomgin, Nimes, and Miramas, a bridge over the Var river, and a bridge at Theole sur Mer. The Nimes yards, 25 miles southwest of Avignon, control traffic from the Italian frontier, Toulon, Marseille, and the Rhone valley. The Miramas yards are on the main line from Lyon to the Riviera. Both bridges attacked are on the important Riviera coastal route.

[The Swiss radio early today said Toulon had been completely evacuated after being hit hard by American heavy bombers.]

Yanks Bag 7,655 Planes in '44.

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, July 13 (AP).—A senior United States air officer tonight said American air attacks have decreased the strength of the German air force in France and curtailed Nazi oil production so seriously that the mobility of German ground forces has been affected.

The Americans have destroyed 7,655 German planes since January, against a loss of 3,425, including 2,339 four engined bombers and 1,086 fighters. The German loss was said to be greater than Nazi factories could replace in the same period.

The officer said that in the six months since the Americans began attacks on axis targets deep in Europe from both Britain and Italy, 51 oil refineries and 13 synthetic oil plants, and 89 airplane factories have been bombed.

FEW NEW BLOWS MAY BEAT NAZIS, SAYS COL. LANZA

Hitler Meeting Disaster on Russian Front.

BY COL. CONRAD H. LANZA.

[Regular contributor to the Field Artillery Journal and recognized authority on military matters.]

Press reports, dated only as from the German frontier, say that Hitler has held a conference in recent days. Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt has been relieved of his command in France and the low countries.

Most reports of this conference assert that it was caused by the failure of Von Rundstedt to make an all-out attack against the Norman invasion. The expectation is that the new German commander will not fail to undertake such an offensive. In corroboration, the German radio announced July 7 that new panzer troops were being provided for the Caen front. The conference is supposed not to have come to any other decision.

Red Front Worried Hitler.

Actually, however, in my opinion, it was the Russian front, not the Norman, which worried Hitler. To provide troops to defeat the allies in Normandy, Germany had reduced its effectives elsewhere. It abandoned immense areas in Russia and large areas in Italy. Commitments were avoided.

The Germans must have known in advance of the Russian offensive which started June 22. They thought they were prepared for it. They were not. They met disaster. If the Russian reports are nearly correct, the Germans have already lost in killed and wounded the equivalent of 15 divisions.

The German reserve for the Russian front has been estimated as 30 divisions located in Poland. The Russians have reported new, fresh divisions all along the battle front. It would seem that at least 15 divisions, and maybe more, have had to be used, just to slow down the Russian advance. Not more than 15 divisions can be left in reserve.

Can't Last Much Longer.

If it has taken half the reserve to bolster the front in the first two weeks of the campaign, the remaining half cannot be expected to last much longer. Particularly if the Russians extend their offensive over the Ukraine front.

Taking into consideration the German situation, it seems probable that Hitler's latest conference decided to send troops from France to Russia, as occurred in 1914, just preceding the battle of the Marne.

Von Rundstedt may have resigned in protest because he believed this was as unwarranted now as it was 30 years ago. It is also possible that Von Rundstedt was relieved as a blind. Generally a commander is relieved because his services have been unsatisfactory. The allies have been led to believe that Von Rundstedt's cautious policy would be abandoned by his successor. This has been heightened by German statements that reinforcements were being sent to France and particularly toward Caen.

Doubts Proclamations.

If the Germans were really reinforcing their troops in Normandy, they would have kept it secret. Publicly proclaiming it is an indication that it isn't true.

Taking all the available evidence into consideration, Hitler's recent conference probably decided to send divisions from France to Russia. How many is not known.

Von Rundstedt's successor, Field Marshal Guenther von Kluge, has a history indicating that he is a most cautious general. There is nothing to indicate that he intends to change Von Rundstedt's policy, which incidentally was known to Hitler and his advisers, and presumably was approved of by them.

The result of all this is to indicate that Russia has given Germany an unexpectedly severe blow. It would seem that a few more blows of this kind might be all that are necessary to cause the collapse of Germany. Germany is raising new troops, but their number is limited and only a few can be made ready this year.

What is now required is to strike quickly before Germany and her satellites can recover.

Home After 30 Missions, He's Hurt Riding a Horse

Lt. Henry Putek, 21, of 4227 School st., a fighter pilot home on leave after 30 missions, suffered a leg fracture yesterday while riding a horse in the forest preserve near Cumberland and Lawrence avs., when the horse brushed against a tree. He was taken to St. Francis hospital in Evanston.

Strange Meeting

One day last February, during heated fighting in the South Pacific, Capt. Fred B. Avey, pilot of a marine corps Corsair fighter plane, flew low over a navy PT boat and asked the radioman, "How's hunting?" The radioman, Sherman Egan, responded. Several more times that day they made radio contact.

Yesterday the two men met accidentally in the AWVS lounge at 507 W. Jackson blvd. Egan was on his way to his home at Manhasset, N. Y. The captain, a resident of Portland, Ore., is en route to a new base.

Their meeting came about when Avey spotted a radioman wearing Pacific campaign ribbons and a PT boat insigne and asked: "Do you know a guy named Egan?".

PIGGYBACK RIDE IN MIDAIR SAVES CHICAGO FLYER

Leaps from Bomber on a Milwaukeean.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 12.—Lieutenants Robert L. Sanders of Chicago and Robert Callahan of Milwaukee, bombardier and navigator, respectively, of a Liberator, recently leaped from their burning bomber in "piggyback" fashion and landed safely on an English field without serious injury. Callahan wore his parachute, while across his back straddled Sanders, whose parachute had been burned.

Lt. Robert Sanders.

Sanders, the son of Mrs. Beatrice S. Johnson of 3933 N. Keeler av., and formerly employed by the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company in Chicago, explained:

"The fire started in the bomb bay. We were about 1,800 feet up when the pilot gave the bail out order. I went for my chute, which was in the tunnel, and found flames blocking my path and the chute burning. I rushed back to the nose, where Callahan was preparing to jump."

Slide Out of Plane.

Sanders realized there wasn't a second to be lost and jumped astride Callahan's back. He thrust his arms between the parachute harness and Callahan's body and held onto the chute's shoulder straps.

"I sat down and slid out of the plane," said Callahan, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray J. Callahan, 4864 N. 68th st., Milwaukee, and a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. "With Sanders on my back looking up as we fell free, I pulled the ripcord as soon as we had cleared the tail. There was only a slight jolt when the chute opened."

Crawl Around in Midair!

As they floated earthward Sanders crawled around to face Callahan so that the two men could better hold onto each other.

When they landed Callahan suffered a fractured ankle and Sanders sprained an ankle and bruised his knees and wrists.

The two airmen used a regulation B-8 parachute, which has a 20 foot canopy. Their total weight was 320 pounds.

YANKS PUT ON A SHOW, BUT DEATH IS ITS LAST ACT

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

FIRST U. S. ARMY HDQ. IN NORMANDY, July 12.—Twice daily, in 15 minute periods, front line soldiers of a German panzer division have been getting a new type of show over an American loudspeaker. It's a blend of nostalgic music, funny sayings and thousands of pounds of high explosive shells.

To date it has cost the Germans two of their self-propelled 88s and two 105 mm. howitzers destroyed, any number of casualties and considerable property damage.

It started when a colonel got tired of sitting around without action. His mental gymnastics resulted in this:

Out beyond his outposts in the darkness he sent his radio team of Capt. Harry Volk of Cleveland Heights, O.; Corp. Patrick J. Brogan of Buffalo, N. Y.; Pvt. John Boretsky of Brooklyn, N. Y., and three sergeants as announcers who spoke German, Russian, and Polish.

Insults the Nazis.

They would set up in a deep dugout with loud speakers capable of carrying more than a mile only 300 yards from a German outpost.

Brogan and Boretsky mounted guard while Volk was master of ceremonies, supervising his three sergeants. The German speaking sergeant would lead off something like this:

"Achtung, achtung. Go to your foxholes immediately. You are about to get an American serenade.

"So you think you are supermen—think you are tough, eh? You're full of that Nordic superiority, eh? Well, it's time you mugs surrendered, and if you don't think you're going to, get this."

Artillery Opens Up.

Then the announcer would pause while the dugout occupants peered with field glasses at the distant hedgerow. There would be a last minute scurry on the part of the Germans, and the next minute artillery concentrations landed smack on the position.

As soon as the dust settled the show would go on, with the other announcers taking over. For variety, one would play the harmonica, usually beginning with "Home, Sweet Home."

Another short pause and the heavens would unload another thundering artillery salvo.

Reply from Germans.

The program would end with reading the list of all the German generals killed or captured on all fronts.

By this time the German tankers were hopping mad. They would wheel out their guns in an effort to blast the dugout. This was just what the Americans were waiting for. Artillery observers would spot the guns and the next moment our own shells would be knocking them out.

Capt. Volk and his merry men went out again last night. They went thru their usual act. They called the Germans everything in the book, and tank artillery pounded the enemy lines with fervor. But the Germans didn't react. Apparently they had finally realized they were on the bad end of a losing game and so, reluctantly, the radio show closed its successful run in the orchards.

CHICAGO SAILOR MISSING; WAS WITH LOST SUB

Howard Bullard, 23, a navy torpedoman who lived at 649 E. 89th st., has been reported missing in action, relatives said yesterday. He had been a member of the crew of the submarine S-28 which has been reported lost with all personnel in the Pacific. Lt. Comdr. Jack Gordon Campbell, of Chicago, commanded the 20 year old submarine. Bullard is survived by his widow and a child living in Manette, Wash.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bullard; three brothers, Charles, Raymond, and Robert, and a sister, Rosemary.

Honeymoon Deferred

[Associated Press Wirephoto; From U. S. Navy.]

Miami, Fla., July 13 [Thursday]—(AP).—A postponed honeymoon was in prospect for Screen Actress Gail Patrick and her bridegroom of a day, Naval Lt. Arnold Dean White, when it was revealed late last night that the lieutenant has been restricted to quarters for 10 days.

Lt. Comdr. H. F. Webster, acting commanding officer of the naval air transport base where Lt. White is stationed, said that the officer was restricted to bachelor quarters yesterday at the naval air station for going to Jacksonville without leave.

Miss Patrick and Lt. White were married Tuesday in All Saints Protestant Episcopal chapel at the Jacksonville naval air station.

REPORTS NAZIS HUNG BEHEADED YANKS IN TREES

Temple, Tex., July 12 (AP).—During the invasion of France allied paratroopers were "hung in trees with their heads cut off" by the Germans, a wounded glider infantry scout declares.

Pvt. Kenneth P. Knight, who was flown from the front to McCloskey General hospital here, said in an interview yesterday that "Germans hung them up there with their feet in the air, the stumps of their necks toward the ground, almost at eye level. One look was enough. I saw another paratrooper with his throat cut," the former professional baseball player from Kansas City, Kas., continued. "It was the most upsetting thing that has ever happened to me."

He got some satisfaction for the atrocities he witnessed, he said, because: "I got three Germans with my bayonet and others with my rifle in the first wild fighting push after we landed."

Arrested on Wife's Plea, Escapes as Police Shoot

George Skorcz, 37, a war worker, arrested last night on complaint of his divorced wife, Mrs. Margaret Skorcz, 160th and Grove sts., Oak Forest, by Blue Island state highway police, escaped as he was being led into the Homewood station of the county highway police. Patrolmen Stanley Thomas and Leo Fodonski fired several shots at Skorcz as he broke away.

ALLIES INCH UP ITALY; CLOSE IN ON 2 KEY PORTS

ROME, July 12 (AP).—Allied troops tonight fought within eight miles of Livorno [Leghorn], big Italian west coast port, and from the same distance were hurling shells into the shipping center of Ancona on the Adriatic sea, at the opposite end of the 150 mile battle line.

American light armored units blasted forward two miles against strong German resistance and captured the enemy stronghold of Castiglioncello, eight miles south of Livorno, while Polish troops who distinguished themselves in the bloody Cassino fighting closed in on Ancona.

Possession of the two ports would enormously assist the allied armies in their impending assault on the Nazis' "Gothic line" defenses.

American troops driving up the Era river valley, about 21 miles inland from the west coast, in an attempted flanking thrust against Livorno, met furious opposition above enemy held Lajatico, which had been by-passed. German counter-attacks were frequent and fierce. There was no indication the Yanks had made any real progress in 24 hours.

Blanket of Fire Slows Allies.

The Nazis now are using the greatest concentrations of artillery they have employed in Italy, including many guns captured on other fronts. This blanket of fire is making the allied advance a slow and grinding business.

Prisoners said German gun crews had been instructed to fire until their shells were exhausted and then to destroy the weapons. Almost everywhere the enemy guns are planted on high ground dominating roads along which allied forces must advance. American units pushing directly up the west coast toward Livorno are under particularly heavy fire.

[Wednesday's German war report said Nazi lines had been withdrawn two miles along a 38 mile stretch extending from the west coast to Poggibonsi, northwest of Siena, and that 25 American tanks were wiped out Tuesday.]

Italian Troops in Action.

In the upper Tiber valley north of Rome, 8th army troops captured Meone Morra and Musignano and drove the Germans from 3,000-foot Mt. Civitella.

Headquarters disclosed that motorcycle patrols of the Italian Corps of Liberation had been operating at some places in the Adriatic sector. Polish troops in recent fighting were estimated to have killed 1,300 Nazis, wounded 3,900 and captured 1,700.

FORECASTING BALDNESS

This young man has a good head of hair and doesn't feel that he will ever be bald. Yet his scalp is laden with dandruff, itches constantly, and he loses a great deal of hair each day. In a few years later it will be too late, and his appearance will be permanently marred, a serious handicap to anyone. Don't let baldness come to you, since scientific Warner treatment and proper care afterward can prevent it in most cases.

There is no charge or obligation for a scalp examination and consultation. Examination and treatment are given in strictest privacy. FEES FOR TREATMENT ARE VERY MODERATE AND ARE PAYABLE AS THE TREATMENTS ARE TAKEN — NOT IN ADVANCE. There is a separate department for women.

2 AIR VETERANS IN WAR AGAINST JAPS ARE HOME

Two army air force officers, veterans of fighting in the Pacific theater, were home yesterday. They are Col. John P. Henebry, 26, of Plainfield in Will county, who was a first lieutenant when he was last home in April, 1942, and Maj. John Dewey, 38, who last saw Chicago in December, 1940.

Maj. John Dewey.

Col. Henebry enlisted after his graduation from Notre Dame university in 1940. For the last two years he has been stationed in New Guinea as a light attack bomber pilot. With 142 missions to his credit, he headed a bomber unit that is credited with sinking 130,000 tons of Japanese shipping, damaging another 150,000 tons, and downing 600 planes.

Attacks at Low Level.

The young colonel's specialty is bombing and strafing anything Japanese at minimum altitudes. Japanese ships, supply barges, planes, troops, and anti-aircraft emplacements all came under his guns during the months his unit raided such places as Rabaul, Cape Gloucester, Wewak, Hollandia, Buna, and Madang. He was in the battle of the Bismarck sea in March, 1943.

He was wounded only once—on last Nov. 2 when his bomber was shot down returning from a raid on Rabaul. He landed in the water and was rescued by a PT boat. For this Col. Henebry received the Purple Heart. His other decorations include the distinguished flying cross with two oak leaves, the air medal and one oak leaf, the distinguished service cross, and the silver star.

Stationed in Admiralties.

Maj. Dewey enlisted in December, 1940, and was at Hickam field, Hawaii, when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. Since then, he has been in the South and Southwest Pacific without interruption. His last station was the Admiralties, where he was executive officer of a heavy bomber group.

Maj. Dewey has nine missions as an observer to his credit. He holds the air medal, the defense medal, and campaign decorations testifying to his service in New Guinea, Guadalcanal, the northern Solomons, and the central Pacific.

Neither officer is married. Col. Henebry is the son of Mrs. Joseph Henebry. Maj. Dewey's father, William M. Dewey, is president of the Edgewater Beach hotel. Both flyers had difficulty finding words to express how happy they are to be home.

TALK RESCUES FLYER

ABOARD U. S. CARRIER IN WESTERN PACIFIC, July 1 [Delayed]—(AP).—A lieutenant convinced a rear admiral that one man's life was worth changing the course of a United States naval force en route to attack the Bonin Islands. And that saved Lt. Comdr. Robert H. Price, 30, of Webster Groves, Mo.

He was rescued June 23 by a destroyer after drifting 11 days in a tiny rubber life raft, with only eight ounces of water and no food except a sea gull. A friend, Lt. D. A. McCrary of Houston, Tex., talked the naval unit's commander into detouring for a last look for price.

Price had drifted 100 miles from the spot where his plane crashed into the sea, 150 miles west of Saipan.

TOSS SHIP COOK OVERBOARD TO PROTEST FOOD

San Francisco, Cal., July 12 (AP).—The trial of four merchant seamen, accused of throwing the ship's cook overboard off New Guinea because they didn't like his cooking, ended abruptly today when one of them pleaded guilty to assault to do bodily harm.

Fred L. Slettebo of Edmonds, Wash., pleaded guilty to the charge and asked for probation.

The case against the other three—Emerson S. Summers, Spelter, W. Va., Charles B. Hamilton, Los Angeles, and Lee Desmond Perkins, Casper, Wyo.—was continued until Aug. 15. In the meantime the government will ask permission of the attorney general to dismiss charges against them.

Owen Denis Shoffeitt, the cook who got the ducking off the New Guinea coast last March 22, was brought to court yesterday by two officers who said they found him in a bar. The court agreed he was in no condition to testify.

Gas Blast in Drug Store Injures 2 Women Clerks

Miss Gertrude McCarty, 31, of 3249 Broadway, and Miss Janet Hood, 18, of 846 Rush st., suffered burns and cuts from flying glass in a gas explosion yesterday in the Maryland drug store, 900 Rush st., where both are employed as clerks. The blast smashed a plate glass window, toppled bottles to the floor, and routed about 15 customers. Police and Harold Goldensop, 41, of 6334 N. Oakley av., the store manager, attributed the explosion to gas from a pipe leading to the counter grill.

25 AIR TROOPERS GET DSC; THREE FROM MIDWEST

U. S. AIR BASE IN FRANCE, July 12 (AP).—The distinguished service cross, America's second highest military award, was pinned on 25 men of the 101st air borne division today by Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, 1st army commander. Awards also went to several men who had been evacuated.

Capt. Frank Lillyman.

Included were:

Pvt. Arthur C. Mayer, Chicago. Tho wounded and under heavy fire, he helped two comrades across a canal when his reconnaissance patrol was forced to withdraw.

Lt. Walter G. Amerman, Decatur, Ill. He attacked a machine gun nest and silenced it, permitting succeeding waves of air borne troops to land safely.

Corp. Virgil Danforth, Indianapolis, Ind., was among the troops to receive the D. S. C. from Bradley. Two machine guns pinned his squad to the ground, but Danforth wriggled along a hedge row and attacked the enemy crews, alowing his men to reorganize and hold their position.

Another who received the D. S. C. was Capt. Frank Lillyman, Skaneateles, N. Y., first allied soldier to touch France in the invasion.

ARMY AND NAVY URGE LARGE AIR FORCE IN PEACE

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP).—The army and navy asked congress today to maintain a formidable post-war air force backed with aircraft production plants ready for any emergency.

Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson and Artemus L. Gates, navy assistant secretary, voiced the two services' views before a senate military subcommittee.

"The United States should maintain an air power sufficient not only to win this war but also to keep the peace," Gates said.

Urges U. S. Retain Plants.

He and Patterson also proposed a broad expansion of civilian aviation after the war is won.

Patterson said the government should retain title to its eight huge bomber plants, with lease arrangements with private enterprise wherever possible.

As to the national policy for the maintenance of air power, Gates told the committee that the navy, while plugging for a large peace time sea force, indorses the resolution of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, which asserts that America should keep in fighting trim "air power strong enough to keep the peace."

Favor Acquiring Bases.

Gates quoted from the resolution specific means of accomplishing this end:

"1. By maintaining adequate air forces in such strength and in such state of readiness as to preclude a successful assault on our country or its possessions.

"2. By acquiring and maintaining air bases essential to our security and that of overseas trade.

"3. By facilitating the orderly economic expansion of domestic and international air transport and of private flying.

"4. By preserving a strong aircraft manufacturing industry."

Must Be Prepared.

Patterson told the committee the post-war military establishment, with its industrial support, must be maintained on the assumption that this country will not again "be given such a period of grace between the start of war and the necessity for a full scale military effort as was provided by France, England, and Russia in the present war."

"The protective isolation of our war plants cannot be taken for granted in another war," Patterson said, "because of the almost certain development of heavy bombers capable of reaching any objective in this country from overseas bases.

"Security considerations with respect to location dictate an aircraft industry with widely scattered plants."

The subcommittee before which Patterson and Gates testified is gathering testimony with a view to drafting demobilization and reconversion legislation, which will be submitted to the senate in August. It has devoted three days to testimony by manufacturers, labor representatives, and government officials. Sen. Murray [D., Mont.] is the chairman.

STARVING JAPS OPEN ATTACK ON YANKS IN GUINEA

Fight to Break Out of Trap at Wewak.

ALLIED HDQ., New Guinea, July 13 [Thursday]—(AP).—Forty-five thousand by-passed Japanese have launched a desperate attempt to break out of a New Guinea pocket in which they have been entrapped since last April, headquarters announced today.

The Japanese, remnants of the 18th army commanded by Gen. Hatazo Adachi, trapped at Wewak, opened skirmishes against American veterans Monday night along the Driniumor river, 21 miles east of American occupied Aitape.

The first attacks were repulsed, but the enemy assaults were resumed Tuesday morning. Americans dug in deeply to meet the attackers, described as a "heavy" force.

Must Fight or Starve.

A spokesman for Gen. MacArthur estimated the trapped Japanese at 45,000, but said possibly only half of them were combat troops. "Noncombat forces also undoubtedly have been pressed into service," he added.

Asked why the Japanese were launching the attack, the spokesman said, "they lose if they don't, because they'll starve to death."

MacArthur's bulletin today said: "The strength of this army when cut off by our Hollandia-Aitape landings was 60,000. Privation, starvation, constant air bombardment, and attrition are believed to have destroyed approximately 25 per cent of this total. Opening skirmishes with our outguard and reconnaissance groups are now taking place."

Bombs Hit Japs.

Australians advancing westward up the New Guinea coast at last reports had reached the Sepik river, 60 miles east of Wewak. The Japanese are ranged along 130 miles of coastline from the Sepik thru Wewak to the American defenses along the Driniumor river.

Headquarters announced that medium bombers, attack planes, and fighters dropped 35 tons of bombs on the Japanese in the Wewak sector Tuesday.

Should some of the Japs push past the American beachheads at Aitape, Hollandia, and Maffin bay, they will find little shelter in Dutch New Guinea. Allied planes have put Manokwari out of commission and have seriously crippled Sorong, last remaining effective Japanese base in New Guinea.

MacArthur today announced that Liberators neutralized Babo airdrome across New Guinea, on MacCluer gulf, with 33 tons of bombs, in daylight Tuesday.

JAPS JAIL ALL MISSIONARIES IN THE PHILIPPINES

Accused of Spying, Says Manila Radio.

[Ray Cronin, now AP war editor at San Francisco, was chief of the former AP bureau in Manila. He spent 21 months in a Japanese prison camp prior to repatriation.]

BY RAY CRONIN.

San Francisco, Cal., July 12 (AP).—Charges of espionage have been lodged by the Japanese army against American religious workers in the Philippines, according to a broadcast from the Manila radio station.

The broadcast said all allied missionaries and other religious workers in the islands were rounded up and thrown into a civilian prison camp.

The Japanese said these Catholic and Protestant missionaries had "abused" their temporary freedom of movement by engaging in espionage and subversive propaganda. They further alleged the religious workers had attempted, thru subversive activities, to upset coöperation between Japanese authorities and the "republic of the Philippines."

All Properties Seized.

The broadcast said all the properties of the religious organizations, supposedly including churches, convents, schools, and monasteries, were turned over to the "bureau of religious affairs of the republic."

After the Japanese took Manila 500 missionaries and religious workers, most of them Americans, were permitted to live in their own religious compounds outside the Santo Tomas civilian prison camp. Some of them refused to sign temporary releases offered by the Japanese. They were held in the camp. The others, while outside, had only limited freedom. The temporary releases were a pledge against espionage. The Japanese made it clear any violations would draw "dire punishment."

Religion Puzzles Japs.

From the outset of the occupation the Japanese did not know how to handle the religious question. Their army religious bureau failed in its attempts to gain the coöperation of about 13,000,000 Filipino Catholics and several million Protestants for the "greater east Asia co-prosperity sphere."

The Japanese cracked down on some of the American missionaries in Manila in the fall of 1943. A dozen Catholic priests were taken to the prison at Fort Santiago, charged with disseminating propaganda. We never learned what happened to the priests.

This latest action of the Japanese may cause widespread resentment among Filipinos, who always have demonstrated a great love and respect for their religious leaders.

FLYERS TAUGHT BY LINDBERGH TO CONSERVE GAS

ALLIED HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, July 13 [Thursday]—(AP).—Charles A. Lindbergh has arrived at Southwest Pacific headquarters after a tour of Pacific air fields as a civilian technician. He has flown fighters and bombers to aid combat pilots in increasing the range of ships thru gasoline conservation and more expert handling.

In one instance Lindbergh "flew wing" on a veteran P-38 group commander, a colonel with a reputation for conservation of gasoline. Lindbergh returned with 200 more gallons than the colonel.

In the Solomons, Lindbergh flew marine and navy dive bombers, Corsair fighters, medium, and heavy bombers.

SOUTHERN JAW OF JAP PINCERS GAINS 25 MILES

CHUNGKING, China, July 12 (AP).—Japanese troops have advanced 25 miles in the Kwangtung province drive seeking to close a vise on the Canton-Hankow railroad, but the Chinese held the northern jaw in Hunan province in the face of gas attacks, the Chinese high command declared tonight.

The left wing of the Japanese force forming the southern jaw of the pincer moved west of the vital railway and reached a point 12 miles from Yingtak, 70 miles north of Canton. Occupation of Yingtak would place the Japanese forces driving north and south in an effort to clear the railway within less than 160 miles of each other. The Japanese advanced on Yingtak from recently occupied Tsingyun, 40 miles northwest of Canton.

"Retreat" Incorrect.

Chinese officials were revising their view that the crisis in Hunan province was past in the light of the new Japanese advance. Reports circulated last week of a general Japanese retreat in Hunan were found to be incorrect.

The Chinese bulletin said Japanese gas attacks were made at Hengyang outskirts in conjunction with an aerial and artillery bombardment.

"Part of our officers and men seriously were affected by the gas and fainted," it added, "while others braved the danger and held the invaders at bay. Our air force arrived on the scene, bombing and strafing enemy troops. Fighting still is going on."

Elsewhere in Hunan province the Chinese were continuing flanking attacks and operations in the enemy's rear.

American Is Confident.

Along Hengyang's outer ring Chinese troops continued to attack, the high command said, and the enemy at several points was attempting to counter-attack. Liling, 75 miles northeast of Hengyang, was reëntered by the Japanese and street fighting was in progress there.

At newly captured Yungfeng, 45 miles northwest of Hengyang, the Chinese cleared an area within a radius of six miles of the city. The Chinese attack in the direction of the Yolo mountains, across the Siang river from Changsha, made further progress.

A delayed dispatch from a forward base of the United States 14th air force quoted Brig. Gen. Clinton D. Vincent, 29 year old commander of the eastern China composite wing, as saying that the Japanese drive in Hunan had been stopped and the next job for the Chinese-American ground and air combination was to rout or destroy the foe.

This dispatch said Vincent's wing was virtually unopposed as it shattered the Japanese supply line in Hunan. Japanese boats on Tungting lake and the Siang river and transport along roadways southward were the targets.

Clear Mogaung Area.

SOUTHEAST ASIA HDQ., Kandy, Ceylon, July 12 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's campaign to root the Japanese from north Burma and drive a land supply route to China reached another minor milestone yesterday with the juncture of the Chinese 22d and 38th divisions seven miles west of Mogaung.

This freed the jungle-girt mountain area between Kamaing and Mogaung of all but isolated bands of stragglers. Headquarters said the road was cleared completely of organized resistance.

Chinese made local attacks at the beleagured base of Myitkyina, last of three north Burma bastions still partly in Japanese hands.

A Japanese force near Chepu, southwest of captured Ukhrul, has been routed after a two-day battle, Adm. Mountbatten announced, and the position of enemy forces remaining in India was declared becoming rapidly worse.

British troops have pushed to Ongshim, nine miles to the southeast, after the dispersal of enemy units threatening Kohima and the Imphal plain.

MOVIE SHOWN ON SAIPAN 4 HOURS AFTER CAPTURE

BY HAROLD SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAIPAN ISLAND, Marianas, July 10 [Delayed].—Within four hours after Saipan Island was secured yesterday the first American movies were shown. The feature picture, "The Heat's On," featuring Mae West, was shown by an army crew. An audience of more than 700 included marines and soldiers. A perfect evening was unmarred by the usual Nip air raid.

During the picture augmented guards patrolled the area against the chance of enemy snipers, who still appear occasionally from hiding to harass rear areas. Each spectator picked beforehand a foxhole he would occupy in case of an air raid, and each had helmet and rifle.

The screen consisted of two table cloths fastened together by common pins, located after diligent search. The reels shown arrived by ship yesterday afternoon. It is planned to show a new picture every third night.

ARMY GIVES NEW EXCUSE FOR BAN ON NEWSPAPERS

Puts Curtailment Blame on Overseas Chiefs.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 12.—Responsibility for the failure of fighting men overseas to get American newspapers with news of the Republican national convention now has been placed by the war department upon the shoulders of the American war theater commanders.

This position is a reversal of the one the department took last week, when it placed the blame upon congress.

Despite the war department's conflicting statements and the curtailment of news for American forces as the Presidential election draws near, department spokesmen make nd denial of the fact that most American soldiers are unable to buy American newspapers where they are quartered overseas.

The reasons the overseas forces cannot get American newspapers have been obscured by conflicting explanations and a general air of mystery.

Joker in Amendment.

No explanation was given by the department for the shift of blame, which it originally ascribed to congress because of an amendment congress added to the Hatch clean politics act in the recently enacted soldier vote law. The shifting of blame came on the day that a joker was discovered in that amendment.

The joker, Sen. Taft [R., O.] said by telephone from Cincinnati, was drawn up by the war department itself and placed, at the department's request, in the amendment, of which he was the author.

Taft said he drew up his amendment to prevent political propagandizing by either party among the American forces. The barring of American newspapers, he says, was the opposite of his intention. His amendment specifically said that newspapers of general circulation were not to be banned.

Additional Provisions.

But, he said, the army came to him with additional provisions, one of which stated:

"The list of such magazines and newspapers of general circulation shall be determined in accordance with the preference of the members of the armed services in some reliable method to be determined by the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy."

Taft inserted the provision along with the others in the amendment.

Using the provision quoted, the war department then wrote the regulations for determining the soldiers' preference in newspapers. Secretary Stimson said he would allow the overseas commander of each theater to elect his own method.

Offers Own Method.

He also offered a method of his own and approved it in advance, if the theater commanders cared to adopt it. It was a "sampling poll," in which the soldiers would express their three preferences among 15 leading newspapers of general circulation in the United States, with the privilege of writing in the name of an additional paper.

Observers said Stimson's method puzzled them because only two American newspapers were circulating overseas editions in Europe, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the New York Times. They said there would be no point in expressing a preference for a paper by mail subscription, for the present controversy concerns only the purchase of newspapers in army establishments.

Under the regulations, issued April 27, THE TRIBUNE was ordered to cease circulation in North Africa May 6. There were indications that the order would stand until preference had been established, but THE TRIBUNE has not been reinstated. And the army has given no indication as to how the preference poll is progressing.

Refer to Hatch Act.

Last Saturday the war department replied to widespread criticism of censorship and the mishandling of newspapers with a statement calling attention to the Hatch act amendment. The New York Times subsequently reported that the war department expressed a willingness to coöperate if congress would change the law.

Yesterday, however, the war department said it had no control over the situation, since the overseas theater commanders had full authority over the matter. The war department spokesman said, moreover, that they knew of no overseas theater commander who had reported completion of a preference poll.

Two commanders, the department said, had asked how the 15 newspapers for the selection list were to be chosen, but the department said this, too, was for the theater commanders to determine.

The war department's latest version came a few hours after Taft had explained that the army wrote in the legal provisions which it previously had said tied its hands. Taft said that even under the army's regulation there was no reason why a "spot check" [poll of a representative group] could not be taken quickly and reported, so that newspapers could resume circulation.

JEERED AT, DAD OF QUINTS GIVES 3 OF THEM AWAY

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 11 [Delayed].—Turkey has produced the most remarkable of the quintuplet birth series. A woman in a remote mountain region gave birth to five healthy children a few days ago, but her husband gave away three to "nomads," lest the neighbors jeer at her, according to a report telephoned to the Istanbul newspaper Cumhuriyet.

This strange action was in sharp contrast to the case of Canada's Dionne quintuplets, whose birth brought world fame to their parents and Callender, Ontario, and a fortune estimated at more than a million dollars.

Reporter Confirms Story.

For a week reporters have been trying to get at the truth of the newest quints story, as the birth of the five first was reported and then denied. Now a Turkish reporter has reached the mountain village of Kilit, near Mardin, in southeast Turkey, and returned to Mardin to report that the quintuplets really were born near Kilit to the wife of a man named Rifat Aga.

"But Rifat Aga's enemies mocked him," says the paper, "and said his wife had produced a litter like a she dog."

Only Twins, Father Insists.

Rifat, embarrassed by this, insisted his wife had had only twins, and that a mistake was made regarding the quints because they already had three small children, which made a total of five.

Then, the newspaper says, "in accordance with the custom of this region—when a family produces too many children they are confided to nomads of the region to rear—Rifat Aga gave three away. He showed the children to no one in order not to play into the hands of his enemies."

The father then informed the local police that the quintuplets story was a mistake and said his wife had produced only twins.

PICK ARCHITECT FOR AIRPORT'S NEW TERMINAL

Philip M. Willcox, executive vice president of United Air Lines and chairman of the Chicago airport agreement committee, announced yesterday that the committee had selected the firm of Shaw, Naess & Murphy as architect for the new terminal building to be constructed at the airport.

Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt, who was asked to approve the firm, said the city will give its approval contingent upon a contract that protects the interests of the city and provides the service at a reasonable price.

The committee is composed of executives of the eight major air lines that use the airport. They plan a terminal building that would cost between $950,000 and $1,250,000. The air lines, which will pay for the building, altho title will go to the city, will be reimbursed thru remission of rental and landing fees.

CHICAGO OFFICER KEEPS YANKS ON SAIPAN SUPPLIED

BY HAROLD SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAIPAN ISLAND, July 8 [Delayed].—The marines have been described as a "stomach entirely surrounded with courage," and a Chicago real estate man runs the job of keeping those "innards" as well as the weapons of one of the fightingest leatherneck units here well supplied. He is Lt. Carl C. Gabel, 31, son of Charles R. Gabel, 8334 S. Ada st.

Lt. C. C. Gabel.

The fighting personnel of one regiment become Gabel's special feeding and supply problem the moment the men disembark from a transport.

Gabel and his crew landed four hours after the first wave hit the beach. On the second day the Japs counter-attacked Gabel's beachhead. Some 200 of the leaderless members of the beach party began a retirement down the beach. Lt. Gabel rallied them, located the enemy gun positions under a near-by pier, directed their destruction, saw that our wounded were evacuated, then resumed ferrying in supplies.

HERSHEY THINKS PRESENT DRAFT POLICY WILL DO

New York, July 12 (AP).—Selective Service Director Hershey said today he believes the present draft age policy "will meet the demands of the future."

"So long as the demands remain at the present stage the use of the over 30 year old group would not seem necessary, but the answer rests on the war situation," Maj. Gen. Hershey declared in an address before the Commerce and Industry association.

He said that unless the military situation should take "unforeseen turns," maintenance and replacement would account for most of future demands for men.

The present selective service policy, which Hershey reiterated, is to induct all possible able-bodied men under 26, to defer in the 26 thru 29 group all "necessary men" in activities which local boards deem essential, and to defer all men over 30 in essential employment.

INVASION CRAFT DELAYED AS 60 STAGE WALKOUT

Sixty workers in the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company's 111th st. plant abandoned their jobs for several hours yesterday, delaying production of urgently needed invasion landing craft for the navy. The walkout followed the layoff of one man because of poor work, a company spokesman said. The workers are employed in the ship assembly division.

EDEN WELCOMES F. D. R.'S ACCORD WITH DE GAULLE

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 12.—Hope that the United States and Britain and Gen. Charles De Gaulle would reach an agreement on the conduct of civil affairs in liberated France on the basis of recent London talks was expressed by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in the house of commons today.

Eden welcomed President Roosevelt's statement that the United States had decided to recognize the French national committee as the de facto government in the liberated areas, and said parliament's forbearance in not pressing for a debate had been a helpful contribution to the satisfactory conclusion.

De Gaulle Quits Montreal.

MONTREAL, Que., July 12 (AP).—Thousands of cheering Montrealers today heard Gen. Charles De Gaulle say from a hotel balcony: "To you in this second French speaking city in the world, second only after my beloved Paris, I today come with a message—France now united stands ready to win peace for herself and the rest of the world." De Gaulle, after attending receptions, left by plane for an undisclosed destination.

MISSING MAN FOUND HANGED.

John E. Bruna, 45, of 5225 W. 30th st., Cicero, a laundry route driver who had been reported missing since Monday, was found yesterday hanged by a belt tied to a tree limb in the forest preserve west of the Des Plaines river and north of United States highway 66 in Lyons township.

SIX ILLINOISANS CITED AS HEROES IN PACIFIC AREA

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP).—Six Illinois soldiers have been awarded the bronze star medal for heroism in the Pacific war theater, the war department announced today. They are:

Tech. Sgt. Frederick W. Grasser, 432 S. Poplar av., Kankakee, for carrying a wounded officer to safety under enemy fire at Guadalcanal; Staff Sgt. Norman E. Duff, Centralia, for advancing thru enemy fire to evacuate a wounded squadron leader at Guadalcanal.

Staff Sgt. Clive R. Witt, Brocton, who, tho wounded on Guadalcanal, "assisted in organizing the wounded, administered first aid and helped to lead the party back to his own lines" while under fire.

Tech. 5th Grade Henry L. Bonner, Centralia, and Tech. 5th Grade Charles G. Gundrum, 6112 S. Major av., Chicago, litter bearers wounded at Bougainville in evacuating a wounded soldier lying within 30 yards of an enemy position.

Pvt. 1st Class Harold Pomsovy, posthumous, son of Morris Pomsovy, 1410 S. Christiana av., Chicago, who was mortally wounded at Bougainville when "he voluntarily left his concealed position to aid the wounded" of his unit.

Army Nurses Get Status of the Regular Officers

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt today ordered all army nurses commissioned as actual army officers in lieu of the relative rank they now hold. The effect of the executive order will give nurses, female dietitians and physical therapy personnel of the army medical department the full authority of their officer rank. Heretofore nurses have been commissioned by relative rank, somewhat limiting their authority.

HAZE SURROUNDS 2D PLACE CHOICE BY DEMOCRATS

Convention Head Expects Several Aspirants.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Interest shifted to the Vice Presidential nomination at Democratic convention headquarters yesterday as a result of Mr. Roosevelt's statement that he will be the fourth term candidate for President.

Sen. S. D. Jackson.

Mayor Kelly was in Washington, D. C., for conferences with other Democratic chiefs on the Vice Presidency. He had disappeared on Tuesday and even his political confidants were kept in the dark as to his whereabouts.

Edward F. Pauley, Democratic national treasurer, who also participated in the parleys, arrived on an American Air Lines plane from Washington last night, but refused to talk about the White House conference. He would not say whether he had talked with Kelly about the possibility of eliminating Vice President Wallace.

However, the rumor spread among local leaders that "it won't be Wallace." The permanent convention chairman, Sen. Jackson of Indiana, told a press conference yesterday that he cannot predict the choice.

Asked to comment on Roosevelt's silence regarding the Vice Presidency, Sen. Jackson said it signifies to him "he hasn't settled the question in his own mind."

Several Aspirants in Field.

To another question he replied: "I have no idea of whether he [Roosevelt] will leave it to the convention or not. I haven't talked to the President or Mr. Wallace recently."

Asked if he believes it will be a wide open race, the convention chairman answered that he has no opinion on that. He said that "apparently" there are several aspirants.

Without conceding that the convention would take whomever Roosevelt wants, Sen. Jackson said he "presumes the convention would give great heed to his preference."

Doubts Selection of Woman.

A girl reporter wanted to know whether there is any chance of nominating a woman for Vice President. Jackson said that many women are capable of handling the job, but he doesn't anticipate either party will nominate one for some time.

Most elaborate presentation here of an aspirant's qualifications has been made by backers of Gov. J. M. Broughton of North Carolina, in the form of a large picture booklet. Gov. Broughton addressed the Executives' club and made a radio talk in the last week.

Jackson was asked whether the CIO political action committee, now raising 2 million dollars for the fourth term drive, will play a part at the convention.

Expects CIO to Play Part.

"I think they will," he said. "I can't see but that they will seek to exert some influence."

He set forth his opinion of outstanding campaign issues:

"First, whether the people are willing to abandon the administration of Mr. Roosevelt's party in expectation of having a continuation of the war effort without interruption. Second, whether they are willing to go along with the administration in the belief of establishing a lasting peace. They will take into account the 12 year record of what the administration did and failed to do."

New Deal Failures "Human."

Asked about the administration failures, he said they were human, but declined to elaborate.

He also was asked whether the President will run as commander in chief or as President.

"Every one will have to put his own interpretation on that," he said.

Chairman Jackson "guessed" that Roosevelt's nomination will take place the second night of the convention, Thursday, July 20, and that a Vice Presidential nominee will be chosen the third day.

PRODUCE $4,000, LINDHEIMER AND ASSOCIATE TOLD

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki ordered yesterday that Horace G. Lindheimer, former county treasurer, and a business associate, E. W. Baruther, produce in court about $4,000, which they allegedly received as commissions on a lease on a flat building at 4301-11 Evans av. The hearing was continued to July 18.

The matter got into court on a petition filed by Assistant State's Atty. Joseph P. Burke for the invalidating of the lease on the building, which has 28 flats. Burke disclosed that the property is delinquent in taxes to the extent of $23,000, and that the lease prevented the collection of more than $125 a month to apply on the tax bill.

He described the lease deal as "tainted with fraud."

STEPS TO BLOCK FIRES AT ARMY'S EXHIBIT LAUDED

Brig. Gen. William E. Guthner, 6th service command director of security and intelligence, and Chief Fire Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney yesterday praised safety measures taken by the army at its Weapons of War exhibit in Burnham park, south of Soldiers' field. All tents housing displays are fire repellant and fire fighting equipment is located strategically on the show grounds.

A force of 35 military police inspects tents and displays continuously each day from noon, when the show is opened, until closing time at 11 p. m. Besides the military police, Chicago firemen are on duty at all times. The fire department has four emergency fire carts located at the four corners of the exhibit area and the army has a large number of air force crash trucks and hand pumps.

Telephones for fire use only are located at 13 places on the show grounds and there also is a direct line to the Chicago fire department. Show visitors who desire to see demonstrations of flame throwers and amphibious trucks in the lagoon are not permitted to cross the Outer dr., but must cross by an overhead bridge.

CONVICT CAUGHT IN CHASE LIVED ON BURIED CASH

Ralph L. Williams, 26, fugitive from the Indiana state penitentiary who was captured after an automobile chase on the Outer dr. and Foster av. Tuesday evening, said yesterday that since his escape he had been living on money he buried in jars before he was convicted four years ago.

He told Assistant State's Atty. Roy McCarthy that he buried $400 near Fort Wayne, Ind., and unearthed it after he walked away two months ago from the Michigan City prison, where he was a trusty. He was serving a sentence of 10 to 25 years for robbery.

Most political leaders feel the choice of Barkley would be politically unwise in view of the latter's brief break with the President over the tax bill. In his denunciation of the President's veto, Barkley hurled harsh charges of dictatorship at the White House, which would give Republicans potent political ammunition, New Dealers said, even tho Barkley has since fallen over himself in making amends to the President.

Opposed to Southerner.

Political thumbs were turned down on the selection of a southerner for second place because such action would tend to hasten the return of the colored vote to the Republican party. The New Dealers count upon holding the Negro vote in line in northern industrial cities as their only chance for victory.

It was generally recognized among political leaders that a stronger case could be made against each of the 20 candidates than for them. However, they acknowledged that agreement on any one would be better than a fight on the convention floor.

JOHNSTON BACK AFTER 8 WEEKS' VISIT IN RUSSIA

New York, July 12 (AP).—Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, returned in an army transport plane today from a visit of eight weeks in Russia. He was accompanied by William L. White, editor of the Emporia [Kan.], Gazette, and Joyce O'Hara, Johnston's assistant.

Johnston and O'Hara went on to Washington. Johnston said he did not care to comment on his Russian trip, other than to mention his conference with Premier Stalin.

Shown Red Arsenal.

MOSCOW, July 12 (AP).—A two week flying tour of the vast Russian interior beyond the Ural mountains has given a group of Americans a first hand view of the Red army's central Asia arsenal and all said they were impressed by the tremendous energies unleashed in the Soviet war effort.

The group included Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, who is now back in America; Bland Calder, first secretary of the United States embassy, and four correspondents.

The tour covered more than 5,000 miles. The group inspected factories and farms and talked with leaders of many enterprises. A slogan "everything for the front" was displayed widely.

DEMOCRATS BOW TO WOMEN AT 29TH CONVENTION

More Than 500 Will Share in Duties.

More than 500 women will be among the 2,000 odd delegates and alternates arriving here in the next few days for the 29th quadrennial Democratic convention next week.

Mrs. C. W. Tillett.

Hailed as the "greatest representation of women in the history of the party," they will join national committeewomen in national convention work, including sitting on major committees on a basis of equal representation with men.

Women party leaders yesterday attributed the trend to their own campaigning for the so-called "50-50 plan" [equal representation] and to the war time emergency giving women greater political strength.

Get Larger Place This Year.

In 1940, they won a 50-50 voice on the resolutions committee. This year, they are getting an equal voice on the platform subcommittee, as well as on the major committees. In 1940, one woman addressed the convention; this year two will do so.

The importance of women in 1944 was indicated last Feb. 29 with the appointment of Dorothy McElroy, wife of Peter Bredenburgh III., Alabama lumberman, as secretary of the national committee—first woman to hold that post. She'll be temporary convention secretary.

Another temporary officer will be the first woman ever to be assistant chairman of the national committee, Mrs. Charles W. Tillett of Charlotte, N. C., head of the women's division. She will speak at the session Wednesday night.

The glamor of the theater comes with the second woman speaker, Helen Gahagan Douglas, actress, Democratic nominee for congress from the 14th congressional district [Los Angeles county] in California and national committeewoman from that state.

Women Get Real Titles.

Women leaders on committees will be "co-chairmen" instead of "assistants" or "vices." As a co-chairman, Rep. Mary Norton of New Jersey will share the presiding table when the resolutions subcommittee on platform meets.

The 24 member group includes a dozen women, among them Nellie Tayloe Ross, former governor of Wyoming and now director of the mint; Mrs. Fred Vinson, Kentucky, wife of the director of economic stabilization; Mrs. W. T. Bost, North Carolina's commissioner of public welfare for 14 years, and Miss Doris I. Byrne, associate chairman of the New York state committee.

Campaign School for Women.

Women at this convention will be taught how to make their campaigning count. A campaign school will hold two sessions at the Stevens hotel, 9:30 a. m., July 19 and 21. Miss Byrne, a lawyer, will be one of the speakers at the first session.

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, former minister to Norway, will talk at the second meeting.

Mrs. Robert E. Hannegan, wife of the national committee chairman, arrived yesterday from St. Louis, Mo., with her daughter, Patricia, 14.

CALL ROOSEVELT BEST PRESIDENT BRITAIN HAS HAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 12.—Franklin Delano Roosevelt is overwhelmingly acclaimed in Great Britain as the greatest President England ever had because no one else could have guided America so skillfully into war and because no one else has given so much to England. This was reported in the current issue of the Economic Record, a publication of the national industrial conference board, a private business research agency.

The Record reports enthusiasm for the fourth term thruout England in its publication of notes from the travel diary of an "unofficial American."

Would Get Their Votes.

"There is great interest among all classes in our coming election," the conference board observer writes. "If the English could participate they would cast their vote, almost to a man, for Roosevelt. He is facetiously referred to as 'the best President England ever had.'"

The observer says the English like Mr. Roosevelt's Secretary of State Cordell Hull, whom they refer to as "Cordial" Hull.

"Their one concern," the notes continue, "is the possibility of a Roosevelt defeat. He is given credit for lend-lease, without which the British are convinced they could not have carried on. 'And no one else could have guided America so skilfully into the war.'

Fear G. O. P. Victory.

"They believe that without American post-war coöperation England would have a most difficult time.

"Republicans are regarded as isolationists. Willkie's resounding defeat in Wisconsin confirmed their views. Willkie, however, did not seem well regarded. They did not understand his 'antics.'"

The observer indicates the British expect lend-lease will continue after the war. The picture for Britain's economic outlook is considered gloomy unless the United States will continue to give England food and raw materials equal to the deficit in her trade balance.

BROWNE DENIED PAROLE BY U. S. PARDONS BOARD

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special].—George E. Browne, former president of the AFL stagehands' and movie operators' union, who was given an eight year sentence under the federal anti-racketeering law in 1941, has been denied a parole by the federal board of pardons, a justice department spokesman said tonight.

Browne, who is serving his term in the federal correctional institution at Sandstone, Minn., is said to have become eligible for a parole a few days ago and made application immediately.

Both Browne and Willie Bioff, who was tried and convicted with him, testified for the government in the New York trial last year of a group of Capone mobsters from Chicago accused of aiding them in extorting money from the movie industry.

ATTENTION! ALL HOME CANNERS!

If we all pitch in, 1944 will see the greatest food production in our history.

But that will require your help.

It's up to you to: 1. grow every ounce of food you possibly can; 2. use all the food you grow; 3. can your food by the proper and safe methods.

Every ounce of home-canned food is urgently needed. Your Government begs you not only to match what you did last year but, if possible, to better your 1943 record.

Put up fruits and tomatoes by the boiling-water bath method—a safe and satisfactory method for these foods.

But before you begin your 1944 canning of all other vegetables, Good Housekeeping wants to tell you how to avoid a danger that may occur in home-canned food—a danger recognized by many authorities, including the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

That danger is botulinus food poisoning!

Botulinus poisoning comes from bacteria that live in the soil and cling to vegetables. It is rare—but it isn't confined to just a few parts of the country, as some people think.

Botulinus germs may be on the food you can. They must be destroyed. Whenever these bacteria are present in the food and are not destroyed during the canning process, they gradually produce a toxin which is poisonous.

It takes hotter-than-boiling heat to kill botulinus germs. Neither hot-water bath nor open-kettle canning provides enough heat to destroy them. That is why we advise: the only safe way to can low-acid vegetables—which means all vegetables except tomatoes—is by the correct use of a pressure cooker!

If you don't already own a pressure cooker, you'll be glad to know that the Government is allowing the manufacture of 400,000 new cookers for sale this summer, without priorities.

If you can't buy a pressure cooker, borrow your neighbor's . . . or perhaps you'll find one available through a community canning group. If not, form your own community group, and buy one. To be safe, don't can low-acid vegetables any other way.

We take this opportunity to issue two further warnings: 1. Oven canning is dangerous. It has caused many serious accidents to persons and to property. Shun it! 2. All home-canned foods should be examined carefully when opened. If there is evidence of spoilage, the food should not be used. NEVER TASTE to discover spoilage.*

By all means, put up every ounce of surplus food you possibly can. Our armed forces and the hungry nations of the earth need the benefits of our abundance.

"Dad says I've got 4 trains here instead of 2"

"You see, I've been wanting a couple more trains and, of course, you can't buy any more until after the war is over."

Well, the two you have now are really four, if you run them right.

"That's just what Dad said. I thought he was kidding until he showed me why. You see, these two trains of mine are toy Zephyrs and he showed me how to run them on the same schedule as a couple of real Zephyrs. So instead of having them make one-way trips like most trains, I have them make round trips every day. That means I can carry twice as many people."

And that's exactly what two of Burlington's Zephyrs are doing, Jimmy . . . each making an 874-mile round trip every day between Chicago and the Twin Cities. Each of these trains has traveled more than two and a quarter million miles, and they have been in actual service 97% of the time since they started running.

"That takes speed, I'll betcha!"

Better than 60 miles an hour, including all stops. Not so many years ago, it took nearly 11 hours, one way! But say, Jimmy, how come your Dad knows so much about the Burlington and our Zephyrs?

"Oh, didn't I tell you? My Dad's a Burlington man."

★ ★ ★

Burlington has 12 other diesel-powered, stainless steel Zephyrs and a fleet of steam-powered passenger trains—all of them out to do ONE big job—to handle as much vital military and civilian traffic as possible, as fast as possible. A fleet of freight trains is geared to the same objective in moving materials of war. Through its 22 principal gateways and more than 200 interchange points, the Burlington serves as an essential link between railroads from the North, East, South and West.

BROWNELL RIPS F.D.R. 'PRETEXT' FOR A 4TH TERM

Use of Military Title Is Denounced.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., July 12.—Gov. Dewey's camp today aimed its first shot at President Roosevelt's announced candidacy for a fourth term in the form of a statement by Herbert Brownell Jr., chairman of the national Republican committee, in which Mr. Roosevelt was termed "the first of 32 Presidents to claim that the title of commander in chief makes him a soldier and to use that title as a pretext to perpetuate himself in political office."

Herbert Brownell Jr.

The commander in chief reference was taken from the President's statement yesterday to the effect he would accept the nomination next week as a "good soldier."

"On Nov. 4, 1940," Brownell said, "Mr. Roosevelt made this statement: 'You will have a new President in 1944.' When he said that, he was right. That's all I have to say on this subject at this time."

Has Dewey Approval.

The Brownell statement has Dewey's tacit approval as it had been read to him by Brownell at a breakfast conference this morning.

Brownell, while declining to discuss the coming campaign in any detail, indicated Dewey anticipates strong support from local organizations in the 26 states with Republican governors. Those states have 342 votes in the electoral college. A majority is 266 votes.

A conference of these 26 governors, including Dewey and his running mate, Gov. Bricker of Ohio, is expected to mobilize strength for the national ticket. The conference is to be held Aug. 2 and 3, before Dewey opens his speaking campaign in St. Louis, Mo., doubtful territory on the border of the midwest's solid Republican nationalism.

May See Brooks.

The trip to St. Louis is also expected to inject some westernism into the Republican Presidential campaign. There are tentative plans for the nominee to see some midwestern senators and representatives while in the Mississippi valley, probably including Sen. Brooks of Illinois and Richard Lyons, Illinois' senatorial nominee, both advocates of putting United States' interests first.

To date, Dewey activities have had an eastern seaboard tinge. The official explanation is geographic. In the pre-campaign consultations between the candidate and congressmen, the closest states, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Vermont were the easiest states for the visitors.

Unofficially it was said Dewey was adjusting east coast interventionists to acceptance of the G. O. P. foreign plank favoring world collaboration but opposing any "world state." Furthermore, Dewey has been seeing friends of Wendell Willkie, the 1940 nominee squelched by the voters of Wisconsin this year.

Host to Willkie Backer.

Among Dewey's visitors today was Sam T. Pryor, vice president of Pan-American Airlines, who was Willkie's eastern campaign manager in 1940. Pryor told reporters he had not discussed Willkie with Dewey. He said, however, he respected the "woman's intuition" of Rep. Luce [R., Conn.] who yesterday predicted Willkie will campaign for Dewey.

"I've been out of politics for three years," said Pryor, "but I get around a lot. I was able to report to the governor that the Republican organization thruout the country is on its toes as never before this early in a campaign."

"The CIO," he continued, answering a question applied particularly to Connecticut, "is working hard for a fourth term. However, we also had the CIO fighting Republican candidates in 1942, but the rank and file voted Republican."

THE QUESTION.

What childhood prank stands out most in your mind?

WHERE ASKED?

Public library, Randolph st. and Michigan av.

THE ANSWERS.

Millie Maladova, model, 2117 Orchard st.—After a heavy snow storm my cousin and I went outdoors to play. I tricked her into letting me cover her up with snow. When I had her packed in well I left her. After she'd been there some time mother heard her screaming for help and dug her out. She was nearly frozen.

Lucia Baril, student, 1940 Sherman av., Evanston—The janitor had been doing some painting and left his bucket of green paint and a brush in the yard. A little neighbor boy and I discovered it and promptly revealed our painting talent. We grabbed a white cat which lived next door and painted it green.

Robert Hechinger, student, 4116 Addison st.—There was a crabby landlord who lost the respect of our neighborhood gang because he was always scolding us. He was building an extension on his garage so one afternoon we gathered up a heap of rocks and pelted the tin roof for nearly two hours, trapping him inside.

Hyman Lavitt, student, 1844 Millard av.—We didn't have anything against our camp counselor, but at a boys' camp the thing to do is play pranks on the fellow in charge. One day we caught a bunch of snakes and put them in his bed. That didn't faze him, so the next night we put his bed on the roof.

Edward Van Huis, student, 1522 W. 15th st.—My chum and I were hanging around a carnival which was getting ready to leave town. We swiped a keg of spikes and carefully placed them under all four tires of a beautiful new car parked at the curb. We put them in front of and behind the tires.

Anita Cassidy, student, Ogden Dunes, Ind.—My brother and I thought we were beyond the age where an afternoon nap was necessary. One afternoon we waited until mother tucked us into bed and tiptoed out of the room. Then we got up, stuffed our beds with blankets to look like our bodies, and climbed out the window.

CONVICT CAUGHT AFTER 11 YEARS OF MODEL LIFE

Twenty-three years ago Joseph Jablonski, then 19, was sent to Joliet penitentiary for life on a murder charge for taking part in a robbery in which a south side druggist was killed. He studied engineering in the prison and had a part in constructing the new prison at Stateville.

As a reward for his services he was assigned to the prison honor farm in 1928. He remained there until 1933, when he walked off and returned to Chicago. In the years since he married, became the father of a daughter, and applied himself to the trade of a machinist.

He was at work yesterday in the Goodwill Manufacturing company, 1215 S. Laramie av., Cicero, when Detectives William Nihill and John O'Connor of the Maxwell Street station walked up to him. "You'll have to come along," they said. "It's that old prison escape."

VOTERS TO SEAL NEW DEAL DOOM, SAYS GOV. GREEN

Newton, Ill., June 12 [Special].—Gov. Green asserted here today that the Republican party is the only organization with the power to defeat Fascist minded New Dealers and their big city political machines which have stolen the Democratic party from the Democrats themselves.

Speaking before a farm audience at the Jasper county fair, the governor confidently predicted that the Republican party will achieve "the greatest victory this nation has ever witnessed" at the polls in November.

"Never before," he said, "has our party offered a platform and a list of candidates who are so attractive to all true Americans—Independents and Jeffersonian and constitutional Democrats as well as Republicans. Seldom before has the Republican party entered upon a campaign with such unity and harmony in its ranks."

New Deal Distrusted.

Green said the men and women who are going to vote Republican this year distrust those in the present national administration who seem so ready to relinquish American sovereignty even before victory is won.

"For the job of re-establishing a sound post-war economy, they even more seriously distrust the high handed burocrats whose constant and insidious attempts to encroach upon our constitutional rights would set at nought even the most careful plans that could be laid by our state and local governments," he said.

"They know that the plans for post-war reconstruction of business, agriculture, and labor, and the post-war programs for the rehabilitation and employment of veterans are doomed to failure unless the freedom of opportunity and enterprise are re-established thruout this land once more.

Failure to Be Remedied.

The governor said Americans are a patient people, willing to give the government a fair break, just as they give each other a fair break in the traditional American way, but are quick to apply the proper remedy when they detect failure, "particularly the kind of failure that implies the civic and economic welfare of the nation."

"In this case," he said, "the proper remedy is to return to sane, sound, businesslike, constitutional government that is championed by the Republican party and its candidates for office."

Candidate Tuohy's Day Is Packed with Events

William J. Tuohy, Democratic candidate for state's attorney, whose well-wishers have laid out a program of personal appearances, played in two golf tournaments and attended a dinner and a boxing show yesterday and last night. He was a guest at Committeeman Richard R. Frolich's 19th ward outing and golf event in Dan Ryan Woods, the Lithuanian golf party at Evergreen Golf club, and of Committeeman Peter Fosco and the 20th ward organization at their annual boxing show at Marigold Garden.

SOUTHERN REBEL DEMOCRATS MAP NEW DEAL FIGHT

Plan Chicago Caucus Next Monday.

Jackson, Miss., July 12 [Special].—Southern Democratic rebels are preparing to meet in Chicago on Monday in pre-convention caucus to muster their full strength and map out anti-New Deal strategy in readiness for the formal opening of the Democratic convention there next Wednesday.

Mississippi delegates said the name of Sen. Byrd of Virginia likely will be submitted at the convention as the rebels' choice for Presidential nominee. They made it clear they do not favor Sen. Barkley of Kentucky, whom they described as a "rubber-stamp New Dealer."

Leaders of the revolt predicted they will touch off a party "hell raising bomb" with their three principal demands: restoration of the two-thirds rule, a white supremacy plank, and a convention declaration against repeal of the poll tax.

Plan Fight to End.

"Unless there is a crackup somewhere down the line," the leaders said, "the Mississippi delegates to the convention and the Presidential electors will stay hitched to the last.

"If Texas, Louisiana, and two or three other states stay with us, there is a strong possibility we will have a Jeffersonian Democratic party down here in the south when the Presidential election rolls around.

"The New Deal is so powerful and so entrenched that this planning has to start now. Unless it is, there is strong likelihood that we will be faced with the same situation four years from now. The burden of overthrowing the New Dealers and their burocrats is on the shoulders of the south."

Aim at Balance of Power.

With the convention only a week away, it became clear that the two chief wheelhorses of the southern revolt are former Gov. Martin S. [Mike] Conner of Mississippi and former Gov. Sam Jones of Louisiana, both of whom are scheduled to attend the pre-convention caucus in Chicago.

Plans for this meeting of the rebels took definite shape this week in an exchange of communications between leaders of the revolt in Mississippi, Texas, Louisiana, and Virginia.

Many of the delegates indicated they have no expectation that the rebels' choices will receive convention approval. Their plan, they said, is to map a concerted program which they hope will provide them the balance of power with Presidential electors in November.

Spokesmen suggested the possibility that if the rebels do not obtain their demands at the regular convention, they may hold a subsequent convention of their own and formally nominate the candidates of their choice.

The Mississippi delegates, bound by unit rule, are uninstructed as to candidates but are instructed as to "principles." Their spokesmen declared that "positively there will be neither compromise nor trading on our part."

"We are seeking just one thing," they said. "We want and we are demanding restoration of the Jeffersonian Democratic principles."

"Please, dear, let's not touch anything in the garage! I can just barely get the car in as it is!"

South Carolina Delegates Agree to Back 4th Term

Columbia, S. C., July 12 (AP).—South Carolina's 36 delegates to the Democratic national convention went on record today as supporting President Roosevelt for a fourth term and voted to submit the name of War Mobilization Director Byrnes as a candidate for the Vice Presidency. The delegation, which controls 18 convention votes, had been directed previously by the state Democratic convention to participate in next week's Chicago convention as an uninstructed group.

ARMY'S PAPER PUTS ROOSEVELT IN THIRD PLACE

ROME, July 12 (AP).—Stars and Stripes, the army newspaper, gave third place in its makeup today to President Roosevelt's announcement that he would accept a fourth term if nominated and elected.

First play went to the Normandy campaign, second to the Russian advance beyond Wilno. The Roosevelt story was carried under a two column head, well down on page one. It was a 190 word report.

Moscow Plays Up Story.

MOSCOW, July 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt's announcement that he would accept a fourth term was featured in heavy type in final editions of Moscow newspapers today. The stories evinced no surprise.

[The Berlin radio said: "Roosevelt's acceptance of a fourth term nomination for the Presidential elections has caused no surprise in Berlin political circles. Germany is not particularly interested in the problem of Presidential elections in the United States, the more so since one is convinced here that military and political issues which are now at stake are not to be influenced by this or that President of the United States."]

No man can afford to neglect his hair—
SAYS HARRY JAMES
(Appearing at the Aragon Ballroom July 14)

"REGARDLESS as to what his profession or trade might be—a good head of hair is every man's most valuable personal appearance asset. No man can afford to let his hair become dull and scraggly looking. When he does, he handicaps himself by adding false years to his age. Since I turned my problems of hair care over to Thomas, I have had no hair worries at all. My scalp feels fine and my hair seems to be full of life," says Harry James.

Perhaps your hair, too, needs the skilled attention of a Thomas expert. Perhaps you are worried about dandruff scales, or the itch which dandruff causes? THE NAVY WE DIDN'T HAVE.

The United States in 1922, about to complete the most powerful navy in the world, signed an agreement with Great Britain and Japan for the limitation of armaments. We agreed to scrap seven of our battleships and four of our battle cruisers, and thereafter to limit our building of capital ships so as to have a navy in these categories the equal of Britain's but no greater. Japan accepted a limitation to 60 per cent of the British or American strength. Under the London treaty of 1930 the limitations were extended to auxiliary ships from 1931 on. Thus, from about the beginning of the Roosevelt administration, the navies of the three nations were to be in the ratio of 5-5-3.

Japan built her navy up to the limit permitted by the agreement, but unfortunately the United States, against the vigorous protests of our naval authorities, did not keep its strength up to the pact agreed upon. On July 1, 1935, the ratio of the fleets, according to the navy department, was: Great Britain, 5; United States, 3.73; and Japan, 3.31. Our navy had become inadequate for the national defense.

Four years later, in July, 1939, at the outbreak of the second World war, we were not materially better off. A table based upon official data and published in the Congressional Record showed that as the war was about to begin the fleets compared as follows:

	United States.	Great Britain.	Japan.
Capital ships	15	18	11
Aircraft carriers	5	9	11
Heavy cruisers	17	15	17
Light cruisers	17	47	23
Destroyers	221	178	111
Submarines	89	55	59

This shows very clearly our navy was not the equal of Britain's and in some important particulars was actually weaker than Japan's. So far as numbers of aircraft carriers were concerned Japan was more than twice as strong as we were when war started. Our cruiser strength was also inferior. Only in destroyers and submarines was our navy superior to the British, and only in these two particulars and in capital ships were we a match for Japan. No wonder the Japs could feel safe in defying us. Altho Tokyo as long ago as 1934 served notice of breaking the navy limitation, as late as 1939 our navy had not caught up.

While Mr. Roosevelt had allowed the navy to decline in position he had pursued a foreign policy calculated to antagonize a number of nations which were arming and which might gang up on us. Russia, Japan, Germany, and Italy were specifically denounced while our national defenses were lagging. In his quarantine speech in Chicago he made the denunciation general as to all aggressors.

It is a fact that three of the aggressor nations did combine against us. And it is a fact that when Pearl Harbor was assaulted America was woefully weak. That was made evident by our inability to protect the Philippines or to relieve Bataan. After the assault on Pearl Harbor the best that we were prepared to do immediately was to send a few ships from the Philippines to Java to serve under a Dutch commander. Those vessels were wiped out. The Japs could make landings on our Aleutian Islands in the vicinity of Alaska. They could even send a submarine to fire on a California town.

The tide has long since turned, thanks to the remarkable record of the industries of America and the genius of such men as Nimitz, Halsey, and Spruance. But this does not excuse Roosevelt for having placed the safety of our country in jeopardy. At a time when he was playing an aggressive game in world politics he allowed the navy to deteriorate.

He did starve the navy in the first seven years of his administration. He had criticized the previous administrations for spending too much. His expenditures thru 1939 over and above what was being spent when he took office amounted to 21½ billion dollars. This would have paid for a two ocean navy. The cost of naval ships built from July 1, 1940, to the end of last year was 9½ billion dollars. He chose to use the money for boondoggling. The country paid for a navy large enough to cause any nation or combination of nations to pause before attacking us, but we didn't get it because the President preferred to waste the money.

Mr. Roosevelt's naval record is a sorry one. America was saved in spite of Roosevelt, thanks to the amazing shipbuilding job that was done after we were attacked. Mr. Roosevelt placed the country's safety in jeopardy. He tried to bluff at a time when Japan, a second rate power, was able to call our bluff. The country has been saved, no thanks to this reckless man.

A BILL TO EXTINGUISH LITTLE BUSINESS.

Small business men in the middle west want none of the aid that Sen. Murray, the Montana New Dealer, proposes the federal government extend them, and for very good reasons.

Sen. Murray has introduced a bill in congress, the stated purpose of which is to "stimulate and encourage small business." One of its provisions is for a new governmental agency with a billion dollars to lend to small business. Another is for a system of "field consultants" in each of the nation's 3,700 counties, paralleling the present system of county farm advisers.

The objections to the bill are succinctly stated by State Rep. Fred A. Virkus of La Grange, president of the Conference of American Small Business Organizations. Small business men, he says, don't want another tax spending government bureau, even if it is for their own purported benefit, and they object to the government stepping into a field of finance that can be handled satisfactorily by private banks.

Little businesses have a high mortality rate and they will always have one as long as a free economic system permits any citizen to risk his own and his relatives' and friends' savings in a bet that he has the qualities to make the enterprise a success. If he has those qualities he wins independence for himself and profits for his backers. If he hasn't, he goes broke and goes back to work for some one else, often to earn the stake for another try. All Sen. Murray is proposing is that the successful man shoulder not only his own hazards but those of the failures as well thru his tax bill.

The bill would be a great thing for the New Deal. With a loan on every business and a "field consultant" to crack the whip in every county the administration would be done with the hundreds of thousands of little independents who have been its most stubborn critics. By the same token the bill would also mean the end of little business men. They would have the choice of taking a government loan or of paying off the loans of the incompetents whom the government set up in competition with them.

No one has been more harassed than the little business man by the multitude of regulations that have come out of Washington in the last decade, particularly since the war gave the burocrats an excuse to interfere in every transaction of every business. The little business man wants the government to get off his toes. Sen. Murray, in answer to that complaint, proposes to put it on his back.

MR. WALLACE COMES HOME, TO WHAT?

The hostility to Vice President Henry Wallace in what soon will be the fourth term convocation here in Chicago seems not only rude but illogical and inconsistent. Mr. Roosevelt is said to want Mr. Wallace as his running mate again. However, it is said that Mr. Roosevelt does not want to tell the convention what to do. This self-restraint on the part of the one-man boss of the one-man show is in itself remarkable. The fourth term candidate displays his aloofness from all the proceedings.

Mr. Wallace has just returned from what he calls soviet Asia and China, where he visited ancient cities and saw modern wonders. He was sent as Mr. Roosevelt's personal and special envoy to strengthen the bonds with communist Russia and to give China, entering its eighth year of the war, such encouragement as he could. Mr. Wallace, arriving in Seattle, says that he returns a better American than he ever was and convinced that the American way of life is for Americans the best of all possible ways. In these sentiments he follows the recently adopted manner of his chief, who also would now have it understood that he is an American of Americans, with no other attachments which could modify his devotion to the interests of his own people.

The Vice President, whom Mr. Roosevelt did shove thru the roll call of a sullen Democratic convention four years ago, is the ne plus ultra of New Dealers. The convocation of fourth termers will praise the New Deal and all its words and works, for every one of which Mr. Wallace stands uncompromisingly. He has been its second voice. The rudeness with which the fourth termers greet his modest ambitions to have a second term is almost incomprehensible. If they are for the New Deal, why are they against Mr. Wallace? He has been its servant and its orator. Are they really disgruntled with the New Deal? Do they sing to it only for their suppers? Probably so.

There is only one consistent argument they can make against Mr. Wallace, and that they have not made. They could say that with him on the ticket it is not properly balanced. It does not recognize the great contingent of the machine politicians, the Hague-ites who have carried the banner in the sweat and dirt of city politics. These strong, silent men who figure percentages and live on politics might want a place on the ticket. They have some recognition in the chairmanship of the national committee. Young Mr. Hannegan is a product of the back room which is so intimately connected with the social gains. The boys may crave more. They may want a place on the fourth term ticket. If they do, Mr. Wallace could be persuaded to make a gracious sacrifice of his personal ambitions, recognizing the real value the practical men have been to the upward movement.

Except for this purpose the rejection of Mr. Wallace will seem like welching and infamously bad faith.

DIESELS ON THE RAILS.

[New York Times.]

One of the important factors in the extraordinary war time performance of American railroads has been their growing employment of Diesel power. In fact, there are experienced railroad men who believe that the war job could not have been done on some of the more difficult mountain divisions of railroads like the Santa Fe and the Great Northern had it not been for the mighty Diesel locomotives, which make so light of grades, banish to such a degree the impediment of water stops and represent such greatly simplified problems of maintenance. Each year since 1937 orders for locomotives of the Diesel type have exceeded in impressive fashion those for steam engines.

The public probably thinks of the Diesel locomotive chiefly as the motive power of the lightweight streamlined trains which provide long haul luxury services in the south, midwest, and on the Pacific coast. But it is not only, or perhaps even chiefly, in the passenger flyers that the Diesel is working a revolution in American railroading. The freight locomotive of this type has proved itself beyond question in the war job, and a bright future seems to be in store for the Diesel switching engine, which can perform on one tank of fuel work that would need 12 cars of coal for steam. Savings in basic natural resources, altho not quite so high as in the switch engine, also reach major proportions in the Diesel freight and passenger locomotives.

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. How many feet are included in the unit of measure called a rod?
   7½ 16½ 26½ 39¼.
2. The first President to be shown in moving pictures was Lincoln Cleveland McKinley Taft.
3. Which one of these is most scarce in Iceland?
   Trees Foxes Hay Fish.
4. Only one of these is an alkali, so try to name it.
   Vinegar Aspirin Lye Lemon Juice.
5. An udder should make one think of which descriptive adjective?
   Marine Bovine Saccharin Margarine.
6. Try to identify the following fighter planes, both axis and allied.

—Japanese Zero —German Messerschmitt 109 —British Spitfire —Grumman Hellcat [U. S. navy] —Lockheed Lightning [U. S. army].

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

COUNTRY CORRESPONDENTS.

All over the nation in newspaper offices the merry lads are haw-hawing and ho-hoing over the country newspaper correspondent who wired his editor that he was mailing a story because telegraph service was lacking. It's a verification of the newspaper legend about a reporter at a train wreck who wired: "All is confusion. Can send nothing." But it reminds us of a story on an editor.

• • •

Forty-odd years ago your deponent was a kind of country correspondent, and new to the job, at what President Hutchins has referred to as a raw university. We ran errands for an afternoon newspaper, and had been instructed that if unable to telephone any ordered story, we should telegraph it.

• • •

Came a great storm, and the telephone wires were down. We struggled thru snowdrifts up to our waist to the nearest telegraph office—a bitter, exhausting mile—grimly carrying our message to Garcia.

The next day, on phoning for instructions, we were blasted fiercely by an editor with a voice of Simon Legree. "What do you mean," he roared, "by using the Postal Telegraph? Don't you know we have a feud with that outfit?"

• • •

We have often wished that we had sent that preposterous cuss a prepaid message, thus: "Have story and it's hot, but know by clairvoyance that you don't use Postal service."

• • •

Shortly afterward we stopped working for that paper, of our own accord. We figured that it ought to have a chance to find a better mind-reader.

AS A TREE DIES.

The way trees die . . . so quietly
No nesting bird, no questing bee
That tastes the last poor blossom knows
Just when the life stream backward flows,
And ceases imperceptibly—
It is so still a death. The tree
Yet stands. Who notes with certainty
The single, final change that shows
The way trees die?

Were such a dying offered me,
A slow diminishing, a free,
Unhurried exit from the throes
Of living into good repose—
Were I to choose, my choice would be
The way trees die.

Choppy Tastes Remorse.

When I came home one night, I spied a small hole in the davenport, and Choppy, looking very innocent.

So I thought: "Well, the chair was bad enough. Something must be done. Choppy is always working psychology on me, now I shall work some on him." I pointed to the hole and said sternly: "Who did that? Did you do it, Choppy?" Immediately, Choppy psychology—anything to divert my attention. He sat up pretty. He got a dog biscuit and started rolling it on the rug. He put his head to the floor and his tail away up in the air, which is an invitation to games, but I was not to be dissuaded this time.

I said: "Nope, Choppy, it's no good. You have been naughty. Go to the kitchen." Why it is that Choppy regards "go to the kitchen" as the worst possible punishment, I do not know, but he acts as if he had been exiled to Siberia. He sat by the back door in the kitchen, ears down, completely forlorn, very much hurt, and he would have nothing to do with me all evening.

The next morning before going to work I pointed to the hole in the davenport and said: "And no more of this, mind you, understand." Choppy understood that this time I meant business, and wanted to shake hands with me, but I refused. He looked no end miffed, but I worried about the davenport during the day none the less.

When I came home that night, Choppy was sitting in the window, but when I opened the front door, he was out of sight, altho the davenport had not been harmed. This business of being out of sight was more dog psychology. He was afraid of being scolded and sent to the kitchen, so he went there himself.

I stood and waited, but Choppy did not come out. Then I called "Wh-e-e-e-e-re's Choppy?" and there was a sound of scrambling feet, which propelled right up in front of me a little furry body, and who do you think it was?

Yup, Choppy, and all was sweetness and light once more. Roy Engel.

These simple ditties, oft bizarre,
Reveal the zoo folk as they are:
They have their faults, we must admit,
And some no jury could acquit;
Perverse, eccentric, stubborn, vain;
To list them all were inhumane,
But ere you weep or ere you laugh,
Let me plead this in their behalf—
Judge kindly bird and beast and bug
And don't dismiss them with a shrug,
For, O, my friend, it's richly true
Each moral's pertinent to you!

POSSIBLE SPREADERS OF POLIO.

THE chances are that infantile paralysis exists in our midst the year round. There is something about the warmer months [summer and autumn], however, which scatters the virus far and wide. This explains why we think of insects as conveyers. The ordinary house fly can transport on its wings and legs the filth of the district.

Considerable color is lent this mode of transmission by the fact that in some outbreaks, the majority of cases have developed within a block or two of numerous outside wells and toilets. The same holds true in certain rural areas where the malady may be severe.

Flies can range over several squares and, because of their fondness for human and animal offal, the material can be toted to many a kitchen. It is not the manure that causes the disease but the virus which accompanies it. It has been proved that the sewage of any large city, where a number of patients are ill, will disclose the causative germs.

What is the role of fowls? In one epidemic cited by Walters, 89 per cent of the patients either kept chickens on the premises or resided within 100 yards of these birds. We know that poultry can carry horse encephalitis, altho they themselves may show no signs of sickness. This latter ailment, which is a close relative of polio, has been transmitted by mosquitoes.

We have every reason to believe that only serious bouts are detected routinely. There is no question about the diagnosis with those who exhibit typical symptoms, followed by paralysis. There must be a hundred times as many mild seizures, wherein the victims are scarcely ill. A slight indisposition for a few hours or a day will be all that will be complained of. Nevertheless, such a child may be able to transmit a virulent malady via soiled fingers which have been polluted by the stools.

If a case occurs in the neighborhood, strict isolation must be the rule. Furthermore, we can redouble our efforts to cleanse the home of all sorts of vermin and to maintain the premises in a sanitary condition. No single advance would be more conducive to public welfare than the proper construction of outdoor privies which would make it impossible for insects to become carriers.

The thing we are hunting for is a reservoir; a depot which keeps the polio organism alive and renders it available for spread. Thus we think of undrained swimming pools, especially if the water is contaminated with sewage. The least we can do is to make certain that the water is changed periodically and that microscopic plants and animals are not allowed to flourish. Copper sulfate will destroy green slime while chlorination will decrease the bacterial count.

During the next few months parents can set the example for their children by observing scrupulously ordinary hygienic precautions. Hands and faces may be bathed frequently; nasal discharges collected on paper tissue and destroyed; while the teeth and mouth may be cleansed after every meal.

Fatigue seems to invite the disorder. Too much exposure to the hot sun and overindulgence in play or work should not be countenanced. A rest period [siesta] of a half hour after the noon meal is a useful safeguard.

Political Trivia.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALBANY, N. Y.—The gentlemen of the press here giving Mr. Dewey his daily grueling have done a great deal of figuring and analysis relative to the prospects of the governor of New York becoming President of the United States. All are armed with statistics showing that four governors of New York have become President, one being the incumbent of the last decade.

It is not that we wish to disagree with these fine fellows, but having nothing else to do today but view the wonders of New York's 27 million dollar state capitol, an edifice that is a stone marker's wonder and a guide to all the stone cutting artifice of all time, we turned to the same source book as they, a fat, red legislative guidebook which kindly gives the political careers of all New York governors.

From it we learned that the prospect of a governor of New York attaining the Presidency is even money. Eight have tried to be; four have succeeded. The four winning gentlemen were Martin Van Buren, Grover Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt, and his cousin, Franklin. The four unlucky ones were Horatio Seymour, whom Grant defeated in 1868; Samuel J. Tilden, whom Hayes defeated in 1876; Charles E. Hughes, who lost to Wilson in 1916, and, of course, Al Smith.

Nor has any one else seen fit to go into the heritage of facial adornment that comes with the high office of governor here. A scientific study of this may best be made in the baronial sweep of the governor's outer office. This august and beautiful hall is hung with oil portraits of all the governors who preceded Mr. Dewey, in the aggregate a handsome lot. [But don't expect us to explain how a picture of George Washington got into the crew.] It may be reliably reported, and all barber shop magazines may copy, that six of the governors wore mustaches, three of the droop or small walrus school. Into the latter category went Theodore Roosevelt and Grover Cleveland. One old boy wore an elegant set of sideburns. Three wore Fuller brushes for side whiskers. One extended the brush beneath his chin. Two wore full beards, and well brushed manes they were, too. Two, we report with wonder, had what seemed to be long hair. The others were normal, with the exception that none was bald. Viewed against this historical background, Mr. Dewey's controversial mustache seems a neat, discreet touch and one that, in the light of his predecessors, he cannot afford to shave off.

It seems improbable that any state capitol in the country contains the square footage of stone floor space that New York's does. The place is tremendous, with vaulted stone overhead, flat stone underfoot, and mazes of impressive stone staircases, so many that the guides differentiate between them by calling one the "grand" staircase. Its grandeur presumably comes from the carving of its sandstone, for it is ornamented with everything from the Greek key and the Acanthus leaf to the Maltese cross, the cross of Lorraine, and the stone faces of stony men long gone and certainly unknown to the guides and visitors.

We ran into one of these guides, a lovely man who has worked here for 27 years under five governors, each of whom he thought fine. He said he couldn't tell any one anything about the building, and then he talked for 35 minutes, prefacing each remark with, "I could also tell you that . . ."

"I could also tell you," he said, "that the grand staircase, that's brown sandstone and hard as granite, is the biggest staircase I ever seen, and they say, 'Well, it took long enough to build it,'—they started it, miss, in 1871 but with no steamshovels, just hands and picks. Well, what I could tell you about that staircase is this: that all the carving on it was done by hand by two brothers named Monahan."

Well, it's a wonderful building, and the Monahan boys carved up every bit of stone they could lay their hands on, and it all cost 27 million dollars, which was an eyebrow-raising sum 50 years ago. One might assume that its fundamental purpose was shelter, but, if so, its builders failed. The roof leaks.

WAS MR. THOMPSON TALKING ABOUT HER?

Zion, Ill., July 8.—Surely C. V. R. Thompson was not sent to cover the Republican convention for Beaverbrook's London Daily Express in the interests of international solidarity!

I live 40 miles from Chicago. The people I know work too hard, worry much in secret, and boast little about either. My brother, Lt. Charles D. Nelson, died at Dingle Quarry, England, June 4. We don't know the circumstances nor where that is. A widow and unborn child survive. [He flew a P-51.]

I am proud to be a Republican, not ashamed of my own war effort, and prouder yet to back up as fine a boy as Charles. Mr. Thompson, here's my war record to date:

Sector chairman, four war bond drives.

Aided rationing registration.

Organized Red Cross surgical dressings unit functioning 27 hours a week. 40,000 dressings made.

Three times donor to Red Cross blood bank.

Worker in War Chest drive three times.

Made survey of woman's division, OCD, and worked on scrap drives.

Completed four first aid courses and one in home nursing.

Member OCD medical corps.

Worker at U. S. O.s.

Served in war stamp booths, enlisted blood donors and Red Cross workers at clubs, etc.

Did Red Cross sewing, knitting.

Spent midnight hours writing publicity for local patriotic endeavors.

Canned 600 jars of food a year.

I'm only doing my duty—so little compared to theirs.

Since my husband has been ill I have helped support my family of five children as a newspaper correspondent for 22 years. Now a grandmother, I work six days a week in a war plant, do my own housework and decorating, but still continue as supervisor of surgical dressings classes in the evenings. My conscience would let me do no less, Mr. Thompson.

Your story makes me mad!

THE G. O. P.'S DUTY.

Boston, Mass., July 1.—I followed with keen interest the account of the recent Republican convention in THE TRIBUNE and believe that the G. O. P. has come forth with a ticket to which every freedom-loving American can subscribe. It is my earnest hope that our nominees will not be hesitant in presenting to the American people the real issues and facts of this campaign.

For years we have paid in treasure, in poverty, and in unemployment for the bungling of the Democratic administration in its handling of our country's internal affairs, and now we are paying in the blood of our sons for their bungling of our foreign affairs.

It is high time that we elected a President who can bring order out of the chaos that the Democratic party has brought to this nation.

BLOOD BANK SUGGESTION.

Chicago, July 7.—I have been a blood donor consistently to the Red Cross and will continue to do so until the present emergency no longer exists. However, I believe that some plan could be worked out using the present Red Cross setup whereby persons may continue to donate blood into a general blood bank and the individuals receive credit subject to withdrawal, similar to making a bank deposit now in use for savings.

I have had numerous calls from friends requesting blood donations because some loved one was in need of a transfusion, but it always seemed that these calls came at a time when I had just made a blood donation to the Red Cross and was not able to comply with their requests.

Were it possible to make a regular deposit of blood, subject to withdrawal in case of need by the depositor, I am sure that many thousands of people would feel more willing to donate their blood now against the time when some personal emergency arose.

THE WANDERING BANKS OF THE WABASH.

Lowell, Ind., July 5.—Mr. H. J. Kent takes Mr. Willkie to task in a letter in last Sunday's TRIBUNE which is captioned, "Willkie's Twisted History."

Well, no doubt Mr. Willkie has twisted history, but certainly no more than Mr. Kent has tangled Hoosier geography when he says, "Years ago the writer tried the fishing on the Wabash at Rushville, Ind." For Mr. Kent's information the Wabash river does not flow thru Rushville, nor within 80 miles of that city. That is, unless the WPA, PWA, or some bureau has succeeded in changing the course of the river, and I haven't heard that has been done.

MADE HER MAD.

Forest Park, Ill., July 7.—Last night I witnessed the premiere of the movie, "Marine Raiders," that was being shown for the purpose of the fifth war loan drive, and I thought it was the most morale breaking picture I have ever seen. It is about an American marine who goes to Australia and falls for the fast line of the Australian girls and marries one of them. It surely doesn't help the morale of us girls who have our marines fighting "down under." It makes us feel as if all our waiting is just in vain. Yes, there are still some of us girls actually staying home and being true to our men. When I left the theater, I vowed that that was one marine picture I would not see over again.

DEMOCRATS PICK FRY IN MICHIGAN GOVERNOR RACE

Kelly Named by G. O. P. Without Opposition.

Detroit, Mich., July 12 (AP).—Michigan Democrats in Tuesday's primary selected Edward J. Fry of Fremont, former state racing commissioner, to oppose Republican Gov. Harry F. Kelly, who is seeking reelection in the November contest. Kelly was unopposed for the Republican renomination.

With more than two-thirds of the Democratic vote counted, William J. Cody, Fry's nearest rival, conceded defeat at noon today.

Named by Republican voters for Kelly's running mate for lieutenant governor was Vernon J. Brown of Mason, auditor general, who defeated Dr. Eugene C. Keyes, the incumbent.

Burrell Wins by 288 Votes.

Boston, Mass., July 12 (AP).—A complete unofficial tabulation of the 1,805 precincts in the state late today showed Fred J. Burrell winner by 288 votes over Laurence Curtis for the Republican nomination for state treasurer. The totals were: Burrell, 92,176; Curtis, 91,888.

Boston's Mayor Maurice J. Tobin won the Democratic nomination for governor by more than 54,000 votes.

Tobin will oppose Lt. Gov. Horace T. Cahill, who had the Republican nomination for governor without opposition.

Gov. Leverett Saltonstall obtained the Republican nomination for United States senator without opposition.

Gov. Blood Defeated.

Manchester, N. H., July 12 (AP).—The ambition of Gov. Robert O. Blood to be the first man to hold gubernatorial honors in New Hampshire for three consecutive terms was rejected by the electorate in yesterday's primary. Complete unofficial returns showed today that he had lost to Portsmouth's Mayor Charles M. Dale by a margin of 28,888 to 20,060.

Dale's opponent in the November election will be Col. James Powers, who was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

United States Sen. Charles W. Tobey, seeking renomination on the Republican ticket, bested United States Rep. Foster Stearns.

Joseph Betley, Manchester attorney and unopposed Democratic candidate, will run against Tobey.

Bennion to Oppose Thomas.

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 12 (AP). Utah Republicans nominated Adam S. Bennion, a former power company executive, for United States senator in yesterday's primary and J. Bracken Lee, mayor of Price, to oppose Gov. Herbert B. Maw, a Democrat seeking a second term.

Bennion's opponent in November will be Sen. Elbert D. Thomas, a Democrat seeking a third term. Thomas was unopposed in the primary.

Langlie Has Big Lead.

Seattle, Wash., July 12 (AP).—Republican Gov. Arthur B. Langlie piled up an overwhelming lead for renomination in yesterday's Washington primary election, holding almost a 4 to 1 margin over Maj. Louis Wasmer, Spokane radio station owner.

Lt. Gov. Victor A. Meyers, a Democrat and a former Seattle band leader, also was assured renomination by a wide margin.

In the contest for the United States senatorship, Rep. Warren G. Magnuson of Seattle ran up an overwhelming lead for the Democratic nomination.

Maj. Harry Cain, Tacoma's mayor on leave with the army in Italy, took a substantial lead for the Republican nomination for senator in an 11 man race.

Thomas Beats Disney.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 12 [Special].—United States Sen. Elmer Thomas, who is seeking a fourth term, won the Democratic nomination in yesterday's Oklahoma primary, defeating Congressman Wesley Disney, New Deal critic.

Thomas will face Republican William J. Otjen, Enid attorney and former legislator, in the fall election.

Fraud Charges

Steven D. Spanos and Miss Cecilia Balleson. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Steven D. Spanos, 33, of 608 N. Clark st., was held to the federal grand jury under $500 bond yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on a charge of impersonating a naval inspector.

Miss Cecelia Balleson, 16, of Lombard, told the commissioner under questioning by Assistant United States Atty. Francis J. McGreal that Spanos had posed as a naval inspector attached to the United States engineer's office, and had hired her as his secretary.

Her job, she said, was to stay home and answer telephone calls, and take dictation in the evenings. The first week she received $22 in cash, but the second week she was unpaid, she said.

Spanos was arrested by federal bureau of investigation agents after he had given a Madison st. dress shop an alleged worthless check in payment for dresses he bought for Miss Balleson and her sister.

2 YANK AIRMEN LOST ON MERCY HOP IN CANADA

WINNIPEG, Man., July 12 (AP).—A United States airman was killed and another officer is missing following the crash of a mercy flight plane in Hudson bay, 1,000 miles north of Winnipeg. 2d Lt. Robert Hyde of Sherman, Tex., pilot, was killed and Lt. Oliver Austin of Trenton, N. J., a member of the United States medical corps, is missing.

The plane was carrying medical supplies to epidemic-stricken Eskimos and Indians at Eskimo Point, 160 miles north of the northern port of Churchill.

The plane crashed into a submerged reef after taking off from Churchill on July 5. The wreckage was found July 9.

HIGH, WIDE AND URBAN and looking ahead to fall $10

Always a fall first—and sure to be for many seasons ahead—the turban. This year it goes upward and outward and when you've tucked all your hair under it you find the new height and width more smart, urbane and flattering than you dreamed. This one in black, brown and navy; colors you'll wear now and in October.

RELIGIOUS ANGLE IS INJECTED INTO RADIO GAG FIGHT

Straus Station Accused of Unfair Practice.

New York, July 12 [Special].—Altho Nathan Straus' radio station WMCA censored Republican State Sen. Frederic R. Coudert's speech last Friday to remove criticisms of the New Deal and communism, the same station, it was charged today, has allowed anti-Catholic commentators on the air and given no one an opportunity to answer their attacks on the church.

The charge was made by Edward T. McCaffrey, national commander of the Catholic War Veterans, in a telegram to the federal communications commission urging an investigation of the Coudert censorship episode.

McCaffrey said in his wire he was basing his charge of discrimination against the church on an accusation made Saturday at the Catholic War Veterans' convention by the Rev. Matthew J. Toohey of Newark, past national chaplain of the organization.

Straus' Answer.

Straus, a former New Deal housing administrator, who bought WMCA last September for a reputed $1,250,000 from Edward J. Noble, former undersecretary of commerce to Harry Hopkins, stated when informed of McCaffrey's telegram that he is "willing to abide by the views of the archdiocese in New York as to WMCA's attitude toward Catholic charities and Catholic causes."

Noble disposed of WMCA when he bought control of the Blue network. He originally acquired the station in 1941 for $850,000 from Donald Flamm, who subsequently testified before a house committee that he had been forced to sell the station in a deal that was "greased from the White House down."

McCaffrey told the FCC that the station's action in deleting portions of Coudert's speech was "deplorable" and inconsistent with the policy of the station "which permits commentators to utter anti-Catholic talks." He urged the commission to "investigate properly these conditions which are made possible by your license and which you, as public servants, are bound to answer to the public."

Suggests House Cleaning.

Father Toohey's charge was made in comment on an attempt by Straus to defend the censorship on the grounds Coudert's speech contained material "calculated to stir up disunity at home."

"It might be well," Father Toohey said, "for WMCA to clean house of the anti-Catholic commentators whose radio talks have been the subject of attacks in our Catholic newspapers—whose anti-Catholic remarks have been challenged time and again—and no one, to my knowledge, was given the opportunity to speak over this station to answer the criticism or attacks made on the church, which in justice should have been done."

Coudert's speech was delivered before the New York county convention of the American Legion.

FLY UPHOLDS RADIO BAN ON POLITICAL SONG

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP).—Chairman James L. Fly of the federal communications commission has informed owners of the copyright of the song, "Don't Change Horses in the Middle of the Stream," that the commission can take no action regarding the barring of the song by radio networks.

The firm of Drake, Hoffman & Livingston, New York, had protested because their musical composition had been barred on the grounds it possessed political significance.

In a letter made public today, Fly said the commission could take no action because its power is limited to determining whether a station has been operating in the public interest.

POLITICS ISSUE AT CONVENTION OF NEGRO BODY

Judge Urges Defeat of 2 Senators.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People opened its war time conference last night with speakers leaning heavily toward national politics despite previous assurances that the convention would avoid political discussions. The meeting, attended by more than 700 delegates from 33 states, is being held in the Metropolitan church, 41st st. and South Park way.

In the conference keynote address, Judge Hubert T. Delaney, Negro judge of the New York City Domestic Relations court, urged the defeat of Sen. Bilbo [D., Miss.], Sen. Smith [D., S. C.], and Rep. Rankin [D., Miss.]. These men, he declared, "would rather lose the war and deal with Hitler than give the Negro equal opportunities."

Judge Delaney also criticized white churches as being discriminatory against Negroes.

Refers to Election.

James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the Congress of Industrial organizations, spoke on the stake of organized labor and the Negro in the November elections. Asserting that the American Negro "has made important strides in the last decade," he asked the delegates how many wished to risk loss of these gains by failure to vote for those who have favored such advances.

Carey did not mention President Roosevelt in his speech, but presented a social legislation program which he said had been launched under the New Deal. He remarked that he had been reminded of the nonpartisan character of the N. A. A. C. P., but added: "The CIO believes it knows which levers to pull down on the voting machine."

Resolutions Up Today.

Members of the Chicago chapter of the N. A. A. C. P. charged Carey with attempting to make politics the main issue of the convention. They also accused Walter White, executive secretary of the organization, with plans to sell out the N. A. A. C. P. to the New Deal, the CIO, and the communists.

Resolutions previously adopted by two Baptist ministers' groups opposing the trend of the N. A. A. C. P. toward political activity are scheduled to be presented before the convention today.

REPORT 400 CASES OF PARALYSIS IN SOUTH; 17 ARE FATAL

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Two southern states, North Carolina and Kentucky, last night reported more than 400 cases of infantile paralysis and medical authorities of all southern states were tightening regulations to keep the outbreak to a minimum.

Every southeastern state has sent volunteer Red Cross nurses into North Carolina, where the disease has reached highest proportions in the Piedmont and upper Piedmont sections. A total of 117 nurses, an all-time high for numbers assigned to any disaster from the southeast, have gone on duty manning emergency hospital centers at Charlotte and Hickory.

A total of 270 cases are reported in North Carolina in addition to at least 13 deaths. Kentucky reported eight more cases today to send its total to 129. Four deaths have resulted. The count in other states was: Mississippi, 23; Georgia, 9; Virginia, 26; South Carolina, 16; Louisiana, 68; Alabama, 9; Florida, 13.

CHICAGO RATE NORMAL.

The fact that four cases of infantile paralysis have been reported in Chicago since July 1 is no cause for alarm and does not indicate that an epidemic of the disease has started, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health, said yesterday. Eight cases were reported in the city between Jan. 1 and July 1, Dr. Bundesen said. He added that the increase in July is normal. The cases have been scattered thruout the city.

Janitor Is Electrocuted at Work Inside Boiler

Dominick Stone, 67, janitor of a building at 6642 Maryland av., was electrocuted yesterday as he worked inside a steam boiler he was cleaning. Police blamed a faulty light cord which he carried with him. An inhalator squad tried for 40 minutes to revive him.

IRWIN KADENS, ROBBER-RAPIST, DECLARED SANE

Irwin Kadens, 34, former post-office clerk who turned army deserter, robber, and rapist two years ago and was taken to the Menard prison for the criminal insane, is back in the Cook county jail because he was found sane in Randolph county court on July 6, it was learned yesterday.

Kadens will appear before Chief Justice Benjamin P. Epstein in Criminal court on July 20 when reinstatement of the charges against him will be sought. First Assistant State's Atty. Wilbert Crowley said he will ask that the alienists who found Kadens insane in 1942 reexamine him. The alienists reported Kadens was suffering from an incurable mental aliment at that time.

When he was arrested in October, 1942, Kadens boasted of 75 robberies which he said he committed after he was granted an army furlough in the preceding July. Among his crimes was the burglary of a Detroit, Mich., home on Aug. 16, 1942, where he got a policeman's uniform and pistol. On the next day he kidnaped a Detroit married man and his woman companion in their car. He robbed the couple, drove them to Chicago, and raped the woman twice en route. Kadens is married. His wife, Jeannette, and two little daughters lived, in 1942, at 3301 Polk st.

ELWOOD BLAST INJURIES FATAL TO THIRD VICTIM

Archie W. James, 29, of 517 W. Mertens st., Kankakee, died yesterday of injuries he received Tuesday in a fire and explosion in which two other men were killed at the Elwood ordnance bomb and shell loading plant south of Joliet, in Will county.

Army officers were taking statements yesterday from uninjured employes who were in the building in an attempt to learn the cause of the accident. It occurred in a three story building in which TNT is melted and poured into projectiles, in loading line 3.

The men killed and injured were members of the plant fire department. Wylie G. Bell of 4137 Ellis av., Chicago, and Frank J. Rutkowsky of 14 E. 234th st., Steger, remained in the plant hospital with puncture wounds caused by flying fragments. Their injuries were said to be not severe.

Lake Forest Post-Debs Busy at War Work This Summer

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE are few idle moments in the lives of the post-debs in Lake Forest this summer, for practically every young woman in the village is doing her share in war work. The Roger Bronsons' daughter, Barbara, who was graduated from Sarah Lawrence last month, spends her days at the Great Lakes Naval hospital teaching handicraft and useful arts to wounded men back from the fighting front.

Miss Mary Mabbatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mabbatt, has a position with the civil service as a secretary in the insurance office at Great Lakes. The Keith Carpenters' eldest daughter, Ann, had been working in the same office until last week, when she resigned to go to Camp Kechuwa in Michigamme, Mich., as a counsellor. Miss Diana Prosser also is a counsellor at the same camp.

Before beginning work at Great Lakes this week, Miss Virginie Washburne took a short vacation, following her graduation from business school a few weeks ago, to be with her brother, Pvt. Hempstead Washburne III., who was home on leave a short time ago enroute to his new post at the marine corps base at Parris Island, S. C. Pvt. Washburne formerly was stationed with the marine V-12 unit at Princeton.

Besides her work as president of JANGO [Junior Army-Navy Guild organization] in the village, Miss Flossie Curtis finds time to do work at the Lake Forest OCD office two days a week. Assisting Miss Curtis in the JANGOs are Miss Joan Monroe, secretary of the group, and Miss Lucille McGowen, treasurer. The girls spend their time helping the nurses' aids in the diet kitchen and other duties at the Lake Forest hospital. Head of the JANGOs in the diet kitchen is Miss Joan Clement, the Franklin Clements' daughter.

When Miss Helen Priebe is not helping the Junior league with its work at Hull House, she is assisting Mrs. Howard Linn and her OCD housing committee find and decorate living quarters in Lake Forest for naval officers and enlisted men stationed at the Great Lakes.

Here and There.

While her husband, Chief Petty Officer Raymond Morley, was being transferred from Washington, D. C., to Hollywood, Fla., Mrs. Morley, the former Joy Salisbury, returned to Lake Forest for a three weeks' visit with her mother, Mrs. Kimball Salisbury. Young Mrs. Morley left for Hollywood just a day or two before her father, Lt. Comdr. Salisbury, arrived in Lake Forest on leave. He is stationed in St. Augustine, Fla., with the navy.

When Lt. Joseph Thomas Martin was ordered overseas, his bride of a few hours, the former Joan Hixon, returned to Lake Forest to be with her parents, the Robert Hixons. Mrs. Martin will go to Llewellyn Park, West Orange, N. J., to be matron of honor at the wedding July 22 of a former Farmington school classmate, Miss Isabell Prizer.

Their first child, a son, who will be called Edwin Roswell Benson III., was born to the former Betty Baker and Lt. Benson July 3 in St. Francis hospital in Evanston. Since he is training at Fort Sill, Okla., Lt. Benson has not yet seen his young son. The baby is the grandson of the senior Bensons of Syracuse, N. Y., and Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Claude M. Baker of Winnetka.

Wedding News.

Dr. and Mrs. Wallace D. Mackenzie and their children, Madeleine and Ross, are in Rye, N. Y., for the marriage today of Mrs. Mackenzie's sister, Miss Ruth Gillies, and Corp. James Christie Stagg Jr. of the army, which will take place in the Episcopal church in Rye. The bride is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Perry Gillies of Rye, formerly of Winnetka. Corp. Stagg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stagg of Leonia, N. J., and Quogue, N. Y. The Mackenzie family will remain in the east for 10 days.

Miss Ann Elizabeth Glasner became the bride of Lt. William Ross MacKinnon Jr. in a ceremony at 8 p. m. yesterday in the chapel at Lake Forest college, where the young people met while attending school. The bride was attended by her sister, Elaine, as maid of honor, and another sister, Cora, and Miss Judy Hilmer of Detroit as bridesmaids. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William L. Koehne and of R. W. Glasner.

Following a reception at the Deerpath Inn, Lt. MacKinnon, son of Col. and Mrs. MacKinnon of Fort Sheridan, and his bride left for a week's wedding trip before going to Camp Philips, Salina, Kas., where he is stationed with the army engineering corps.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stephen Hickey of Maywood announce the marriage June 28 of their daughter, Roseann, to Sgt. John Joseph Schowalter of the army, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Schowalter of Addison st. The ceremony took place in St. James' church, Maywood, with a breakfast following at the Carleton hotel in Oak Park. Sgt. Schowalter and his bride are at home at March field, Cal., where he is stationed.

Mrs. Frank W. Davidson of Coles av. announces the marriage, June 30, of her daughter, Miss Eleanor Fetters, to Pvt. William S. Lackey of the army, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lackey of Cambridge, Mass. The ceremony took place in Thorndike Hilton Memorial chapel. The bride attended the School of the Art Institute and the University of Chicago. Pvt. Lackey attended Bowdoin college and the University of New Hampshire, and was graduated from the law school of Northwestern university in Boston. He and his bride are at home at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stern of Ellis av. announce the marriage Tuesday in New York of their daughter, Elizabeth Dorley Stern, to Staff Sgt. Peter J. Spiegel of the army, son of Dr. and Mrs. Otto Spiegel of Bogota, Colombia. Following a short honeymoon Sgt. Spiegel formerly of Chicago, and his bride will be at home in Fayetteville, N. C., near his post at Fort Bragg. The bride is a graduate of the Faulkner school, Vassar college, and the University of Chicago.

Museum Lists 2 Tours.

A special guild lecture tour on "Plants Useful to Man" will be presented at 11 a. m. tomorrow by Miss Miriam Wood at the Natural History museum. A general tour will be conducted at 2 p. m. by Bert E. Grove.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

Several young women whose mothers are Red Cross nurses' aids were capped as aids at 3:30 p. m. yesterday in ceremonies in room 402 of chapter headquarters, 529 S. Wabash av. Mrs. Arthur H. Spiegel, chairman of the volunteer nurses' aid corps, did the capping. The 29 new aids trained at County hospital.

Kyle Adams, whose mother, Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams, is an aid; Nancy Lee Cochran, daughter of Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy, also an aid, and Alice Keith Carpenter, Mrs. Keith Carpenter's daughter, were among the graduates. Mrs. Carpenter was the only mother able to be present, as her hours of duty as an aid did not conflict with the time of the capping.

Other Chicagoans in the class are Nancy Davis, daughter of Dr. Loyal Davis, recently returned from army duty overseas, and Mrs. Davis; Martha Ashby, Mrs. Eugene Ford, Mrs. George R. Fritz, Mrs. Gary Hermann, Lorraine Koshial, Mrs. Lee McKeever, Mrs. Edward Rzepecki, and Sylvia Soukup. Others in the class are suburbanites.

President Harold Coe Coffman and Mrs. Coffman will entertain at tea today from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. in their home at 5206 University av. for approximately 40 marine corps women's reserve officers in training at George Williams college, 5315 Drexel av. The women, all lieutenants, are completing a two week course in recreation techniques at the college, which is coöperating with the Chicago park district. Navy personnel, members of the college faculty, and instructors of the park district will be among the special guests.

Headquarters of the 6th service command has announced the promotion to the rank of captain of 1st Lt. Mildred B. Mullikin, assistant to Lt. Col. Pearl Fisher, head of the army nurse corps in the command. Capt. Mullikin became Col. Fisher's assistant in May. Her previous post had been at Lawson General hospital, Atlanta, Ga., where she was an instructor in the medical department technicians' school, surgical section.

Mrs. George F. Hartford, midwest regional director of Bundles for America, has announced the appointment of Mrs. Bruce A. Young as chairman of the new regional distribution center recently opened at 14 N. Michigan av. The quarters formerly housed Bundles' sewing salvage center. Mrs. Young has been one of the organization's most active members for two and a half years.

One of the 39 enlisted WACs recently commissioned second lieutenants in physical therapy by the army medical corps is Ruby L. Moore, 1751 N. Washtenaw av., who entered a year's training for the commission as a technician, 5th grade. She received instruction at Tilton General hospital, Fort Dix, N. J.

Schools Get Added $123,642 for Use at Child Care Centers

The board of education yesterday received an additional grant of $123,642 from the federal works agency for the operation of war time child care centers thruout the remainder of the year. The additional sum brought the total government grant for this purpose to $371,372.

The board now operates 38 centers to care for children of working mothers from 6 to 14, and 22 nursery centers for children from 2 to 5. Mrs. L. Robert Mellin, board member, said 10 more of the 6 to 14 age centers will be opened and five additional nursery centers.

The board authorized Supt. Johnson to open two new schools in September, one an elementary school in a remodeled building at 41st st. and Michigan av., and the other an elementary and high school in a new building at 132d st. and Corliss av.

Her finance attended the same school and now is stationed at Camp Barkeley, Tex.

Fashion Originals Sketched at Showings of Fall and Winter Collections

Fall and winter fashions sketched by Margot, Tribune fashion artist, at current showings in New York sponsored by New York Dress institute. First three are originals by Adele Simpson of Mary Lee company, others are Joseph Halpert originals.

1. Short coat with wrap-around silhouette. Side seams are slit to depth of six inches. Braided facing of black and vermilion on revers is dramatic contrast.

2. Dress parade satin suit, for wear under fur caps and jacket, has sleek straight skirt of black topped with effective jacket of Oxford gray with woven gold and cerise coin dots.

3. Two piece wool costume of soot black skirt and short jacket of vermilion. Lower three inches of peplum have contrasting braided pattern. Matching vermilion wool bag is braided in all-over design simulating that on peplum.

4. Smart Rodier wool suit consisting of collarless jacket in large green, blue, and yellow plaid and plain green skirt. Patches on pockets are plain material.

5. Effective two-piece dress composed of black skirt and sand colored blouse with black sleeves and neatly buttoned down front.

6. Full length black crêpe dinner dress using sunburst gathers for accent and side slit for walking freedom. Long, flowing scarf is pink and chartreuse.

1913-'26 Styles Are Copied in a Dull Display

BY REA SEEGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 12.—The Traina-Norell display at the American designers' annual press week showings, sponsored by the New York Dress institute, scared the more sensitive members of the usually unshockable press. Veteran fashion sleuths paled at the first pair of models. Some thought these models, one all in green, including stockings, the other in dull brown from head to foot, represented somebody's idea of gently spoofing the visitors from the hinterlands. Then it dawned that the display was to be viewed seriously.

The show included sweaters—not the sloppy, lap length affairs of the bobby sock set, but form revealing numbers copied from the distressingly dull fashion silhouettes of the 1913-'26 era. You just couldn't believe your eyes. Evidently Messrs. Traina and Norell are working out a good hate on women, for their clothes were inexpressibly dull and pluggy. There isn't a woman alive that could be a beauty in them.

Most of the dresses were so severely plain and plastered to the body, one might inquire as to the need of a Will Hays as censor for the dress institute. To state it mildly, these silhouettes are most trying. Certainly we have enough genius for modern clothes designing without limping along on the stuff of 1913.

The dull, stodgy peasant-gathered skirt also was foisted on the audience, in two colors or one. Both models left the analytical either tepid or plain disgusted. Nothing bulks so much on the average female figure as such a gathered skirt or the corselet belt.

The models shown lacked finesse, that sleek American smoothness, a priceless heritage we've striven so hard to achieve. The millinery creations caused just as much perturbation as the clothes. The knitted turbans looked like nothing more than a bad job of mummy wrapping. The whole exhibit was a nightmare; no fashion writer could have possibly slept well after seeing it, with the fear of such horrors getting around on our smartest women.

White Collar GIRL

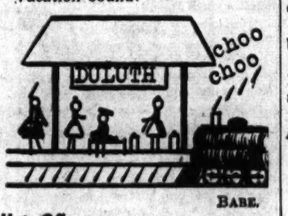
Vacation bound!



BABE.

Hats Off.

The best person I ever knew to get high school white collar girls off to a good start was my shorthand and typing teacher back in a small town in southern Illinois. Not many days go by but some of her teaching, mental and moral, come to my mind and I'm grateful for having studied with her.

Today we are reminded that other such teachers are influencing young people; our office is filled with high school WCGs for the summer months, and they are so fresh and clean and willing it makes us older girls give a vote of thanks to their valiant teachers. They're "unsung heroines," yet their work instills young minds with faith and ideals important to the healthy progress of modern offices. More power to them! Both to the teachers and the receptive youngsters!

Aunt Mary, they call her, but her full name is Margaret Talbot Stevens. She is the librarian for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, appointed by the president of the road.

"Helicopter, monorails, Bailey's roundhouse, the first telegraph, English railroad stations, or scenes along the B. & O.—these all are familiar to us today," said Aunt Mary when questioned about the services of a railroad library.

The library began when the wife of a former president of the railroad donated his fine collection of railroad books. Different from an earlier library [occupying one room over an old stable and maintained primarily for the employes] today's library serves the general public as well as railroad people with general information.

"For instance, we were asked to give the reference of the quotation: 'Can a leopard change his spots?' which resulted in the gift of a Bible Concordance," Miss Stevens said.

It's a long step from old timetables and guide, and visitors in search of railroad information!

Katharine Cornell and Aherne Head Troupe Going Overseas Soon

New York, July 12 (AP).—Katharine Cornell, Brian Aherne, and an excellent supporting cast will head for overseas soon to take the best of Broadway drama to American troops, the American Theater Wing War Service, Inc., has announced.

"The Barretts of Wimpole Street" will be the first offering. This was Miss Cornell's greatest success, produced 13 years ago by her husband, Guthrie McClintic. Others in the troupe will be McClintic, Margalo Gilmore, McKay Morris, Brenda Forbes, and Robert Ross. Miss Gilmore and Miss Forbes were in the original "Barretts" cast.

The company, with the possible exception of Miss Cornell, who is said to have contracted only to play in "Barretts," will have a repertoire of about eight plays. The players already are rehearsing here.

Fixed Notions Mar Reading, Teachers Told

Many persons have such strongly fixed ideas on mother, home, capitalists, labor unions, foreigners, free enterprise, mothers-in-law, and dozens of other subjects that when they read something about them they unconsciously substitute their own ideas for the ideas which the writer is trying to express, S. I. Hayakawa of the language and literature department of the Illinois Institute of Technology said yesterday. He spoke at the University of Chicago at the third day's session of the seventh annual conference on reading for teachers and school officers of elementary schools, high schools, and junior colleges.

"Fixed notions are likely to act like a kind of heavy static, interfering with the reception of the message given on the printed page," Prof. Hayakawa said.

He explained that sometimes a few words in the text will suddenly remind the reader of one of his fixed dogmas and that this dogma will entirely crowd out the actual statements which the text contains.

Prof. Hayakawa complained that it makes no difference whether people read "good books or trash" if they are so given to projecting their opinions into what they read that the printed page becomes simply a mirror for their own thoughts. He told the teachers that they should strive to weed out habits of misinterpretation in their students before encouraging them to read.

The speaker advocated class exercises which would emphasize the futility of a type of reading in which no attempt be made to find out what the writer is trying to say.

Park Concert Is Well Liked —With Reason

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

More and more people are drifting across to the Grant park concerts as the summer sails thru July, and last night when Jean Dickenson sang with the Grant Park Symphony orchestra under the direction of Herman Felber, the double rows of parked cars suggested old times when you had to have a police escort to get thru the mob. Some of those motorists, to be sure, were not listening to music, but had skipped further down the line to the army show, whose soaring lights wove patterns in the sky. Just the same, it looked like old times, and it was nice to know the improvements at the band shell aren't being wasted for lack of an audience.

Miss Dickenson turned out to be a charming choice. Young, exuberant, and pretty as "Junior Miss" all dressed up for her first party, she has a fresh lyric voice with a good deal of coloratura skill, and she knows how to handle a microphone to make it pay dividends. True, her way with Dinorah's "Shadow Song" was as gay as a little girl playing with dolls, with no touch of the dementia of Meyerbeer's heroine, but it was prettily done despite an impromptu accompaniment. And later, with Allen Grant at the piano, she sang a group of songs including "The Last Rose of Summer" and Strauss' "The Blue Danube."

This was Mr. Felber's first concert with what is steadily turning into an excellent orchestra, as it should, considering the men who play in it. He got a good start with Massenet's full throated overture to "Phèdre," which is as theatrically French as memories of Sarah Bernhardt, and caught a good deal of the sparkle of Wolf-Ferrari in the Intermezzo from "The Jewels of the Madonna." But the Tschaikowsky Fifth was spotty, ragged in places, then suddenly all of a rich Russian piece. At its best it had both fire and languor—at its worst, it subsided into the merely dull.

Incidentally, Pierre Andre won a howl from the audience and a blush for himself when at the start of the concert he inadvertently credited the orchestra not to Grant park, but to W-G-N.

Two Y. W. C. A. Centers Will Have Open House

Open house will be observed tonight by the Chicago Y. W. C. A., both at the Loop center, 59 E. Monroe st., and the West side center, 101 S. Ashland blvd. Harry J. Walker, a member of Mayor Kelly's committee on race relations, will appear at 8 o'clock at the downtown center to give an illustrated talk on "Understanding the Peoples of Chicago." Golf clinics will be conducted at both locations at 6 o'clock, with dance sessions afterward.

Mosaic Poetry Club.

The Mosaic Poetry club will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in room 912 of the Fine Arts building.

Thru the Looking Glass

Unless you're an exceptionally lucky woman chances are you'll see changes in the texture of your skin when you hit your 30s. And they won't be changes for the better.

Some of this is just wear and tear. But we have come to the conclusion, after a good deal of observation, that more of it is due to, of all things, imperfect cleansing. This isn't to infer that the women whose skins grow coarse, large pored, and splotchy as they grow older aren't quite clean individuals; they are—but face cleansing, especially as one grows older, is something about which we must be extra meticulous.

We don't have to scrub ourselves clean these days. We smear cream on, wipe it off, and assume comfortably that that grime on the cleansing tissue or towel is all that needs to be removed. Cleansing cream is easy and pleasant to use, especially if the skin is dry. But, and this is especially true if you use a good deal of makeup, its very easiness sometimes makes us underestimate the necessity for sterner, more thoro methods.

The older skin, more than the youthful one, needs the kind of cleansing that entails stimulation. Scrubbing is good for it in more ways than one; it banishes grime and it "exercises" the skin to some extent.

If your skin is beginning to look much too thirtyish to suit you, check up on your cleansing methods. Use cream, by all means, but in addition use soap and water, too, scrubbing as vigorously as the nature of your skin permits. Two good soap and water cleansings a day are necessary for most women who live in cities.

And, after each scrubbing, dash on astringent or quantities of cold water. Both help in preserving fine texture.

INSTALMENT XVI.

AN ACCUSATION.

"In a way," Jed said, "you're right, Riddell. What is going to happen to you people is inevitable. You have two alternatives in the manner in which you choose to bring it about. You can take it slowly and painfully in the jungle, or suddenly here on the boat. Considering the women, I think the latter would be preferable."

"And you?"

Jed said: "Bart and I can't fight the Japanese army. There are only two of us. We harass them and hack away at their outposts. We were doing that before you came and will continue to do it after you are gone. We could stay with you and help kill a few more Japs. That would be the heroic thing to do, a grand gesture."

"Only that isn't the way you plan it."

"No. I'm after results, Riddell. I can't get them by being a hero. Sorry."

"You yellow——"

Jed's left fist caught him full on the chin and Riddell sagged, his knees buckled, and he pitched to the floor. Jed looked down at him with burning eyes, then stepped into his stateroom and closed the door.

Bart was standing in the doorway leading to the forecastle, his enormous bulk completely filling the frame. He looked down at the fallen pilot and sadly shook his head.

"It is strange," he said, "the little things that affect a man."

Mae heard the altercation from the main salon, but not the words. She frowned and got to her feet, entered the aft stateroom and closed the door.

Ellen was lying on the starboard bunk, staring into space.

She turned her head to look at Mae and frowned. "This insufferable heat——"

Mae nodded. She took off her clothes and stepped into the shower. The water was tepid, almost hot. When she came out, she slid her arms into one of Jed's robes and pulled it about her. She sat on the opposite bunk and studied Ellen.

It was easy to understand how a man, even a man like Jed, could lose his head over Ellen Banning. But underneath that beauty, Mae thought, is something I don't like.

Ellen turned on her side and looked across the room at Mae. "Was the shower cool?"

Mae shook her head. "No. It was hot."

"How ghastly. Not even cool water to bathe in."

"We're lucky to be alive. I'm certainly not going to worry about the temperature of the water. I'm glad just to be able to feel it at all."

Ellen smiled. "You're not a very complicated creature, are you?"

"Not very."

"No. I can see that. I am. Very complex. Sometimes it worries me. I never know what I want. First it's one thing, then not that but something entirely different. Then I tire of it and want something else. Perhaps it isn't important."

"Nothing is very important, now, except to live."

"I suppose you're right. You've led a rather adventurous life," she said. "All sorts of people, all sorts of places. Of course, you have known all kinds of men, good and bad. I haven't quite had your—er—opportunities."

A smile danced in Mae's eyes. She said, "Shall we stop beating about the bush? What you're after is to find out if I have ever known a man like Capt. Reed."

"O, now, really——"

"The answer is no. I don't think there is another man like him."

Ellen laughed at her. "That is absurd. Fundamentally, they are all alike. However, I will admit that he does possess some slight difference. A very strange person. Definitely. That is why he, well, interests me."

"So I gathered."

Ellen's eyes danced with laughter. "Why, Miss Nolan, I really believe you're jealous."

Mae's cheeks flushed red with anger. "Now you're the one being absurd."

"I doubt it."

Mae suddenly asked, "What has your past life been like? I never hob-nobbed with the wealthy and the mighty."

"Pleasant," Ellen answered. "But of course," she said, "I'm a rather gregarious person, even tho I do enjoy some measure of privacy. I like to mix with other people. Scott and I were regular habitues of the Stork and the Morocco and the better clubs. Then, too, we traveled in season to the better resorts and—like Sun Valley. I adore it there." Her eyes creased in a smile. "Imagine thinking of Sun Valley ski runs in this terrible heat?"

Mae was not to be sidetracked from her purpose. "You like that world, don't you? I mean the world of wealth and leisure."

"Why, naturally." Ellen glanced at her, puzzled. "What a foolish thing to ask. Just why did you ask it?"

Mae half-closed her eyes and said dreamily, "O, I was just thinking of Capt. Reed, how he would fit into that world, like a bull in a china shop."

Ellen laughed, "It would be hard to imagine him——" Then she paused and stared at Mae, the smile fading. She pulled her legs under her and sat up on the bunk. "I should have known you were leading to something. You are unduly concerned about my relations with the captain, my dear. And, further, it is none of your business."

"That is where you're wrong. It is my business, I wish," she said, "you would stay away from him. He isn't your kind. You have your husband and Tom Riddell to keep you amused. Why pick on the captain?"

Ellen smiled lazily. "Worried?"

"Yes, I am. Capt. Reed is one of the finest men I've ever known. He's doing a job here that amounts to something. But he is only human and—and you're clever."

"Thank you, my dear. Such flattery."

Mae's eyes blazed. "I'm warning you, Mrs. Banning, if you go too far with the captain I will upset your little apple cart. I'll go to your husband——"

Ellen interrupted her by rising to her feet and facing her. "You are so ridiculous, Miss Nolan. And so very dramatic. Tell me, how do you manage to so completely deceive yourself?"

"I don't understand——"

"You wouldn't. But why be dishonest?"

"I?"

"Yes. It is all very entertaining to rave and rant about the ulterior purposes and plans of the good captain, but it does become boring. Particularly when it is so obvious that your concern is based on the simple fact that you're in love with him."

Mae gasped, "O, no . . ."

"Don't be a child. Of course you're in love with him. Why not face it and then admit to yourself, honestly, that you are jealous of me? I am sure then that you and I would have a much better understanding."

Sally Seeking a Vibrator for Paralyzed Boy

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Mrs. L., who lives on the south side of the city, requests our help. She writes:

"Dear Miss Brown:

"I have a little boy, aged 2½, who is partially paralyzed. My physician has suggested that electrical stimulation of the impaired muscles might be helpful. I have tried to obtain an electric vibrator of the type used for massage but have been very unsuccessful, and I wonder if any reader has one which I could have. I would be deeply grateful for your help, as it seems to be the last hope left for the baby."

Perhaps our readers would be interested in helping an invalid who has a rather unusual hobby. She is a former Chicagoan, and her letter is as follows:

"I have been an invalid for some time, and my activities are limited by the fact that I am not permitted to use my arms to any extent. As a hobby, I have become interested in collecting old buttons. The collection was started with four very old ones from my mother's wedding dress. I am making a scrapbook, and the majority of my collection is made up of buttons 50 to 60 years old. Friends have been generous in making contributions, but altho I will not see Michigan boulevard for a long time, I would be awfully happy to have contributions from Chicago." The address will be provided to any interested readers.

Help Children Choose Their Own Careers

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Sunday supper was over but the grownups sat about the table. The children were out of doors. Many things were being discussed, pro and con, but the conversation inevitably centered about the youngsters, the school year having just closed for the summer vacation.

"O, Bill got thru by the skin of his teeth," said one father of his 15 year old. "I've had a talk with him about making better grades in the future. He'll never make college the way things look now, but all the men in our family have always gone to college, and Bill will not be the exception if I can help it."

"That's how I feel about John," said another father. "He's forever tinkering with the car or with model airplanes—has a mechanical turn of mind—and doesn't take his studies in school seriously enough to suit me. The oldest son in my family has been a lawyer for the past three generations, and I'd like to see John in the same profession. He doesn't have the slightest hankering in that direction now, but I may be able to persuade him to follow along."

"Lois is all for going to art school when she graduates," sighed a mother. "I want her to follow a more lucrative profession, such as nursing or dietetics, but she can't see things my way."

"I know just how you feel," answered another mother, "but it's often best to just let the children follow their own bent. It certainly worked out well for my Helen. I thought I'd like her to be a doctor, following in her father's footsteps, but she persuaded me the field of design was her forte in life, and it has certainly proved to be the case."

It certainly takes all kinds of parents, with all kinds of standards and degrees of wisdom, to make a world. And the longer you look on, the more you realize how largely parents' ambitions for their children are colored by their own success or lack of it, their own fulfilled desires or frustrations, their own whole past experience.

Sometimes this works out to the advantage of a child, but sometimes it robs him of his individual fulfilment or works actual havoc with his life. Out of a hundred instances, perhaps only a small percentage of young persons find the contentment, satisfaction, or financial success they desire in the work or profession they've followed thru the coercion of another person.

I grant that we should all have ideals and standards for our children, but it's vital for us to find out whether they harmonize with their capacities, and if they don't, to be wise enough to help our boys or girls to follow their own aptitudes.

This is the jellymaking season, and it's a short one, so homemakers who want their families to eat berry jellies next winter had better make a grab for whatever bright, healthy-looking berries are appearing in the neighborhood markets now.

To make jelly, you need, first of all, the fruit and sugar, then a wide enamel kettle in which to cook the two ingredients, a ladle or big wooden spoon, a jelly bag, and glasses.

If you can't buy a jelly bag, you can make one. Use one of your sugar sack dish towels, or a square yard of canton flannel and one-half yard of strong tape. Cut the bag with straight sides and a rounded end. If you use flannel, place the nap on the inside. Make french seams, leaving them on the outside of the bag. Make an inch hem at the top and attach two loops of tape firmly to it to form handles by which to hang the bag.

Juice for jelly usually is allowed to drip naturally overnight. Pressing or squeezing the bag to hurry the process results in cloudy jelly. Pulp left in the bag usually may be strained and made into butter or jam, or it may be watered somewhat, brought to the boiling point, then put back into the bag for a second extraction of juice for jelly.

After use, a jelly bag should be turned inside out, rinsed in cold water, then scalded with boiling water, after which it may be laundered and stored for the next jellymaking spree.

Currant Jelly.

2 quarts currants
1 cup sugar for each cup juice

Wash currants and place in kettle. Crush as they heat, and cook two or three minutes, just long enough to make them very juicy. Pour into a jelly bag to drain. Measure juice and for each cup of juice add an equal measure of sugar. Stir to dissolve and bring to boiling. Boil fairly rapidly until sirup gives jelly test. Pour at once into clean glasses and seal.

Blackberries, black raspberries, or red raspberries may be combined equally with currants to make jelly in the same way.

The jelly test: Dip a clean spoon into the boiling sirup and lift out again. When the drops of sirup are thick enough to run together at the edge of the spoon and drop off in a "sheet," the jelly is done. Cooking it only a few seconds more may ruin it. The pan should be removed at once from heat, the jelly skimmed quickly and poured.

For other jelly recipes see "Mary Meade's Best Jams and Jellies," 23 cents, in stamps, by mail. The book also contains many recipes for preserves, marmalades, and fruit butters.

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 12.—Adrian and Janet Gaynor celebrate their fifth wedding anniversary next month. Son Robin is 4. They've learned the secret of combining a successful business with home life. When Adrian left Metro to open his own business, his friends said, "You'll be sorry!" It's so good it could be doubled if he could get workmen and material—and be willing to knock himself out. When he bought a ranch home 'way out in San Fernando valley, he was again warned that was the wrong thing to do. I spent a day there. If the moguls of our town could be as happy as these two we'd have less gossip. . . . The home sits on a knoll. There's a barn which houses riding horses, a cow, two goats. There are hundreds of chickens and turkeys. They grow their own vegetables. Beyond the barn are great fields with blooded horses running free. Not theirs, but they have the fun of watching them at play. In the home are treasures from all over the world. Over the mantel a huge carving by Grinling Gibbons; dozens of antique dolls from all over; in the sitting room, a terra cotta stove reaching from the floor to ceiling. That came from Vienna. Adrian bought it years ago. Yes, Adrian and Janet go to all the Beverly parties. But their home life is beautiful to behold.

A Happy Landing for All.

Buddy de Sylva's first picture as an independent producer will be "Miss Susie Slagle," story of a Baltimore boarding house near Johns Hopkins hospital. Sonny Tufts, Betty Field, and Joan Caulfield will be starred, with John Houseman, associate producer, and John Berry directing. They all were found by Buddy, and put under contract at Paramount because of him. . . . "Arsenic and Old Lace" will be released in October. Soon as Priscilla's husband goes overseas, she'll be ready to come back to work. So why not get the three Lanes together and do a follow-up of "Four Daughters," "Four Wives," and "Four Mothers?" There's still gold in them-thar Lanes. . . . Bette Davis is stepping out with Lt. Bob Williams. . . . Sidney Greenstreet is back at work, but his M. D. has ordered him to lose a lot of weight.

Notes About Our Travelers.

Merle Oberon leaves with the Darryl Zanucks July 27 for the opening of "Woodrow Wilson." Her husband, Alex Korda, arrives in New York in September. . . . Dana Andrews is leaving for his first trip to New York City. . . . Odette Myrtle went from designing costumes for "The Great John L." to acting in "Dark Waters." . . . Bob Hope took his old vaudeville partner, Barney Dean, along to the South Pacific. They'll do those corny routines they did years ago, with, I hope, some new gags. Barney's been a gag man for Hope and Bing Crosby for five years. . . . Irene Manning and husband are honeymooning at Colorado Springs. She also did a concert there.

Not Again!

I can't believe Universal will do a picture around Marlene Dietrich's experiences in Africa. I'm sure Dietrich didn't go abroad for publicity. But if a picture is made about her trip, nobody will believe she didn't go for that purpose. . . . Overheard at a Pickfair party: After a long chat about Frank Sinatra, Greer Garson, in a plaintive voice, wailed, "Let's talk about me now." . . . Luckiest man here, he claims, is Harry Lazare, props, whose job is to follow "Ziegfeld Follies" girls around, pick up beads and sequins that drop off their costumes. In the old days, girls used to boast, "Been in this chorus line for years, but never lost a spangle." . . . Mike Todd has created a successful setting for Mae West, after we let her languish here. Mike says he was born in Minneapolis, was 12 years old before they caught him and put shoes on him. But, gosh! How he's run since!

She'll Be Back.

Frances Meighan gave a going-away party for her sister, Blanche Ring, and Joe and Queenie Cawthorne cracked out with his song "I Can Dance with Everybody but My Wife." Blanche goes east to do a Broadway musical. Guests included old pals like the Eddie Sutherlands, Leon Errols, and Frank Cravens. . . . Charles Laughton had a cable from Commentator Charles Collingswood: "Have had the pleasure of seeing your picture 'Started with Eve' as the first shown to liberated France after we took over. The French love you." . . . It happened at a Hollywood story conference. Brass hats gathered 'round a big producer, when in the midst of the latter's conversation a yes-man sneezed. "Who the h--- are you," asked the producer, "to express an opinion?" . . . Chester Conklin cut off his mustache for Deanna Durbin and a part in "Can't Help Singing." . . . Bob Wills, orchestra leader, says, "With all the hillbilly singers being elected to political positions, a good yodeling teacher should be able to do a profitable business in Washington."

Many Members Take Vacations at Wausaukee

Altho most of the members of the Wausaukee club will journey to the club at Athelstane, Wis., at some time during the summer season, there will not be the large gatherings there were in pre-war days.

Mrs. Thomas Bulger and her daughter, Jane, left their Winnetka home in time to spend the fourth of July at Wausaukee and plan to remain there for the rest of this month. Mr. Bulger expects to join his family soon for a short vacation. Mrs. Bulger's sister, Mrs. Ralph M. Gately also will visit the Bulgers for a few week-ends but will spend most of her time this summer in Winnetka with her son, Michael, who just has reached the draft age and will be called into service in August. John Gately will be unable to go to the club at all this season, for he is stationed with the naval V-12 unit at Chapel Hill, N. C.

Her work with the WASPS will keep Miss Shirley Slade too busy towing aerial targets and piloting bombers at Harlingen, Tex., to have a vacation this summer. However, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Slade have opened their cottage at the club and will be joined there Tuesday by their other daughter, Mrs. Kenneth C. McKeown and her two children, Kay and John.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Sproule and their three children will spend the month of August at their cottage at Wausaukee. Mrs. Melvin A. Traylor, who is at Wausaukee now to remain until after Labor day, has invited many of her friends to be her guests at various times during the summer. Absent from the colony this year will be Lt. and Mrs. Traylor Jr., who are living at La Jolla, Cal., near the marine corps base to which Lt. Traylor was transferred upon his recent release from the marine hospital at San Diego.

Lt. Traylor lost an eye in the battle of Tarawa.

Also vacationing at the Wausaukee club are Mrs. Edwin C. Austin and her daughters, Mrs. Robert L. Foote, Mrs. Renslow Sherer and little Diane Sherer, and Miss Elizabeth Ann Austin.

Miss Austin will stay with the family until August, after which she will teach sailing at Camp Bryn Afon in Wisconsin for a month before begining a business career in Chicago. She was graduated from Vassar college July 1. Mr. Austin left for Athelstane last Saturday. Lt. Foote has returned to his post with the navy in Washington, D. C., after spending a leave here with his family.

Stage Notes

Billie Lou Watt, who plays the adolescent heroine of "Kiss and Tell," will be wearing a diamond on her left hand from now on, except when she is on stage at the Harris. Her engagement to Pvt. Hal Studer of Cleveland, O., recently here on furlough from Camp Shelby, Miss., has just been announced. They met while students at Northwestern, where both were active in the university theater. Miss Watt made her stage début just six months after she left Northwestern to seek a career, and a month ago, on her 20th birthday, Producer George Abbott gave her featured billing in "Kiss and Tell." Pvt. Studer, who won a track scholarship to Northwestern and was president of the Hi-Y, has appeared with the university theater and at the Cleveland Playhouse. He hopes to make a career of acting after the war.

Beatrice Lillie, favorite English comedienne who has not appeared in this country since her 1939 engagement in Noel Coward's "Set to Music," has been engaged by Billy Rose as co-star with Bert Lahr in his revue, "Seven Lively Arts," scheduled to open at New York's rejuvenated Ziegfeld theater Dec. 7.

Council Head Assails State Adoption Law

The antiquated infant adoption laws of Illinois force into court many contested adoption cases which can be decided only by denying justice to one party in order to grant it to the other, Chauncey McCormick, chairman of the executive committee on family and child welfare of the Council of Social Agencies, said yesterday in an open letter to County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki.

"Every mother should have the right to her own child. Every couple who adopt a baby should have the right to know that no one can take the baby from them," Mr. McCormick wrote. "This basic human right to keep one's own baby is denied to both the real and the foster parents under our present adoption law. This law frequently necessitates court fights, undesirable publicity, and decisions which could grant justice to one party only by denying it to the other."

Mr. McCormick referred in his letter to the case of Miss Angeline Kolodziej, 19, of 1453 Huron st., an unwed mother who alleges she was forced to sign papers releasing her baby, born June 15 in the People's hospital, 255 W. Cermak rd., while in a dazed and weakened condition. The allegations are made in a suit she filed Monday before Judge Jarecki seeking to set aside a decree by which a Detroit [Mich.] couple adopted her baby boy.

Injustices to the adopted child, the real parents, and the foster parents cannot be wiped out, Mr. McCormick wrote, until drastic changes are made in the Illinois adoption law.

These amendments, he said, should protect the real mother from being influenced to sign away her baby before she is sure that is what she wants to do; should protect the foster parents by providing a suitable waiting period before the adoption decree is signed so that any mental or physical disabilities in the child will be apparent, and should protect the baby by providing for a social investigation of the adopting home so that the child may be placed in the best, not merely the handiest, home.

A law incorporating these features, Mr. McCormick wrote, is being sponsored by the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, the Chicago Church federation, and many other church, labor, and civic groups.

Meanwhile Joel D. Hunter, superintendent of the United Charities, pointed out that there are several licensed agencies which deal with the problem of the unwed mother. In the United Charities, he said, a women's service division is prepared to deal with pre-natal and post-natal problems of the unwed mother and to place the child for adoption with authorized agencies.

Hearing on a suit filed by Mrs. Helen Frances Barber, 2445 Congress st., alleging that she was induced to sign an adoption release for her 1 year old son, Thomas, thru fraud, was continued until Sept. 7 by Judge Jarecki to provide time for an investigation.

The suit, which seeks to set aside an adoption decree awarding the child to Mrs. Babrer's mother-in-law, Mrs. Anvie Barber, 2900 Walnut st., charges fraudulent information was given to the court when the decree was signed. Mrs. Barber and her husband, Wendell, are separated and have filed cross-bills for divorce.

Temple Sisterhood Session to Plan First War Time Convention

Members of the executive board of the Illinois State Federation of Temple Sisterhoods will meet with members of its planning committee at noon tomorrow in Huyler's restaurant to formulate plans for the federation's first war time convention. The convention, which will be held Oct. 30 and 31 at the Blackstone hotel, will place major emphasis on war service and religious activities.

Ordinarily an annual event, the federation has postponed this meeting for three consecutive years. Mrs. Sam Cohen of the Surf Shore apartments is general convention chairman.

Music Note

The three San Carlo performances of Verdi operas, to be sung at Soldiers' field July 21, 22, and 23, will operate as a war charity, a substantial portion of the net proceeds being turned over to a fund for wounded veterans. The Women's Defense Corps of America, with headquarters in room 1037, 326 W. Madison street, will help sell tickets, which also are available at the Harry Zelzer office, room 330, Civic Opera house, and at the Hub store, State st. and Jackson blvd.

There is a vast amount of misinformation concerning opening leads that has long plagued the rank and file of bridge players. One of the prime fallacies is illustrated in today's deal.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	3 spades	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 spades

West selected the opening lead that would, I fear, be concurred in by thousands, perhaps millions, of old time players—namely, the heart king. When East played the five, West hastily shifted to the diamond queen, but it was too late! The king won and declarer immediately led a heart to the ten. This drove out West's ace and promoted the queen, allowing declarer to get rid of a diamond from dummy. Successful defense faded into limbo.

To repeat, I fear that many players, perhaps the majority, would follow West's example in selecting the opening lead, but if so, they would be far out of line. West's heart tricks are ready made—they need no establishing—and hence, the only reason to attack the suit is the remote chance of giving East a heart ruff, or to forestall immediate heart discards by the declarer. Neither of these offers sufficient inducement. West's best bet, by far, is to keep rigid control of the heart suit and to go out after tricks in other directions. The diamond queen thus becomes the outstanding choice, tho incidentally, West could have opened any suit except hearts and defeated the contract!

Amy P., Chicago—My husband keeps all kinds of tools in a box filled with oil-soaked sawdust. Since these tools must be kept in our basement which is dampish, he says it is good insurance against rust. For the same reason he also keeps a box of sand in basement for larger tools such as spades and shovels.

Mamie H., Elkhart, Ind.—Tho I'm new at housekeeping—and still newer at cooking—I've already begun to wonder why square or oblong frying pans wouldn't be a lot handier for chops and steaks?

Mrs. P. T. H., Chicago—If clothes in my washing machine are not clean in 15 minutes I give them another washing in clean suds. Too often when I was first using my machine I'd keep it running longer than 15 minutes, only to find that dirt from water was going back into clothes.

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin.

By George Rector

Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

LIVER SAUSAGE -- ACE OF COLD CUTS

Just as liver is one of the very best of meats from a nutritional standpoint, so is liver sausage one of the most nutritious of the cold cuts. Because liver as a hot dish is likely to be served less frequently in the summertime, you should be sure to make up for this by serving liver sausage often.

Liver Sausage and Deviled Eggs - - - for a Supper Treat

If you want true enjoyment, be sure to get Wilson's Certified Braunschweiger Liver Sausage. It really has flavor perfection. Cut it on the bias for greater eye appeal.

There's a knack to hard-cooking eggs without having the yolks discolor. Place Wilson's Clear Brook Eggs in cool water to cover. Bring to boiling point slowly, reduce heat and let simmer, covered, about 10 minutes. Drain, cool quickly with running water and keep chilled in refrigerator until ready to use. It's the quick cooling that does the trick.

MENU IDEAS

With the Liver Sausage and Deviled Egg Platter, you'll find this menu particularly good: Start with a cup of hot B-V or a cold B-V tomato juice cocktail. Either one is a mighty refreshing way to add extra food value. Follow through with escalloped potatoes made interesting with chives, carrot sticks and celery curls, hot baking powder biscuits and marmalade with fresh raspberries and cream for dessert.

* * *

LIVER SAUSAGE PACKS A WALLOP

The chart below shows that liver sausage, although used in a much smaller serving, compares favorably with a larger serving of pork liver. Since Wilson's Certified Braunschweiger Liver Sausage is so rich in iron, vitamin A and riboflavin and furnishes a goodly amount of thiamine, it is a wise homemaker who includes it often in summertime menus to help keep her family up to top-notch health.

Sincerely,
GEORGE RECTOR

POPULATION UP IN SOUTH, WEST; MIDWEST LOSES

Illinois Count Reported Down 2.6 Per Cent.

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP).—Twenty-five states and the District of Columbia had population increases between April 1, 1940, and July 1, 1943, while 23 states had decreases, the census bureau reported today.

As a result of internal migration, both civilian and military, the south and west gained more than 4,000,000 inhabitants while the north-central and northeastern states lost about 2,000,000.

California Gains Most.

Four states—Arizona, California, Florida and Nevada—and the District of Columbia increased by more than 20 per cent.

California had the greatest numerical increase, 1,559,135, and Arizona the greatest proportionate increase, 40.7 per cent.

Three states — Montana, North Dakota, and South Dakota—lost more than 10 per cent of their population. New York had the greatest numerical decrease, 620,939, and North Dakota the greatest proportionate decrease, 15.5 per cent.

Populations of the various states as of July 1, 1943, were estimated, the estimates based partly on ration book registrations and partly on vital statistics since the 1940 census.

The estimates include members of the military forces stationed in each state, but not forces stationed outside continental United States.

Maine Loses 3.5 Per Cent.

Population estimates for July 1, 1943, together with the census population of April, 1940, and the percentage of increase or decrease follow:

NEW ENGLAND.

Maine, 817,948 and 847,226, down 3.5 per cent; New Hampshire, 460,851 and 491,524, down 6.2; Vermont, 327,449 and 359,231, down 8.8; Massachusetts, 4,255,-204 and 4,316,721, down 1.4; Rhode Island, 750,688 and 713,346, up 5.2; Connecticut, 1,779,554 and 1,709,242, up 4.1.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

A worker finishes shocking the last of the oat fields.

July 12, 1944.

THE oats have been cut and shocked in more than 160 acres at the Fox river farm and the crop is good. The shocks dot the fields thickly, and a close examination of the grain shows the heads well filled, and plenty of them. The fields should yield around 80 bushels to the acre.

The oats now will stand in the shock for a week or a week and a half before threshing. In this time the oats will go thru a "sweat" and cure so they will have a low moisture content and store easily.

Now Let the Rain Come.

Time honored custom at the farm gives the hands a short lull between harvesting and threshing in which they will haul fertilizer and get caught up on odd jobs. The long spell of dry weather has brought work up to date and the men are well pleased with their effort. More than 100 tons of hay have been put in the barn and all the corn is laid by. Rain is needed now.

The fly season is in full swing, and the animals are suffering as usual. The cattle group together under trees, stamping and switching their tails constantly. The sheep crowd together and hold their heads under each other only a few inches off the ground to keep the pests from bothering them. The horses stand so the tail of one keeps the flies away from the head of the other.

Blow Flies' Victim Saved.

The flies almost claimed a casualty at the Fox river farm. The manager was checking the herd, driving thru the pasture in his car. Down near the creek in the shade of a tree he found a young calf, covered with flies and lying motionless. Examination proved it still alive, so he put it in the back of the car and drove to the barn.

The calf had been attacked by blow flies. The pests laid eggs on the calf, and the eggs hatched into maggots that were sapping the youngster's strength. It had become too weak to get up and eat. A good scrubbing with warm water and soap and a liberal application of chloroform on the infected parts cleared up the trouble. A feeding of warm milk set the calf up and by night it was able to rejoin its dam. Had the calf remained undiscovered for another six hours it would have died.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

JULY 15 to 20 is the recommended period for planting most varieties of head lettuce for autumn consumption. The Big Boston, Great Lakes, Iceberg, and New York types require 70 to 80 days to mature, therefore can be planted in the third week of July and reach the harvest stage in late September and early October.

The Great Lakes type, altho more expensive than the other varieties, has proved highly successful for many northern Illinois gardeners, especially when planted in early spring or mid-July. Its special quality is that it is slow to go to seed in summer heat spells. When planting any lettuce at this time, it is advisable to moisten the furrows thoroly before placing the seeds.

Bibb head lettuce is a high quality vegetable, but requires only 57 days to mature and cannot stand midsummer heat as well as the Great Lakes type. For these reasons, gardeners planning to plant Bibb should wait until early August to seed.

LACK OF LABOR DELAYS WHEAT CROP STORAGE

Kansas City, Mo., July 12 [Special].—More than 22 million bushels of newly harvested wheat are piled on the ground in Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas because of insufficient labor to get the crop to storage facilities, it was disclosed today at a meeting of midwestern grain men.

Because of the marketing problem, shipments to most winter wheat markets have been put under a permit system under which growers are required to obtain a permit before shipping.

Some 200 grain dealers, elevator operators, and railroad executives assembled here at the suggestion of Sen. Clyde Reed [R., Kas.] in an effort to solve the problem. Contributing factors to the situation it was said, are the large crop and insufficient railroad cars, but the chief difficulty is the shortage of labor to get the cars unloaded quickly and back into service.

War Prisoners Sought.

Reed telegraphed the army's 7th service command at Omaha to ask whether prisoners of war would be made available to help unload wheat.

Lt. Col. Lloyd H. Shafer, commanding officer of the prisoner of war camp at Fort Riley, Kas., said that "so far as we know, there is no prison labor available."

Reed said that instead of being able to move the wheat harvest in the normal time of 60 to 90 days, it may take six months or longer to handle this year's crop, which is estimated at 382 million bushels for the four state area of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and Colorado.

Loading Capacity Reduced.

"We always have regarded the normal loading capacity at Kansas City to be approximately 1,500 cars a day," he said. "I am informed that only about half that number actually are being unloaded."

Some observers expressed the opinion that altho it will take longer than usual to handle this year's crop because of the shortage of labor, there is not a great threat of large quantities of grain spoiling in the fields unless bad weather sets in.

JUDGE ASSAILS LONG TRAVELS FOR INDUCTION

Judge Philip L. Sullivan denounced in federal District court yesterday the selective service system's practice of requiring men to travel long distances to be inducted into military or naval service. He gave a New England draft board three days to consent to induction of one of its registrants in Chicago.

Judge Sullivan's ire was aroused by the insistence of the Bangor [Me.] local draft board that Henry J. Myers, 33, of 1912 N. Clark st., a truck driver and draft delinquent, be returned to the Maine city.

Myers, who has been in jail since his arraignment July 3 before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, told the court that he was willing to be inducted and that he had not attempted to evade military service. Asserting that he would make this a "test case," Judge Sullivan instructed Assistant United States Atty. Walter Witkowski to apprise the Bangor draft board of the court's attitude and to request an immediate response.

ABSENT SEDITION TRIAL ATTORNEY OBJECT OF WRIT

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP).—O. John Rogge, chief prosecutor in the mass sedition conspiracy trial, obtained court consent today to file a petition dealing with the absence of Defense Atty. Henry H. Klein, who returned to his home in New York last week. Rogge did not say what the petition would ask.

Klein's client, Eugene N. Sanctuary, told the court he had heard nothing further from his attorney. Klein had asked and been refused permission to withdraw from the case after charging that the court's attitude prevented him from making an effective defense.

As testimony in the trial proceeded slowly, Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher, presiding, drew further protests from defense attorneys when he ruled that a government witness, Charles Joseph Young, who said he had been threatened, would not be required to disclose his home address in Los Angeles.

Young had described his experiences as a member of the German-American bund in Los Angeles.

CUBS OPEN DRIVE FOR FIRST DIVISION TODAY

BEARS TO FACE SCORING STAR OF SOUTHWEST

Ralph Park to Join College Squad.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Six years of football, three of them at the University of Texas, have prepared Ralph Park, leading scorer in the Southwestern conference last season, for a part in the sport's most brilliant spectacle, the annual battle between the College All-Stars and the professional champions of the National Football league, the Chicago Bears. The 11th game in the series sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities will be played Aug. 30 in Dyche stadium.

Park starred on the University of Texas eleven for the last three years as a half back, the only position he ever has played since he first won a starting position on the Austin, Tex., High school eleven. The climax of Park's college career was election to the captaincy of the university squad, which he then led to victory over Texas' great rival, Texas A. & M.

As captain of Texas, Park received the football used in this game, and he says this was his greatest thrill in college football.

Shifty and Fast.

Weighing 185 pounds and standing 5 feet 10 inches, Park is the ideal type of half back. He's shifty and fast, but possesses sufficient weight to gain on tackle smashes or to advance for a needed yard when tackled. Park is 23 years of age and married. He has received an honorable discharge from the marine corps and is now employed in Austin as an assistant manager of a jewelry firm.

Park is a versatile athlete, as he played on his high school's basketball team and competed in track. When he entered college, however, he confined his athletic activity to football because he worked his way thru the university. He has been graduated with the degree of bachelor of science in physical education.

Praised by Bible.

Dana Bible, University of Texas football coach, has highest praise for Park's ability. Park's elusiveness in the open field will be most valuable when the All-Star coaches begin fashioning their offense after the college squad reports for practice Aug. 12 at Dyche stadium. Moreover, Park is an excellent forward passer and kicker. Mastery of these phases of the game give Park the complement of skills required for the half back position.

Speed was the principal factor in the All-Star's 27 to 7 victory last August over the Washington Redskins. The first of the four touchdowns by the collegians was on a punt return by Bob Steuber. Another was scored by Otto Graham after interception of a Redskin pass—a run of 97 yards—and the last was a thrilling sweep by Pat Harder, former Wisconsin full back.

Best Weapon Against Pros.

John Tavener, Indiana center, whose selection on the All-Star squad was announced yesterday, and Park fulfill the speed requirement. The series between the All-Stars and the professional champions has proved beyond question that an open game of passes and wide runs is the best means of whipping the more experienced and heavier pros. Sammy Baugh's long pass to Gaynell Tinsley, Louisiana end, who then ran 25 yards, defeated Green Bay in 1937. Cecil Isbell's accurate passes were principally responsible for the All-Stars' 28 to 16 conquest of the Redskins in 1938.

The professional teams have won five games. The Bears were held to a scoreless tie in 1934, the inaugural game, and the Detroit Lions came from behind to tie the college men, 7 to 7, in 1936.

Grand Circuit Races at North Randall Postponed

Cleveland, O., July 12 (AP).—Rain today caused postponement of the running of a Grand Circuit harness racing program at the North Randall track. Officials announced the day's card would be run tomorrow.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

ENSIGN RICHARD B. SECREST has been having a busy time with the Japs, but he's had time to write the Washington Redskins for a contract to be operative after the war. . . . The ensign, who was captain of the 1942 University of Rochester eleven coached by Dudley De Groot, the Redskins' new leader, recently was decorated. . . . He was skipper of a PT boat which stormed an island shore and shelled enemy installations. . . . The craft was blasted from the water and some of the crew killed. . . . Ensign Secrest swam four hours, then clung four more hours to debris before being rescued. . . . He was drafted by the Redskins in 1942. . . . When Joe Vosmik, the veteran outfielder, joined the Washington Senators for a comeback effort, Clark Griffith, president of the club, did his part. . . . He ordered the terrain in left field watered before each game to take the strain off Joe's legs. . . . Jimmy Phelan, football coach at St. Mary's, is being acclaimed on the coast for his success in matching the Gaels with the University of California and Southern California. . . . And they say many likely looking youngsters are heading for St. Mary's. . . . Dolph Camilli, the ex-Dodger, is setting the home run pace in the Coast league. . . . He's playing first base and managing Oakland. . . . The Brooklyn Tigers of the National Football league will train near Abilene, Tex., where Coach Pete Cawthon says the nights are cool. . . . Lt. Comdr. James Todd, who was Pacific Coast conference quarter mile champion in 1914-'15, is the new commander at the University of Illinois' naval training schools. . . . At Berkeley in '15, Todd, running for California in a dual meet against Illinois, won the quarter in :51.2.

Pvt. Billy Harrell of Chanute field has set what is believed to be a world record for situps—6,666. . . . Which makes us wonder—who took more punishment, Pvt. Harrell or Corp. Tippy Madarik, former University of Detroit athlete? . . . The corporal kept score, counting 'em one by one. . . . Southern association fans are convinced the Athletics made a smart move in buying Bill McGhee, Little Rock first baseman, who hit .449 in 44 games with that club. . . . Lt. Col. Jinks Gillem, former Sewanee star now in the far east, has sent an urgent request to the Sugar Bowl folks, via Zipp Newman of the Birmingham News, for movies of the game played last New Year's day. . . . "The boys are hungry for sports," wrote Lt. Col. Gillem. . . . Don Ameche, the movie and radio star, is in Chicago to see his Sir Bim run in the Arlington Futurity at Washington Park Saturday. . . . The handsome Bimelech colt, purchased from Col. E. R. Bradley, has performed creditably at the meeting. . . . A workout of 1:12 for six furlongs the other day advances him as a contender. . . . The first five furlongs were in 59 1-5 seconds, which equals the track record set by Free for All. . . . It's the first time any of the Hollywood movie colony has had a serious contender in any of these nationally-ranked juvenile fixtures. . . . The veteran jockey, Charley Corbett, has been engaged to ride Sir Bim.

A Writer to Her Fountain Pen.

In escritoire, in pocket, and in purse
I've needed you as patient needs a nurse.
You've helped me thru my final school exams;
You've penned my stories and my epigrams;
You know my every thought, my every word,
Have sung my praises as some wondrous bird.
On paper white your liquid blue is spilled;
Your thirsty mouth so often I have filled;
Your golden nib has lasted thru the years
And e'en today as bright and new appears;
Your mottled armor steals into my heart;
I often think of me it is a part.
You always shall be faithful to the end;
I've lived and I will die with you, my friend.

STEMPEL ENTRY CHOICE TODAY IN GRASSLAND

Record Holders Vie at Washington Pk.

Go In Grassland

EIGHT horses, 3 year olds and up, were named overnight for Arlington Park's $10,000 added Grassland handicap, to be contested on turf at Washington Park today. The field in order of post positions follows:

	Wgt.	Jockey.	Prob. odds.
Maejames	103	J. W. Martin	15-1
Grasshopper II.	120	S. Brooks	6-1
Bushwacker	114	W. Morrisey	10-1
Take Wing	112	F. A. Smith	6-1
Valdina Foe	118	G. Grobs	8-1
Fire Dust	109	No boy	12-1
*Put In	122	L. Haas	2-1
*Pirate	111	No boy	2-1

*George J. Stempel entry.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

(Picture on next page.)

George J. Stempel, the San Francisco doughnut merchant, has designs on a sugar coated offering at Washington Park today, the $10,000 added Grassland handicap, first of the country's two richest turf course events.

The Californian has entered Put In, his 1943 national grass champion, and Pirate, former California Derby winner, in a field of eight which has been named for the mile and one-eighth route, sixth race of the afternoon.

Put In is top weighted at 122 pounds and will have Buddy Haas in the saddle, while Pirate will carry 111.

Take Wing to Try Again.

Chief contention for the Stempel entry is expected to come from Clyde Troutt's Take Wing. F. A. Smith will be aboard, as he was last year when the Troutt horse was disqualified after establishing a new American record of 1:44 for a mile and a sixteenth, the race being awarded to Put In, present holder of the mile and three-sixteenths mark, 1:56 2-5.

Take Wing also holds the American record of 1:51 for one and one-eighth miles, the distance of the Grassland handicap. He will carry 112 pounds.

Opposing the record holders will be W. W. Crenshaw's Grasshopper II., an accomplished grass track performer, under 120 pounds; John Marsch's Valdina Foe, 118; B. H. Wise's Bushwhacker, 114; Mrs. Emil Denemark's Fire Dust, 109, and Clarence Davison's Maejames, 103.

Twosy Makes Comeback.

The Calumet farm's Twosy, beaten by Expression in the Arlington Lassie on July 1, came back yesterday to make a show of her field and win by 12 lengths from the Brolite farm's Martharine and six other 2 year olds in a $2,000 five and a half furlong sprint.

Take Away, Leo Nehring's fast 4 year old colt, scored his second victory in a row in taking the $2,500 Rose Ben handicap, yesterday's top race, finishing a nose in front of Miss Anita King's Son of War. Happy Hour farm's Martian was third. The winner paid $6.60.

The day's betting handle from a crowd of 14,000 was $907,911.

Daily Double Worth $121.40.

The opening race went to W. W. Guernsey's Maihigh, ridden by Willie Ford, and the second was taken by Marie Obstfeld's Miss Monarch, with Steve Brooks up. Maihigh paid $9.80 and Miss Monarch $11.80. The daily double was worth $121.40.

The field for Saturday's $60,000 Arlington Futurity probably will be the smallest in 15 years, but it will be of wide sectional interest with Flood Town representing the east, Free For All and Errard the middle west, Spartan Noble the deep south, and Sir Bim the far west. Six may start, however.

The victory of John Marsch's Free For All and his stable mate, Errard, over the eastern champion, Lt. Edward Lasker's Flood Town, in Tuesday's $3,000 Advance Guard purse added interest to the Futurity even tho it did deter other owners from entering their eligibles for the $60,000 prize.

Jockey Willie Bailey received a 10 day suspension from the board of stewards for crossing the field too sharply after the start on Valdina Kovia in the second race last Tuesday.

TALBERT WINS IN NET MEET; SEGURA IS OUT

Billy Talbert of Indianapolis, who became the favorite to win the men's singles championship in the River Forest Open tennis tournament at the River Forest Tennis club when Francisco [Pancho] Segura of the University of Miami defaulted because of an ankle injury, yesterday won his third round match, defeating Rollie Folk of Chicago, 6-4, 6-2.

It required less than an hour for the Hoosier entrant to move into the quarter-final bracket. A strong cross wind bothered both players and in the opening set Folk cracked Talbert's service three times. Talbert built up a 4 to 0 lead in games in the second set and coasted to victory.

Gene Vash Eliminated.

The first of the seeded players to fall by the wayside was Gene Vash of Chicago, who bowed to lanky Nick Buzolich, the Pepperdine college player from Los Angeles. Vash who was seeded fourth, lost his quarter-final match by scores of 6-3, 6-3, making Buzolich the first player to reach the semi-final round.

In the women's singles division, Shirley Fry of Akron, O., third seeded player, and one of the top ranking national juniors, dropped only one game in trimming Marion Hart of Chicago, 6-1, 6-0.

Pancho Forced Out by Injury.

Segura, top seeded entrant who is undefeated this season, withdrew from the River Forest tournament yesterday because of an ankle injury he sustained in the finals of the Western meet Sunday at Neenah, Wis. He defaulted his opening match, in the second round, to Jake Greenberg of Chicago. X-ray pictures of Segura's injured ankle taken yesterday by Dr. H. B. Thomas disclosed no fracture, and Pancho may appear in an exhibition match at River Forest Sunday.

Yesterday's results:

WHITE SOX TRY FOR FRESH START TODAY IN DETROIT

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., July 12.—The White Sox, far enough from the east to feel fairly safe, today planned strategems thru which they hope to regain prestige lost in their recent visit to the Atlantic seaboard. Tomorrow at twilight they will open a six game series with the Detroit Tigers.

The Sox haven't been quite as helpless at twilight as they have been at night. They have lost 11 out of 14 under the lamps; they have lost only two out of three in the gloaming.

Sox Lead Tiger Series.

The Sox have not lost in Detroit this year, otherwise they might feel in danger of falling into the American league cellar while here. The Chicago-Detroit record to date is one of contrasts. The Tigers have won twice in Chicago, one a 2 to 0 shutout of Thornton Lee, the other a 1 to 0 shutout of Lee in which the Tigers did not score their run until the ninth inning. In between the two shutouts the Sox won five straight, three of them in Detroit.

Wakefield Returns Today.

Dick Wakefield's bat may make a difference in this series. The Sox, on arriving here, learned that the star young outfielder, recently honorably discharged by the navy, will rejoin the Tigers tomorrow. Wakefield has a date with his draft board, but the Tigers decided to use him while he is waiting call.

While here the Sox will follow up tomorrow's twilight engagement with a single game Friday and double headers on Saturday and Sunday—then home to receive the eastern clubs.

SAILORS BLANK ALL-STAR NINE IN MADISON, 4 TO 0

Madison, Wis., July 12 [Special].—Bob Klinger set down a Madison Industrial league All-Star team with six scattered hits tonight as Great Lakes won, 4 to 0, before 3,500. The victory was the Sailors' 26th of the season against one defeat.

Albie Glossop, with a pair of doubles, and Schoolboy Rowe, with a double with the bases loaded, led the visitors' attack.

GIRL NINES TO PLAY TUESDAY FOR RED CROSS

The Red Cross will entertain workers, blood donors and contributors at a girls' double header in Wrigley field Tuesday night. Contesting teams will be the first four in the standings of the All-American Girls' Professional Ball league as of that date. Three clubs—Kenosha, South Bend, and Milwaukee—are assured places on the program.

Seats will be reserved for the Red Cross guests until 7:15 p. m. After that, the general public will be admitted.

Frank Demaree Signs with Portland Beavers

Portland, Ore., July 12 (AP).—Frank Demaree, former big league outfielder, has signed with the Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast league, General Manager William Klepper said today. Since playing with the Los Angeles Coast league team 10 years ago Demaree has been with the New York Giants, Boston Braves, Chicago Cubs, St. Louis Cards and lately the St. Louis Browns.

MEET PIRATES IN START OF 5-GAME SERIES

Hank Wyse to Seek Eighth Victory.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs, who now are so well removed from the National league cellar that they feel like lace curtain aristocrats, will be back at their regular work bench this afternoon and, as they are trustful souls, they think it may mark the start of their break thru into haughty first division society. After their escape from the basement they believe anything can happen.

From their present seventh place resting place it is a mere matter of one game to fifth place and four and one-half laps to fourth, so if the Cubs are coveting the latter they hardly can be charged with a desire to overmatch themselves. Less than two weeks ago they were seven and one-half games from the first division.

5 Games with Pirates.

Including today and thru a Sunday afternoon double header the Frank Frisch. Hank Wyse.

Cubs will concentrate—if possible—exclusively on Frankie Frisch's Pirates who will hang around for five games, the series concluding the present home stay of Charley Grimm's refugees from the cellar. In the original schedule, tomorrow was designated as an open date but it will be filled by a postponement from the Pirates' previous stop in Wrigley field.

Altho the Pirates are in second place, whereas they should be leading the league according to their perpetually unhappy manager, the Cubs haven't done badly with this particular set of baseball upper-crusters. The Cubs have whipped them three times in seven attempts. That doesn't sound like much but it is a whole lot if compared to the 11 straight thrashings the Cubs have absorbed from the Cardinals. Just suppost the Cubs had won four of those 11. They'd be sitting at the first division's back door.

Wyse Pitches Today.

Hank Wyse will operate against the Pirates this afternoon, his aim being his eighth victory of the season. His last performance was the 3 to 2 treatment administered to the Giants. For the remaining games of the series Grimm won't be embarrassed by a pitching shortage. Bill Fleming, Paul Erickson, Bob Chipman, and Claude Passeau all are ready to start.

After closing up their home lot next Sunday the Cubs will scamper toward the east, taking on Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh in turn. They'll resume business at their home stand Aug. 9 with the Dodgers.

When the All-Star Roll Is Called Will You Be There?

Take a tip—you won't—unless you join the rush for tickets to the 11th annual College All-Star football game in Dyche Stadium, Evanston, the night of Aug. 30.

One of the thrills for the thousands comes when contestants rush out singly onto the darkened field, a huge spotlight playing on them as their names are called. Collegians vs. Chicago Bears! It's a spectacle no sports fan can afford to miss. Prices:

$6.60, $4.40 and $3.30

Send your orders to the All-Star Football Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill., and make checks or money orders payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. To expedite mailing, please include self-addressed envelope.

CRUISER AL' AISE TO LOG BOATS IN MACKINAC RACE

333 Mile Run to Start - Saturday Afternoon.

Al'Aise, 44 foot cruiser owned by Chief Boatswain's Mate Neville Pilling, U. S. C. G. R., has been chosen the race committee boat for Saturday's 37th annual race to Mackinac island, Mich. Pilling is chairman of the power boat committee of the Chicago Yacht club, sponsor of the 333 mile race.

The Al'Aise will be anchored Saturday afternoon at the starting point off the south gap of the outer Chicago harbor breakwater.

Harold Ashton, chairman of the Chicago Yacht club race committee, also a chief boatswain's mate in the temporary [volunteer] reserve of the coast guard, will be in charge of the race both at the start on the Al'Aise and at the finish at Mackinac island. His committee will consist of Adolf [Jake] Schmidt Jr., D. E. [Gim] Hobelman, and Ed Krum.

On Continuous Watch.

After the competing yachts start on their way north, the committee will board the steamer North American in order to reach the island Sunday. A 24 hour watch is kept by the race committee at the island until all starters either have finished or have been accounted for.

The record time for the race is some 31 hours set by the 100 foot schooner, Amorita, during the 80 mile gale of 1911.

Time Depends on Wind.

If the winds are average, the race committee will expect the first boat down the Straits of Mackinac early Tuesday morning. With strong winds, the leaders may be coming down the straits on Monday, as in 1942 when the 60 foot cutter, White Cloud, led the entire fleet with a time only seven hours off the record.

As in the past two years, no coast guard cutters will be available to convoy the fleet since they were withdrawn early in 1942 for ocean convoy work and battle duty.

Savold, Baksi to Meet in Wrigley Field

A 10 round bout next month between Joe Baksi, Kulpmont, Pa., heavyweight, and Lee Savold of Paterson, N. J., scheduled for Comiskey park, has been shifted to Wrigley field. At the same time Matchmaker Jack Kearns of the Coliseum Boxing club changed the date from Aug. 8 to the night of Aug. 5. The latter date falls on a Saturday and will enable thousands of service men to attend the show without charge.

Kearns, after receiving the approval of Major Kelly, is to distribute 30,000 free tickets thru the Chicago service men's centers.

Art McWhorter, former Gary sectional Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion, has been matched with Charley Polk, south side heavyweight, in a six round semi-windup to an eight round bout between Elmer Ray and Colion Chaney in Marigold Gardens Monday.

Boxers representing Camp Ellis will meet Fort Sheridan representatives in a series of intercamp bouts in a 6th service command show tonight at Fort Sheridan. First bout will be held at 5:30 o'clock.

DEL MAR TRACK TO STAY CLOSED THIS SUMMER

Los Angeles, Cal., July 12 (AP).—There will be no racing this summer at the De Mar Turf club, Bing Crosby's track in San Diego county, W. F. Tunney, vice president and general manager, said today.

"We have just received a communication from Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, stating, 'The war department does not favor resumption of racing at Del Mar Turf club at this time,'" Tunney stated.

LOSES BY FOOT, WINS BY NOSE

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Anita King's Son of War (left) appears to be the winner of the featured Rose Ben handicap yesterday at Washington Park for it obviously has a foot across the finish line, whereas the feet of Leo Nehrinhring's Take Away, on the inside, are in the air. But the picture of the photo finish showed Take Away the winner—by a nose.

SUNSET RIDGE GOLF TOURNEY WON BY EVANS

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Chick Evans, the Edgewater veteran who will mark his 54th birthday next Tuesday, chose yesterday and the 20th annual Stampede tournament of the Sunset Ridge Country club to hold a premature celebration. The perennially youthful Charles shot a 27 hole score of 39—39—38—116 to lead the field of 175 who came out to enjoy one of the best golfing days of the season.

Dr. R. L. Lasater of Glen View was second in the gross scoring for the full route, coming home with a 117 based on three nines of 39 each. Low net leaders at 27 holes were William Nanini, with 143—39—104, and L. G. Kelly with 120—14—106.

The 27 hole low gross quartet consisted of E. R. Russell, E. N. Johnson, W. Tate, and M. Ward with an aggregate of 517, while low net foursome honors went to J. H. Robinson, W. B. Heaps, N. Orwig, and E. Priebe Jr. with a 463.

Leading scores for 27 holes follow:

William Nanini, 143—39—104.
L. G. Kelly, 120—14—106; C. E. Nelson, 129—23—106.

PUSH HOME BOND SALES; CHICAGO PASSES BILLION

Clarke to Pick Wardens in Neglected Areas.

Philip R. Clarke, chairman of the 5th war loan drive in Chicago and Cook county, set out personally last night to sign up bond wardens in city blocks which have no wardens, despite promises by the office of civilian defense, and have not been canvassed during the campaign.

Lack of bond wardens in many neighborhoods—estimated at 10 to 20 per cent of the 16,784 blocks in Chicago—has been the subject of several complaints from patriotic citizens who feel it is behind the city's failure to reach its individual bond-sales quota.

Already Over Goal.

Clarke apparently was unmindful of his announcement a few hours earlier that for the first time in the history of Chicago and Cook county, the one billion dollar mark had been reached and exceeded in a fund raising campaign. He reported that thru Tuesday total city-county war bond sales rose to $1,019,984,000, or 14 per cent above the loan drive quota.

As he started his tour of the Belmont-Cragin community last night, the drive chairman remarked that individual sales are 93 million dollars short of the quota, with less than three weeks of the drive left. He said that the city-county total quota had been topped only because of the huge bond purchases by corporations and institutions.

Home Sales Important.

Clarke said lack of bond wardens in certain areas is the major problem to be overcome if Chicago and Cook county are to reach their individual bond quota in this drive—a mark that was not reached in the previous four campaigns. He said that at the beginning of the present drive, the OCD gave assurances that every block would be manned by wardens, but it has become apparent that either the OCD miscalculated, or the designated wardens have failed to do their jobs.

Clarke rode in a Chicago police squad car equipped with a loud speaker. With him was J. W. Robinson, 5807 Barry av., OCD community commander, who pointed out several blocks which had doubled or trebled their bond quotas. Clarke had the squad car stopped in the streets and praised the residents and block wardens.

Two Blocks Lag.

In two blocks, Robinson admitted that not a single bond purchase pledge had been turned in since the drive began a month ago. He laid this showing to the fact that the OCD block captains had not appointed bond wardens to make canvasses.

Clarke criticized the blocks and the OCD captains thru the loud speaker, then appealed to residents to volunteer as wardens. Two women and a man stepped up to the squad car and pledged immediate canvasses.

Clarke disclosed that since the lack of block wardens has come to his attention, he has organized a staff of 30 men to visit delinquent blocks in sound cars every night and recruit wardens. He said the only way the individual sales quota can be reached by July 31 is to contact every home in the city and county.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR CIRCUS WITH DEATH TOLL 163

Hartford, Conn., July 12 (AP).—The Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey circus was put in the hands of receiver today by order of Judge John H. King of the Superior court.

Judge King of Willimantic named former Town Judge Edward S. Rogin of Newington receiver on application of Julius B. Schatz, attorney for a number of persons who have brought suit against the circus as a result of injuries in the fire which last Thursday swept the main tent and resulted in a death toll of 163.

All attachments filed thus far against the circus corporation, Schatz said, become automatically dissolved with all claims placed on an equal basis. He said the receivership was for the preservation of the circus assets and to protect the circus as well as the claimants.

TRAMP BLAMED IN FIRE.

Careless use of matches by a tramp yesterday caused a fire that damaged an empty two story frame building at 4310 Wentworth av., said Acting Chief Patrick Regan of the 11th battalion.

EGAN RETELLS TODAY STORY OF QUIRK'S MURDER

Jury of 3 Women, 9 Men Impaneled.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Jurors impaneled yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge Harold G. Ward will hear today the story of the murder State's Atty. Courtney said was committed in a gang war over control of 34 gambling houses. The victim of the murder was Martin [Sonny Boy] Quirk, who was eliminated from gambling competition last Sept. 18. The jury consists of three women and nine men.

The murder story will be told by James Egan, who said he took part in the killing. Three men he named as also having participated in the ambushing of Quirk will be facing him in Judge Ward's court as defendants. They are James Fawcett, notorious gunman, Robert Bock, brother-in-law of a murdered gang boss, and Ray Deskovitz, gambling house handyman.

Three Accused by Egan Freed.

The fact that Egan told the same story to another jury last winter and, apparently, was not believed, will have no bearing on his testimony today, said First Assistant State's Atty. Wilbert F. Crowley. At the previous trial, John J. Williams, gambling house owner, and two of his employes, John Enright and Anthony De Lordo, also were accused by Egan, but were found not guilty.

Egan, when arrested a month after the slaying, named Fawcett, Bock, and Deskovitz as accomplices, along with Williams, Enright, and De Lordo. The three defendants of today had not been arrested at that time.

Egan's Story of Crime.

Egan, given immunity for his testimony, left the city. Then, one by one, Fawcett, Bock, and Deskovitz surrendered. Not until last week did Egan return, and not until then was it known that he would testify against the men he formerly called friends.

Egan said Fawcett proposed the murder of Quirk, who had acquired control of 34 handbooks by killing Danny Stanton. Fawcett told Williams that unless Quirk were eliminated, Quirk would seize Williams' gambling house at 63d st. and Kedzie av., according to Egan.

Fawcett's Ambition Revealed.

Williams then arranged the murder, Egan said, and at a signal given by Egan, Fawcett and De Lordo fired at Quirk. Fawcett hoped to take Quirk's place as a gang boss, Egan related in his earlier story.

Atty. James M. Burke, who defended Williams in the other trial, said he was appointed by the court to represent Deskovitz in this trial and he will be paid $250 by the state for his services. He denied that Williams is paying for the defense of the others. Crowley said Burke volunteered to serve for Deskovitz in place of the public defender, but will get the fee anyway.

AIRPORT HEADS URGE SHIFT IN AIR FUEL RULE

A resolution recommending transfer of authority for rationing aviation gasoline from the office of price administration to the civil aeronautics administration was adopted by the American Association of Airport Executives at a meeting in Hotel Sherman yesterday.

The association also proposed that a university course to train men as airport managers be developed, and requested the CAA to set up a pool of surplus airport apparatus to facilitate equipment of airports.

Maj. Charles E. Hanst, Dallas, Tex., of the army air force was re-elected president. Pat Moore, Peoria, was elected secretary-treasurer, and Clyde E. Trager, also of Peoria, was named counsel.

Betty Compton Knappen.

She was divorced from Walker in 1941 and married to Knappen in 1942. Last Jan. 19 a son was born to her at Doctor's hospital. Knappen, a consulting engineer, was her fourth husband.

Before her marriage to Walker in Cannes, France, in 1933, Mrs. Knappen had been the wife of Capt. Stanley Reed Riches, a Canadian, and Edward D. Dowling, theater and motion picture director.

RELIEF OFFICE SUSPECTS TAXIS CARRY CLIENTS

George J. Klupar, director of the Chicago welfare administration, said yesterday that an investigator will be assigned this morning to determine how many, if any, relief clients are riding to the relief station at Wells and Lomax sts. in taxicabs. He said taxicabs from the south side began congregating around the relief office shortly after the south side relief office was eliminated and the clients were transferred to the central office, June 1.

Relief clients, in addition to receiving monthly vouchers, also have been receiving large amounts of federal surplus foods, which they must carry with them. Klupar said police were called to disperse numerous taxicabs which cruised around the relief office about the middle of June, seeking to pick up grocery laden relief clients.

Mason, Mich., July 12 [Special].—The main portions of Maj. Charles F. Hemans testimony that he bribed members of the Michigan legislature withstood defense attorneys' attacks today as they ended nearly three days of cross-examination in the legislative graft trial.

Defense Atty. James E. Haggerty, adding up the money Hemans said passed thru his hands for lobbying, argued that Hemans had accounted for between $1,900 and $2,900 more than he said he received from his finance company clients. Hemans retorted that lacking written records he could not give a closer accounting.

Indicating he planned to complete the state's case by the week-end, Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler said he would hold Hemans for a brief redirect examination tomorrow and then would place on the stand former State Sen. Joseph C. Roosevelt, whom Hemans has described as a go-between in paying bribes.

THEFT OF $10,000 WORTH OF BOOKS SOLVED; 5 HELD

Five men who, police said, admitted stealing $10,000 worth of educational books from a book binding firm and selling them, were held in the detective bureau lockup last night.

They are Nathan Remington, 41, of 2842 Sheridan rd., owner of the Remington Paper Stock company, 1217 Lake st.; Anthony Coglianese, 50, and his son, James, 28, of 2710 Lexington st.; John Ruflo, 57, of 2921 Congress st., and Frank Rizzo, 40, of 1217 Flournoy st. The Coglianeses and Ruflo were employes of the Brock & Rankin book binding firm at 619 S. La Salle st., from which the books were stolen.

Their arrest came after the Quarrie company, 35 E. Wacker dr., reported to Detective Sgt. Timothy O'Connell that an encyclopedia which the firm sells only by mail was appearing in book shops. Investigation disclosed that the Coglianses were abstracting a few volumes from each lot of unbound books returned from the binding firm after processing. With the aid of Ruflo, they loaded these into a truck driven by Rizzo, who hauled them to a place designated by Remington, who later sold the books.

A SOFT VOICED WOMAN BEATS SINGERS' WRATH

Mrs. Amanda Spielman, 48, sat quietly in Judge Harry P. Beam's Racine av. court yesterday and heard Dmitri Onofrei, 47, of 1700 Crilly ct., voice teacher and baritone with the Chicago Civic Opera company and the San Carlo Opera company, accuse her of wrecking the harmony of his life.

Onofrei, who had charged his neighbor with disorderly conduct, said she had banged on a dishpan with a spoon, leaned out the window and mocked him while he sang, and discouraged his voice students in other ways. Several of the students also testified against Mrs. Spielman.

Mrs. Spielman, in a voice so low it could barely be heard, denied everything. "I sing around home quite often," she said timidly. "I don't imitate anybody. The walls are just thin, that's all."

Judge Beam discharged her. "You seem like a quiet, orderly woman," he said. "If there was some noise, I'm sure it won't happen again."

CONFIRM DEATH OF ZION FLYER, MISSING EARLIER

Staff Sgt. Leonard G. Ianson, 31, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ianson of 2922 Gilboa av., Zion, was killed May 22 on a flight over Germany in an army bomber, his parents were informed yesterday thru the International Red Cross. He previously had been reported missing. He had been in the air forces since October, 1942, and went to England in January, 1944, as a bombardier-gunner. Before he entered the army he worked for the Oakes Products company in North Chicago. He was a brother of Lyle Ianson, 23, an army sergeant in the Southwest Pacific, and Claire, 25, a private in the Mediterranean area.

STOCK MARKET CLOSES UNEVEN; STEELS DECLINE

Railroad Issues Draw Steady Support.

New York, July 12 (AP).—Rails had steady support in today's stock market and in the final hour rubbers, motors, and specialties also moved forward fractions to about a point, but the list as a whole at the close was irregular.

Trends were uneven from the start. Industrial leaders were hesitant altho not burdened by selling. Most of the steels finished slightly lower. Low priced radio and communications shares were traded in substantial volume at higher prices.

In general, Wall street opinion continued to reflect bullish leanings, altho some analysts suggested the market, up sharply during the last month to seven year highs, would bear close watching for signs of an overbought condition.

Short Interest Larger.

After the close the stock exchange reported that the short interest on June 30 was 1,287,970 shares, highest for recent years, compared with 1,181,293 shares at the end of May.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite advanced 0.1 to 56.4, duplicating Monday's peak. Transactions amounted to 1,416,620 shares, against 1,347,587 yesterday.

Finishing a point or more higher were Great Northern, United States Rubber, American Can, Allied Chemical, and J. C. Penney.

CHICAGO LIST HIGHER.

Prices advanced on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday as turnover rose to 48,000 shares. Volume leaders included Radio corporation, up ½; Central Illinois Securities, up 1/16; Domestic Industries A common, up ¼, and Armour & Co., unchanged. Among the 20 new highs was Elgin National Watch company, up 1⅞.

BOND PRICES IRREGULAR.

New York, July 12 (AP).—Except for isolated cases of strength and an occasional substantial loser, the bond market generally was uneven today. Changes were mostly in fractions. United States government issues were quiet as were the majority of foreign issues. Sales of $10,517,400 compared with $9,583,800 yesterday.

CHICAGO SKILL DELAYS SHIFT TO PEACE JOBS

Last to Reconvert, Nuveen Predicts.

Chicago's position as the "most versatile production center in the world" has overloaded it with war orders that will prevent its plants from reconverting to any large degree to civilian production until months after both European and Pacific wars have ended, John Nuveen Jr., regional war production board chairman, said yesterday.

John Nuveen Jr.

Four government buying agencies—the army, navy, maritime commission, and army air forces—are planning to place more orders in Chicago than those which will be halted by expiration or cancellation, Nuveen said. As a result, only limited facilities for production of highly essential civilian items will be permitted to be diverted from the war program.

Irons Being Subcontracted.

Even in these cases most of the actual production will be done in other areas thru subcontractors, he said. Five plants in Chicago are making electric irons, but 85 per cent of the work is by subcontract to areas where there is no labor shortage. The largest of the five has sublet its entire production of irons, he said.

"Chicago plants have the equipment, tens of thousands of highly skilled workers, and the know-how to make the finest war products," Nuveen said. "They are doing an outstanding job, but because of their versatility, and their ability to take on and finish any job asked of them, they are going to be called on to continue in war work after other areas have been cut back and are on civilian work.

"Reconversion here will be largely theoretical—only a miniature of what it might be—until two or three months after hostilities end, because the radar equipment, planes and engines, and other war needs are going to be in production right up to the end, and it will take a little time to retool and get materials for non-war manufacture."

Plants Over-Expanded.

Nuveen said that plants and facilities here are not being used to their full capacity not because of a man power shortage as such, but because the army and navy have insisted on expansion of plant and equipment beyond the capacity of the city to man them.

Radio plants were expanded several times over into radar producers, plane and engine plants were built, steel mills were enlarged and hundreds of other factories expanded as never before, he said.

"Production is high, but a more realistic attitude has been adopted by the procurement agencies," he said. "For instance, the Douglas plane plant is producing on schedule, not because of stepped up output but because the schedule itself was cut 60 per cent. If the plant had the employes, it should turn out two and a half times as many planes as it does."

Asks Ending Curbs with Peace.

He said the WPB will coöperate with every plant it can in the national program of providing men and materials to make master models for post-war products, despite the city's classification as an acute labor shortage area. He said he believed all government controls except price regulation should be abandoned immediately after the war, because, "private industry always has done a fair job of rationing scarce products, and industry will see that every one gets a fair share."

He said he believed industry will see to it that there is as full employment as possible, and "will take care of reconversion with a minimum of government help."

Curb on Hiring Is Barrier to Civilian Goods

Materially increased production of civilian goods is unlikely in the Chicago area as long as the strict government job controls effective July 1 remain in operation, James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, asserted yesterday. Moreover, competing manufacturing areas that are not hampered by government designation as areas of man power shortage will gain advantage over the city thru Tuesday's action by the war production board designed to facilitate civilian production, he said.

"This is probably the most highly diversified manufacturing area in the United States, with a great variety of civilian goods produced under normal conditions," Donnelly said.

Hiring Restricted to USES.

"However, Chicago is in a war man power commission labor shortage area with employment ceilings and the requirement of hiring thru the United States employment service. Our inquiries indicate that as long as these restrictions are in effect there is little likelihood of any appreciable increase in the production of civilian goods in this district.

"Inquiry among Chicago manufacturers also indicates that the proposed release by WPB of additional materials for civilian production will prove advantageous to competing manufacturers in localities which are not in WMC labor shortage areas.

WMC Policy to Decide.

"The extent to which Chicago will benefit by WPB action on civilian goods output will depend in large degree on the manner in which the job regulations are administered by the WMC."

Under the program of WPB Chairman Nelson, who won an interagency contest with the war services, restrictions on the use of aluminum and magnesium will be lifted Saturday. In succeeding steps manufacturers will be permitted materials for working models of civilian products, and will be permitted to place orders for machine tools with which to manufacture civilian items.

M. C. PENTICOFF RESIGNS SEARS MANAGER POST

Sears, Roebuck & Co. yesterday announced the resignation of M. C. Penticoff, who for 11 years has been manager of the company's Chicago group of class A department stores. Penticoff said, "I expect to take a vacation and give some attention to personal matters, then I will take up future plans."

M. C. Penticoff.

Shortly after becoming associated with Sears in 1925, he became assistant to the general manager of the retail division. Later he was general manager of the Detroit stores and then regional retail manager of the middle west section.

Penticoff is serving his third term as president of the Chicago Retail Merchants association, is a director of the State Street council, and vice president and director of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations.

BUDA COMPANY DECLARES EXTRA 20 CENT DIVIDEND

Directors of Buda company, Harvey, Ill., manufacturer of war products, yesterday declared an extra dividend of 20 cents a share and a regular payment of 20 cents, raising the 1944 distribution to $1 a share from 80 cents last year.

Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland declared an extra dividend of $1 and the regular quarterly dividend of $1. Fresnillo company cut the common stock dividend from 25 to 20 cents.

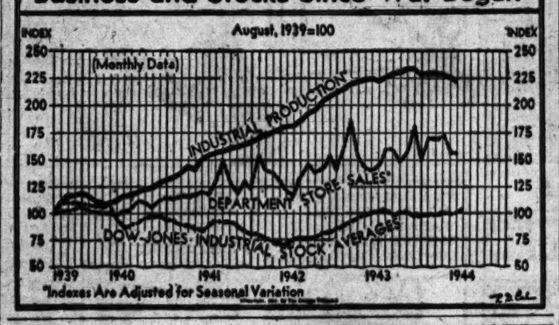
Rio Grande Bond Group Opposes Reorganization

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP).—General mortgage bondholders failed to approve the interstate commerce commission's plan of reorganization for the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad, the commission announced today. The holders of only $6,443,150 face value general mortgage bonds, of a total of $29,808,000 outstanding, participated in the voting, and 79.3 per cent of those casting ballots disapproved the plan. Ten classes of creditors participated in the voting and except for the general mortgage holders each class gave the plan the necessary two-thirds vote.

1941 Trust Case Against Packer Group Is Dropped

Omaha, Neb., July 12 (AP).—A December, 1941, grand jury indictment against the Armour, Cudahy, Wilson, and Morrell packing companies, charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, was dismissed today in federal District court on a motion of the department of justice. Death of a witness, on whom the government had depended for major evidence, was given as the reason for dropping the case. The packers had been accused of allocating hog buying points among themselves, allegedly in restraint of competitive buying.

Business and Stocks Since War Began



Wheat Prices Mixed; Other Grains Lower

Wheat traders were cautious yesterday, as prices were near the 1944 government loan rate and a large movement of cash wheat to terminal and subterminal points tended to offset bullish sentiment. Futures held within a range of about 1 cent a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade and closed ¼ cent lower to ¼ cent higher. Oats declined ⅛ to ⅝ cent; rye, ¼ to ⅝ cent, and barley, ¼ to 1 cent.

Some easing in the elevator congestion in the southwest was reported. The Kansas City embargo has been modified to the extent permits are required on grain originating at only 11 points. Chicago warehouse men said the movement of Illinois and Indiana wheat is unrestricted to this market and probably would remain fairly large for weeks.

Wheat Supply Near Peak.

Available supplies of wheat in the United States for the 1944-'45 season are the second largest on record, aggregating 1 billion 478 million bushels, compared with 1 billion 453 million bushels a year ago and a 1932-'41 average of 973 million bushels, the department of agriculture disclosed. Consumption is expected to be about 1 billion 85 million bushels, suggesting there will be nearly 400 million bushels for carryover at the end of the crop year without allowing for imports. During the 1943-'44 crop year imports, largely from Canada, were 150 million bushels.

The harvesting of winter wheat was held up at some points in the southwest, west, and central west yesterday by wet weather.

Mill Buying Increases.

A better demand for flour has developed following a small business last week, and buying of futures, attributed to mills, helped to check an early decline in wheat. At Kansas City the July delivery sold within ⅝ cent of the price at which the Commodity Credit corporation will purchase cash wheat in elevators.

New oats have started to move to market, but experts said farmers are not inclined to sell freely and as soon as the surplus has been disposed of little cash oats will be available.

OFFER AMERICAN MACHINE 15 YEAR 2 MILLION LOAN

An underwriting group headed by Hornblower & Weeks today will offer 2 million dollars of American Machine and Metals, Inc., 15 year 4½ per cent debentures, at par and accrued interest. Proceeds together with funds derived from an offering to stockholders of 68,450 shares of capital stock at $9 a share, will be applied on a 3 million dollar bank loan made in connection with acquisition last March 20 of a controling interest in United States Gauge company.

The first public distribution of Howard Stores corporation stock, representing shares acquired by underwriters from large stockholders, was reported oversubscribed yesterday. A. G. Becker & Co. offered 27,736 shares of 5¼ per cent cumulative preferred at $101 a share and 50,000 shares of common at $13.50.

Production of Newsprint in June Shows Decrease

New York, July 12 (AP).—Newsprint paper production in June in the United States, Canada, and Newfoundland aggregated 330,005 tons, compared with 347,204 in May and 348,657 in June, 1943, the News Print Service bureau reported today.

People and Events

Charles E. Sorensen, former Ford Motor company executive vice president, has been elected president of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., Ward M. Canaday, chairman, announced yesterday. He was elected after a special meeting of stockholders had approved the granting of options on Willys-Overland stock to Sorensen over a period of five years under terms of a contract made between Sorensen and the company. Canaday will continue as chairman.

ELECTRIC FIRM ASKS CONGRESS' AID IN TAX FIGHT

Cleveland, O., July 12 [Special].—J. F. Lincoln, president of the Lincolon Electric company, appealed to all members of congress by telegram today to halt what he termed tax discrimination against the company by the treasury department.

The treasury has assessed the company $1,600,000 for the years 1940 thru 1941 in a dispute over Lincoln's incentive wage system for employes, altho the department's salary stabilization branch has approved the system, Lincoln said.

"If the assessed penalty against us is repeated in the following years, which undoubtedly will be done if the treasury is successful in collecting this first assessment, it means insolvency for the company," Lincoln said. "Our incentive system has already saved the war effort more than 150 million dollars in the type of products which we manufacture."

NEVADA DEPOSIT OF MANGANESE BIGGEST IN U. S.

Las Vegas, Nev., July 12 (AP).—The Three Kids mine, near Las Vegas, owned by the Manganese Ore company, subsidiary of the M. A. Hanna company, has proved to be the largest open pit deposit of good grade manganese ore available in America, M. C. Lake, vice president, said today.

"Altho the mining operation has exceeded expectations both as to the quality of ore and tonnage delivered, the Defense Plant corporation plant adjacent to the mine, designed to beneficiate the ore, is not yet in full scale production," Lake said.

ASSURE MEXICO AID FROM U. S. FOR RAILROADS

Economic Program Accord Reached.

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP).—Secretary of State Hull and Mexican Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla announced in a joint statement tonight they had agreed on transportation and economic programs and found themselves "in complete accord on all questions discussed."

Padilla left by train today for Mexico, after spending six days in the capital talking with President Roosevelt, Hull, and other officials.

The statement said the two governments had agreed the United States would supply technical assistance and equipment and supplies as far as possible to aid the Mexican railway system.

Agree to Reopen Shipping.

"To the limit of our war time ability, every effort shall be made by the United States to continue to provide transportation facilities for the movement of essential goods to Mexico, while Mexico will make every effort, on her part, to reduce the strain on United States transportation facilities," it was added.

The two governments also agreed that regular shipping services, interrupted by the war, shall also be resumed to lighten the burden on railway and highway facilities.

A long range program for economic development of Mexico was discussed and Padilla and Hull announced that "Our two governments are substantially in accord in principle."

Parley Planned Last Year.

The program was drawn up by the Mexican-American commission for economic coöperation which was formed as a result of President Roosevelt's meeting with President Avilla Camacho in Monterey, Mexico, in May, 1943.

The statement said Padilla and Hull discussed the recommendations of the commission and that "every effort will be made to secure as promptly as possible the materials necessary to implement these recommendations."

The two governments agreed to "discourage trade barriers which may unduly interfere with the economic development of Mexico and trade between the two countries."

Hemispheric Coöperation.

In the field of inter-American political coöperation, an agreement was reached that the hemispheric coöperative system "should be developed and expanded now and in the future for the continuing requirements of the present world crisis as well as for the needs of the post-war era."

"The exemplary coöperation which we have maintained during the war we are determined to maintain during the peace," the statement said.

Padilla and Hull said they discussed "a number of matters of general interest to our two governments. We find ourself in complete accord on all questions discussed."

They expressed a keen desire "to continue the development of ever closer relations between Mexico and the United States."

United States, Britain to Hold Formal Oil Conference Soon

Washington, D. C., July 12 (AP).—The United States and Great Britain announced jointly tonight that a formal conference on world oil resources would be held soon, following up technical discussions by experts several weeks ago.

W. M. Aitken.

William Maxwell Aitken, known in England as Lord Beaverbrook, will head the British delegation, the announcement said. It will include also Richard Law, minister of state; Geoffrey Lloyd, chairman of the oil control board; and Ralph Assheton, financial secretary of the treasury. William Brown, who headed the British technical group, was named as chief technical adviser to the delegation.

Hull Heads United States Group.

Secretary of State Hull heads the American delegation, which includes also Secretary of the Interior Ickes, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, and Undersecretary of War Patterson.

One of the areas in which both Britain and this country are interested is the middle east. The United States government had under consideration a project for a pipe line across Arabia to facilitate the flow of oil from rich Arabian fields into the European market. This project is no longer being pressed as a government undertaking, altho it still may be promoted as a private enterprise with government financing.

British Did Not Object.

During the technical discussions the British indicated they had no objection to the construction of the pipe line. Their interest, it was indicated, is in obtaining some overall policies and an international administrative agency to provide orderly marketing procedures and economic development of world oil resources.

Plans for these objectives were evolved during the technical discussions and are to be acted on at the forthcoming conference.

CHRYSLER CARTRIDGE PLANT WILL CONVERT TO TANK REBUILDING

Evansville, Ind., July 12 [Special].—Production of cartridges and ammunition at the Chrysler corporation plant will be discontinued soon and the factory's facilities and man power turned to the overhauling and modernization of 2,000 tanks in use at army training camps, the corporation announced today.

C. L. Jacobson, general manager, said the tank program would extend over 10 months and that about 1,000 tanks would be renovated by the end of the year. All of the 2,500 current employes and perhaps more will be absorbed in the new work. Present workers will be shifted gradually as the cartridge machinery is shipped to other plants.

Sales Tax Receipts Rise 4.2 Millions in 6 Months

Springfield, Ill., July 12 (AP).—An increase of $4,271,880 in revenue from the 2 per cent retailers' occupation [sales] tax in the first six months of 1944 above a year ago was shown today in a state treasury report. Collections totaled $44,305,517 so far this year. The motor fuel tax produced $16,968,998, up $1,676,010 from a year ago, but motor vehicle license revenue was down $1,218,741 to $19,398,365.

BUDD COMPANIES REPORT GAINS IN 1943 NET INCOME

Philadelphia, July 12 (AP).—Edward G. Budd announced today in annual reports to stockholders that Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company and Budd Wheel company had net incomes of $2,008,137 and $1,413,278, respectively, for 1943, exclusive of tax reductions and renegotiation provisions, compared with $1,302,030 and $142,269 in 1942.

Both companies reported increased sales. Budd Manufacturing's $116,626,645 total was $10,336,817 above the 1942 figure. Budd Wheel's $6,552,168 increase established a new high of $48,655,781.

The annual reports accompanied announcement of Aug. 9 as the date for the companies' adjourned annual meetings. Four directors are to be elected and a proposed amendment governing the voting of prior preferred shares decided upon at the Budd Manufacturing meeting. Three directors will be chosen for Budd Wheel.

FLEXIBLE SHAFT 3 FOR 1 SPLIT OF STOCK APPROVED

Stockholders of the Chicago Flexible Shaft company yesterday approved a three for one split in the capital stock by converting the present 180,000 shares of $5 par into 540,000 shares of no par value.

Thru a $3,600,000 transfer from surplus, the capital account will be raised to $4,500,000, the stated value of the new shares. "For a long time the capital account has not reflected the amount of capital actually employed in the conduct of the business," the company said.

RUSSIAN CABLE QUERIES DELAY ACTION ON FUND

Moscow Consulted in Every Move.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bretton Woods, N. H., July 12.—Failure to get Russia's agreement on certain provisions is holding up final action by the allied nations monetary conference on the 8⅝ billion dollar stabilization fund, it was learned today.

The Russian delegation has been playing a cautious game. The conference has had to delay action on several questions while the Russian delegates communicated with Moscow, requiring time for the coding, cabling and decoding of messages here and in Moscow.

The provision which has proved most troublesome is that which fixes the initial gold contribution of member countries and the related provision of quotas.

Britain in Similar Position.

The Russians asked that the gold contribution to the fund of countries whose territories have been damaged in the war be cut below that of other member countries.

The United States delegation opposed this proposal, but has indicated that some concession might be made. However, the question immediately arose whether Great Britain, because she has suffered heavy bombing damage, also would come under the provision. It now appears likely that both Britain and Russia, as well as the occupied countries, will be permitted to cut their gold contributions by 25 per cent of the amounts originally suggested.

The Russians had asked a 50 per cent cut. Whether the compromise will be accepted by the Russians depends on the reply received from Moscow. An early answer is expected.

Termed Language Mistake.

An official conference spokesman explained that there had developed a "misunderstanding" between the United States and Russia on this point. At a preliminary conference in Atlantic City the American technicians had told the Russians that the question would be given "consideration." This the Russians interpreted as acceptance by the United States of the principle.

"It was mainly a misunderstanding of language," the spokesman explained. Asked if the Russians had agreed to anything up to now, he replied:

"O yes, yes, my, yes. The area of agreement is far greater than that of disagreement."

The spokesman minimized the significance of the disagreements yet to be solved and predicted that an accord will be reached on all questions.

The original plan provided that

What Has Electronics To Do With My Investments?

ELECTRONIC equipment protects our fighting forces against enemy planes today—aids our fleet—safeguards our shipping in all parts of the world. Tomorrow these innovations will be harnessed to serve civilian needs—creating new industries, opening up new markets.

What has this to do with your investment list?

Just this—new developments mean new risks for invested capital. Important inventions in the past, time after time, have displaced or competed with current products and businesses. Electronic devices comprise only one of the more highly publicized technological advances which may eventually call for alterations in your investment program.

Many farsighted investors have opened Supervised Agency accounts with The First National Bank because they have confidence that our investment advisory service offers them sound, constructive aid.

The Trust Investment Committee of this conservative, 81-year-old bank is composed of senior officers constantly in touch with business and investment problems. As a Supervised Agency customer, you receive the benefit of their knowledge and judgment. Your inquiry is invited on any phase of this type of account.

PARTS OF CORN BELT URGENTLY IN NEED OF RAIN

Some Districts Report Crop Damage.

Rain is urgently needed in scattered areas of the corn belt, the weather bureau reported yesterday. The crop has suffered damage in parts of Ohio, southern Illinois, Indiana, and Kentucky. Less than one inch of rain has fallen in southern Illinois since June 1, and a moderate drouth was reported in much of Iowa, especially the southern counties.

Weather conditions were favorable for harvesting of winter wheat and oats. Cutting of oats was started in northern Illinois, Iowa, and southern Wisconsin. Wheat harvest in Oklahoma was nearly completed, with much grain piled on the ground in the northwestern area awaiting transportation. Black stem rust was reported in south central and southwestern Nebraska, and yield will be cut in many fields, the bureau said.

Combining Near Completion.

Crop conditions as reported in midwest states follow:

ILLINOIS—More rain needed thruout the state. Winter wheat combining nearing completion with good yields. Condition of corn good in north; poor to good in south, where late planted crop is particularly poor. Combining of oats nearing completion in southern counties. Soybeans largely good except poor to fairly good in the southern section.

IOWA—Progress of corn good, but leaves curling from heat and dryness. Some corn taller than a man and well tasseled. Soybean progress good.

INDIANA—Soil moisture heavily depleted, drouth becoming serious.

MICHIGAN—Winter wheat excellent with harvest under way in south. Corn making rapid growth in most areas. Rain is needed.

WISCONSIN—Drouthy conditions widespread and affecting most crops, especially unfavorable for grains now ripening. Corn made excellent growth, with earliest in tassel. Oats ripening too rapidly.

INTERNATIONAL NICKEL.

International Nickel Company of Canada common stock recently broke out of a long rut on more active demand. Is there a prospect of recovery in earnings? C. D.

Answer: The war has not been profitable for International Nickel if results are judged by the decline in net income shown each year since 1939. The profit was equal to $2 a common share in 1943, compared with $2.39 four years earlier. The dividend, $2 a share annually from 1938 thru 1943, was cut to a $1.60 rate with the first quarterly payment in 1944.

Sales rose from $126,505,000 in 1939 to $170,531,000 last year, but not sufficiently to offset fully the heavy increases in operating expenses, taxes, and allowances for depreciation, amortization, and depletion.

Early post-war prospects for earnings recovery are not clear, altho the longer term outlook is regarded as promising. The company produces around 85 per cent of the world's nickel output, and is ranked among the four largest copper producers. Demand for both metals will be large, but doubtless will be under the war time level. Moreover scrap supplies will be plentiful and competition from other metals and plastics is expected to increase.

On the other hand, International's depreciation charges should decline in due course as accelerated amortization of war facilities is completed. These and allied charges totaled $12,671,537 last year, compared with $7,343,620 in 1939. Capital expenditures to increase production exceeded 43 million dollars in the last five years.

VAST POST-WAR CHEESE OUTPUT TO NEED MARKET

The potential productive capacity of the cheese industry when the war ends will be tremendous, drawing on all the ingenuity of the industry to broaden domestic and foreign markets, Dr. Edwin W. Gaumnitz, executive secretary of the National Cheese Institute, said yesterday at the institute's annual meeting in the Bismarck hotel. The task can be accomplished by improving quality and methods of manufacture and distribution, he asserted.

Because demands from the army, navy, and lend-lease have reduced civilian supplies of cheese, every effort must be made to increase milk production for a proportionate increase in supply, Dr. Gaumnitz said.

Wider use of whey and the by-products of milk, and increased manufacture of cheese from pasteurized milk were forecast as post-war developments by John H. Kraft, retiring president. Lawrence G. Butler of the Lakeshire-Marty company, Plymouth, Wis., was elected president.

each member country would contribute 25 per cent of its initial quota in gold, the balance in its national currency. By cutting the gold contribution the member country would make up the amount of the reduction by increasing its currency contribution. Final agreement on total quotas has not been decided because of the failure to settle the gold question.

As soon as agreement is reached on the fund, the conference will rush work on the 10 billion dollar reconstruction and development bank, known as the World's RFC.

An American delegation spokesman today termed Sen. Taft's attack on the stabilization fund a "complete misunderstanding of the character and make-up of the project." Under the Taft plan, he said, the American taxpayer would be saddled with the entire risk on foreign loans and credits made after the war.

The bank plan, it is reported, will set aside 20 per cent of the total capital of 10 billion dollars for direct loans, the remainder to be reserved to guarantee loans made by others.

ALUMINUM FINS RAISE POWER OF CYCLONE ENGINE

Paterson, N. J., July 12 (AP).—A new engineering design which permits more power to be taken from air cooled aircraft engines, and which will save 24 million pounds of alloy steel a year in the manufacture of Cyclone engines was announced today by the Wright Aeronautical corporation.

Developed in coöperation with Wilhelm B. Bronander of the Scandia Manufacturing company, Arlington, N. J., the new design permits use of aluminum cooling fins on steel cylinder barrels, effecting almost twice the cooling area of all-steel fins, the company said.

Sixty of the new "W" fins—named for their shape—can be mounted on a barrel in the same space required for 40 steel fins machined from the barrel wall. The larger area, plus the ability of aluminum to dissipate heat more rapidly than steel, results in cooler operation which in turn permits greater horsepower output, it was stated.

FOURTH LARGEST ILLINOIS CROP OF CORN PREDICTED

Springfield, Ill., July 12 (AP).—Another war time bumper crop of Illinois corn, despite some drouth and chinch bug damage and labor and machinery shortages, was forecast officially today.

The first estimate by the state and federal agriculture departments placed 1944 corn production at 429 million bushels, about 16 million less than the 1937 record, but more than 2 million above a year ago, and 12 million above 1942. The crop would be the fourth largest on record.

No prediction of soybean production was given, but acreage is down 2 per cent from a year ago.

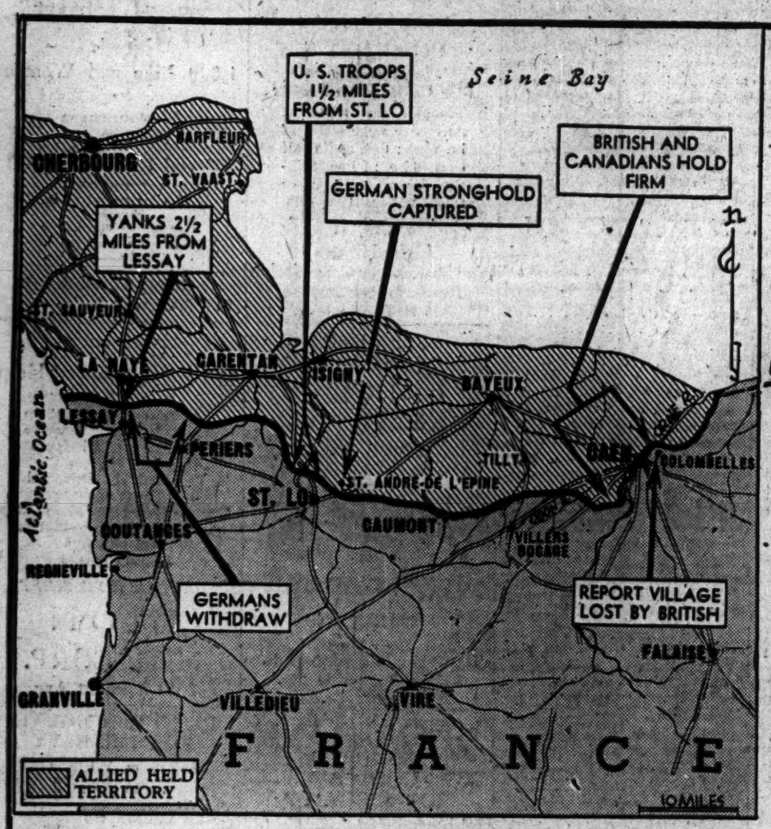
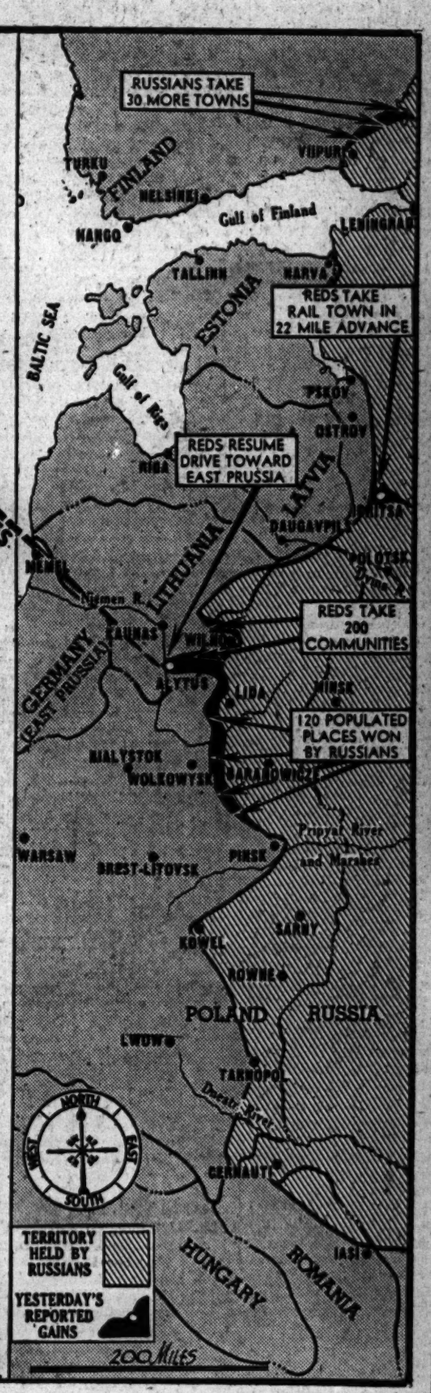
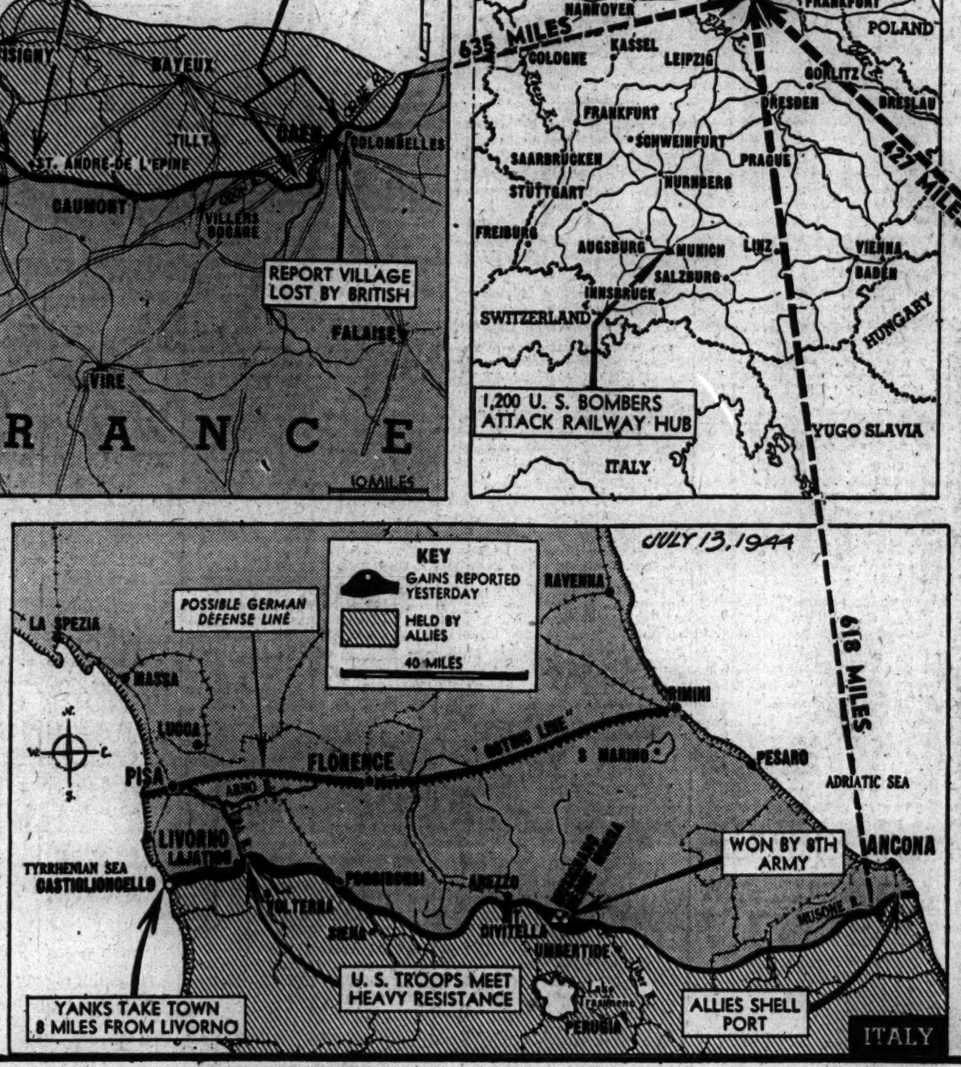
Maps Show How Allied Armies Close in on Germans—Surveyors Lay Out American Cemetery in France







Approximate Extent of Fronts on which German Armies Are Fighting. 1,500 Miles

Approximate Extent of Additional Fronts which Hitler's Armies Must Protect. 10,135 Miles

Military developments in the vast European theater of war are shown in series of maps revealing the extent of lines which the German war leaders must find manpower and machines to defend. Arrows indicate mileage of supply lines from the German capital of Berlin to the major fighting fronts where allies are pressing back the Nazi soldiers.
